

Your FACE VALUE

TO-DAY I want to talk about looks. But please don't think this is a beauty article. It has to do with health. During long years of experience I have found that a slight disfigurement has caused many patients to feel a sense of inferiority which has shown itself in various nervous symptoms.

It may be only a slight blemish which others would not notice, perhaps, but, through constant worry, it assumes abnormal proportions to the person concerned. Some women spend hundreds of pounds to have a blemish removed.

The result of this worry is to make the sufferer feel that she is different from everybody else. She either becomes shy and lacks confidence, or she assumes a protective cloak of aggression to cover her sensitiveness.

In either case, these nervous symptoms often react on the general health and lower the resistance of the individual to a variety of minor ailments.

These cases are just as worthy of the doctor's care and attention as any other trouble which affects health. Scars often cause considerable disfigurement, but it is almost impossible to remove a scar without leaving another in its place. There is no certain cure for them. Because they are formed from tough, fibrous tissue which has taken the place of the skin, filling in the gap between the edges of the wound.

Skin Troubles

The question then is really one for the surgeon, who may be able to replace the existing scar with another which is more slightly. Plastic surgery is a highly skillful art which since the War has brought happiness to many. Skin diseases are responsible for much facial disfigurement. It is not possible to treat these cases successfully unless the type of skin trouble is known. This means a medical examination.

But there is one type which is particularly common, especially in young people—Acne. In these cases the skin is usually coarse, sallow and somewhat oily. The tiny pores are easily seen and blackheads are common.

Acne shows itself in large numbers of red pimples, some with yellow heads, others of the "blind boil" type. Permanent scars result from many of these pimples, and sometimes the face is marked as though the patient had suffered from small pox.

Important Hygiene

Acne is often difficult to treat. In the young it tends to clear up usually before the age of 20. Fresh air, fresh fruit, green vegetables and attention to the bowels is an important part of treatment.

Cleanliness is essential. Don't be afraid to use plenty of hot water and a good skin soap. Carefully, and without bruising the skin, squeeze out all blackheads. Then wipe the skin with a weak solution of peroxide of hydrogen.

Its Effect on Health

Where the skin is greasy, ointments should be avoided.

If this treatment fails to have any marked effect, X-ray treatment is often helpful, but it will have no lasting results if you neglect hygiene. The skin must be kept clean.

Red noses may result from a lowered state of the general health, from indigestion, or from skin disease. In some cases no cause can be found.

Examination by a doctor is advisable in cases where this trouble exists. It will probably save a great deal of worry and experimenting with remedies.

Digestive troubles can be corrected by medical treatment, and if the general health is below par, your doctor will be able to put you on the way towards recovery.

Where no cause can be found and the condition must, in consequence, be put down to a peculiarity of the individual, the best thing to do is to use some form of cosmetic which will hide the disfigurement.

Enlarged tonsils and adenoids frequently give the individual a vacant expression—the pinched nose and open mouth so often seen are typical of this condition.

These cases require treatment at an early age. Mental backwardness, lung troubles, a stunted growth may result if nothing is done.

Is Your Name PHOEBE?

Symbol:

The crescent moon.

THE inner meaning of this name is brightness, lucidity, lustre, brilliance.

Thursday is the lucky day, and the lucky hours are both in the evening, 7 and 9 p.m.

The best day of the month is the 21st.

The palest yellow and mid-night blue are your two most harmonious colours. . . . those of the young moon and the sky in which it floats.

Your personality will be free and unfettered if you have these colours about you.

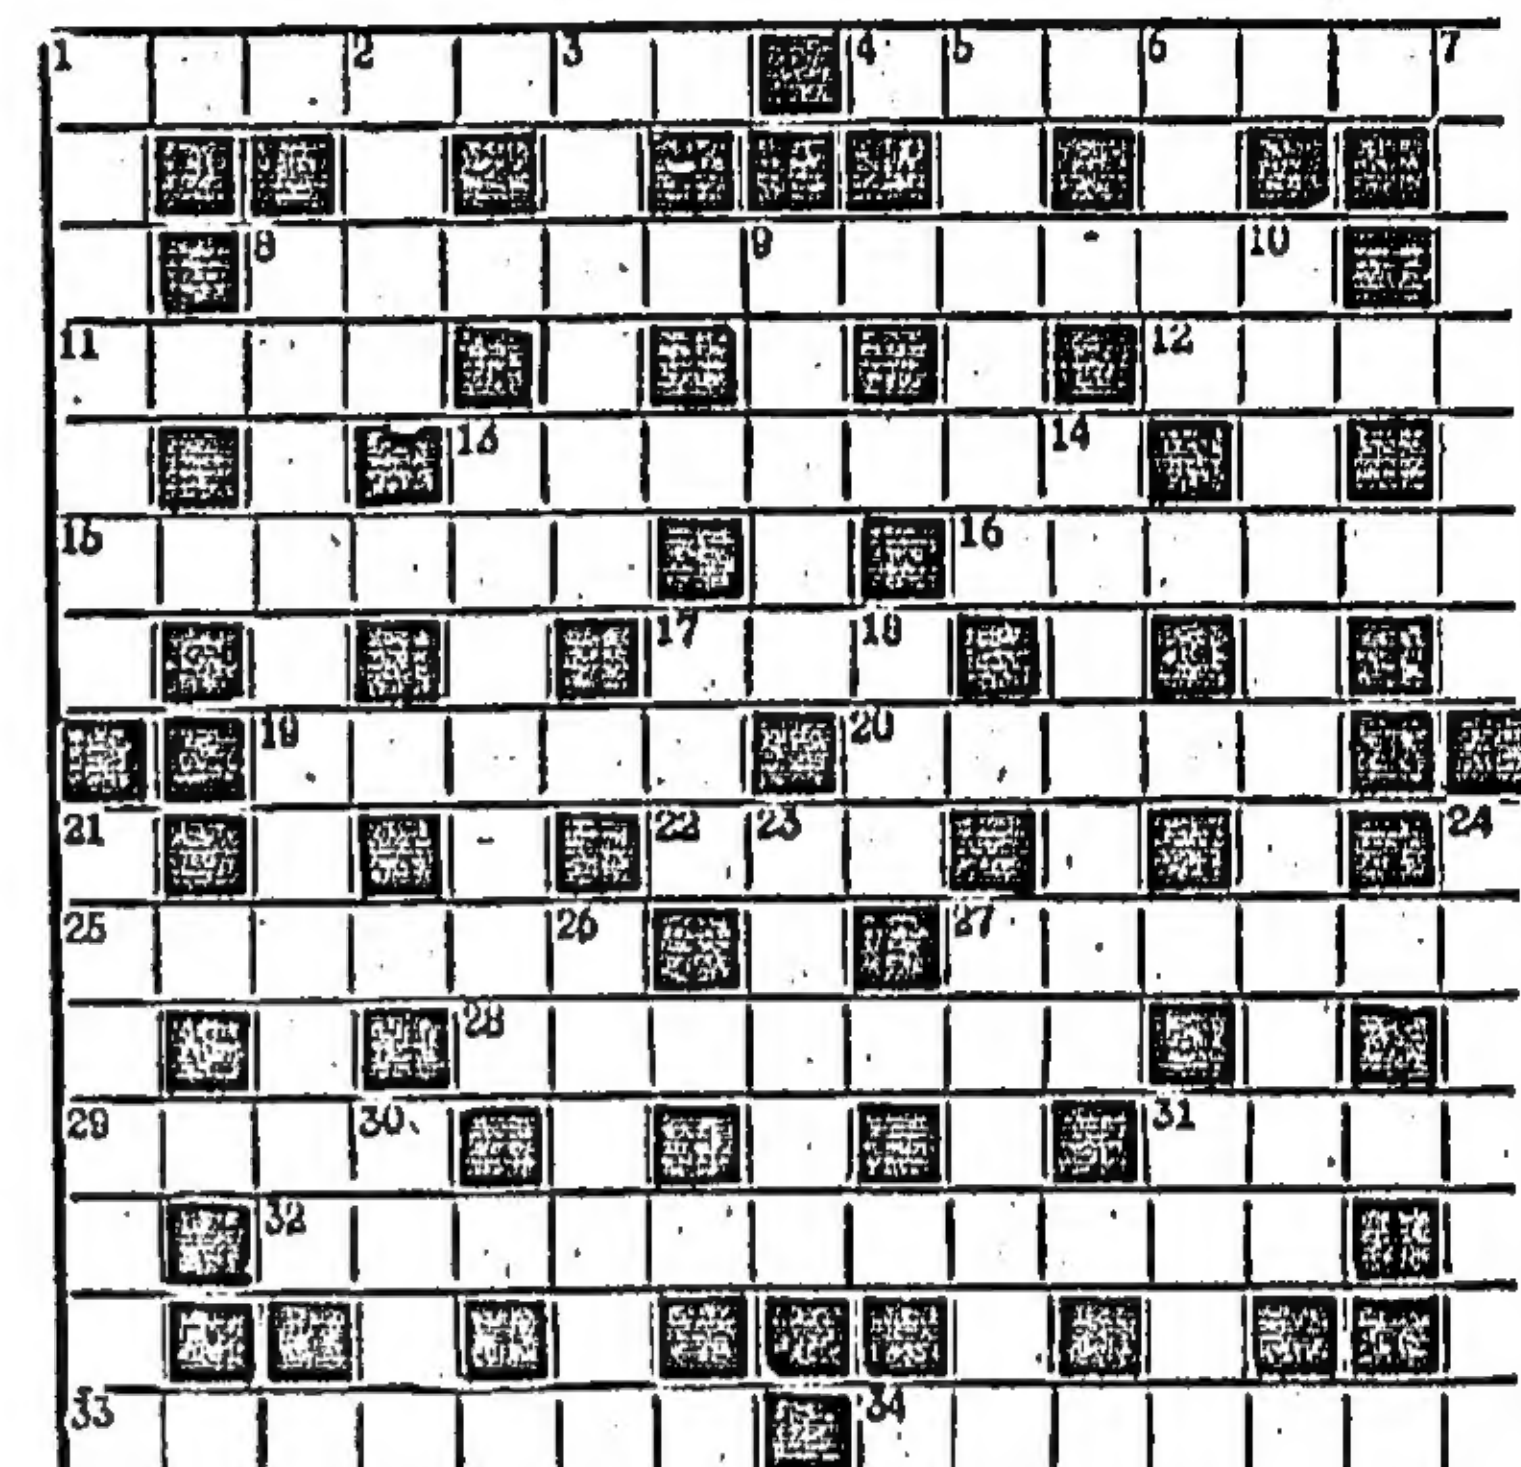

All luck will shun you if you wear the yellow topaz for your jewel, and it will protect you against hatred and revenge.

Your lucky number is three.

Make It With Flowers

Hat & Muff Set

THIS amusing hat and muff, "was designed for Ascot, but it will also be worn in place of the halo evening head-dress so popular last season."

Field flowers are used for the massed blooms resting on the head; daisies, poppies and cornflowers; they are repeated, too, in the muff, which has a frill of deep blue tulle to match the veil. This model has inspired tiny toque-shaped hats, composed entirely of flowers, some of which give one the idea that you have robbed the garden for your summer millinery.

Flowers predominate as a hat adornment this summer, and many are lavishly used as trimmings. Where they are not spread over the top of the hat, they are packed away closely beneath the brim.

Sometimes, a couple of large blossoms will top the crown, but only when your face is round and small must you dare to wear this style, and then only with a wide brim and hat with a sideways tilt.

BERETS ARE BACK!

FASHION is welcoming the beret again with open arms. Berets are back in all sorts of shapes and sizes. Some of them even have a poke crown!

The beret shown here is in felt with a circlet of metal rings linked together with felt. The necklace continues the same idea. Another novel combination is black felt and white Panama, the latter arranged in graduated rings, wide at the edge and narrowing down to almost nothing in the middle.

COOL and fashionable for a garden party in lettuce green georgette with coolie hat and Chinese parasol to match.

HOLLYWOOD BAN ON ROYALTY

RELATIVES of European Royalty will shortly be barred from visiting Hollywood because of excessive hospitality.

The last visitor was Princess Katherine, youngest sister of King George of Greece. She is now staying in a London hotel, but to avoid being recognised she has changed her mode of dress.

The Princess arrived in Hollywood as Miss K. Constantine—but the news leaked out, a friend said. "She was immediately mobbed."

"So-called friends were out to exploit her. She was photographed with stars, and rumours spread that she wanted to be a film star. She was overwhelmed with screen offers."

"It soon became apparent that even the most modest member of a Royal house could not maintain reasonable dignity among the rumour-mongers of Hollywood."

"So she came away."

John Barrymore Named By Husband

Los Angeles, Aug. 25.

POWERFUL forces behind the scenes failed to bring about peace in the drama which began in earnest this afternoon in which Mary Astor, film star, and her husband, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, are fighting for the custody of their four-year-old daughter Marilyn.

Fans and professionals rubbed shoulders in an attempt to enter the courtroom, but although Judge Knight had moved three times to larger courtrooms, "House full" notices were put up.

Amid sympathetic sighs, the beautiful Miss Astor, neat but tired, entered the courtroom, and took her place in the witness stand.

In a broken voice she opened the attack on her husband by saying: "He said that unless I allowed him to get a divorce and the custody of our child, and do as he pleased, he would blacken my name and the names of my prominent friends."

"He said he would plaster them on the front pages of the newspapers and ruin my career as an actress."

"I told him that if he ruined my career I would not be able to support our child, and that he could not, or would not, do it. We went on for days and nights."

REPEATED THREATS "He repeated the threats constantly until—well, until the divorce."

During a short recess Miss Astor was told that a subpoena had been issued against the screen lover, John Barrymore, to give evidence in the case.

"It would be just as consistent for them to get a subpoena for President Roosevelt or Governor London," she said contemptuously.

"John Barrymore has nothing to do with the case."

The battle continued. "He struck me once," sobbed Miss Astor. "I did not know but what he might do it again. He had got me into a hysterical state."

Attorney Anderson was on his feet again with an objection. The reference to hypnotic control was struck out.

"Miss Astor said she moved away from her home about April 1 last year, taking her baby with her."

"I couldn't stand his tormenting me with these continuous threats," she said.

"Were these threats the reason you gave Dr. Thorpe the guardianship of the child?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes," said Miss Astor determinedly.

"She was shown a copy of the trust agreement, which stipulated that she should not take the child from the State without his permission."

BEDSIDE SCENE "Why did you sign it?" Miss Astor was asked.

"Because I was told by Dr. Thorpe," she answered.

She then recounted an alleged conversation with Dr. Thorpe, his attorney, and Miss Ethel Pepin.

"It occurred in the library, where I had made up a bed while I was ill at the end of March 1935," said Miss Astor.

"Dr. Thorpe said: 'This thing is going to be the way I want it. I am going to get a divorce and the custody of the child, and arrange a distribution of property.'"

"I said I would do as he pleased. There was nothing else I could do."

"I was ill and heart sick over the things were turning out. I was licked," she said.

Miss Astor sat down and Attorney Joseph Anderson rose and began to hurl questions at Miss Astor.

"Isn't it a fact," he asked, "that you had already selected a place to live before you discussed the divorce?"

"It's not a fact," said Miss Astor.

The judge banged his gavel and ordered the court to be adjourned for lunch.

Anderson shouted across the room, "I'm not going to take the time to answer all these incriminating and phony statements by counsel. I am going to prove conclusively before I am through—"

"Be careful what you say," interrupted Miss Astor's counsel, "You're responsible for scandalizing statements that are not proved."

IN THE VATICAN GAOL PRISONER WHO STOLE A BOOK

Vatican City, Aug. 20. A flutter of excitement stirred the venerable precincts of the Papal City this morning. For the third time since it came into existence the little law court was opened for a trial.

A certain Ezio Morigi, an Italian citizen, was found guilty of purloining a book from the Vatican Library, and sentenced to one month's solitary confinement in the Vatican gaol.

This small building has three well-lighted cells, and Morigi is the only occupant. Two Papal gendarmes, dressed in Napoleonic uniform with cocked hats, are his gaolers.

Three eminent Vatican citizens sat on the Bench. A church official, the Promotor of Justice, presided. The court was crowded.

One witness expressed indignation that the prisoner got into the Vatican under false pretences. He never was a student, and had not even the excuse of a student's passion for some rare and fascinating volumes. He stole a book of little value when some of the intellectual joys of the world lay within his reach.

RED SACRILEGE The Communist Salute

Here is a typical example of the Spanish Reds' idea of "humour." Following scenes of disorder between Tarragona and Barcelona a church effigy was made to appear as giving the Communist salute.

Young America Learns 'English'

SEEKING PERFECT ACCENT

Thousands of Teachers Go to be Taught

YOUNG America is going to London to learn how to speak English at the fountain-head.

Some 40 American women have arrived for the second holiday overseas courses at the Speech Institute, Gordon Square, W.C.1.

They are the vanguard of thousands of American teachers, from elementary schools to universities, who became "English Speech-conscious" during the visit last winter to America of Miss Marjorie Gullan, founder and director of the Institute.

No Fight For Colonies

A GERMAN VIEW

"The idea that Germany may go to war in order to get her colonies back is preposterous," declared Dr. Karl von Abtzen, a German journalist resident in London, when he addressed the Liberal Summer School at Oxford recently.

He declared that the procedure adopted by the Allies in 1919 with regard to colonies was bound to make Germans suspicious, when they heard so much of the trusteeship for coloured races.

Germany did not raise any new or unlimited claims in the colonial field, but what she did claim were her rightful possessions which she had held in the past. The economic side of the problem, important though it was, had been over-stressed.

What came first in the minds of the German people when they thought of the question at all was the matter of honour and justice.

Germany would never admit that the action which she was compelled to take in 1919 at the point of the bayonet and on the threat of starvation for her women and children in handing over her colonies gave any right of possession in favour of the Allies.

"SIMPLE SOLUTION" A plain and simple solution, indeed, the only natural solution from the point of view of honour and justice, both of the Allies and Germany, would be the restoration of the colonies in question to their lawful possessors—Germany.

"If the Mandatory Powers," he added, "could see their way to such a solution without haggling and bargaining—of which we are thoroughly sick in post-war years—they would do more for the re-establishment of better and really cordial relationship among the great nations of Europe than could be done by any other single act."

Germany, excluded from participation in the great task of colonisation and Germany, declared to be a second-class nation in the question of colonial development, would be bound to be a centre of political and social unrest.

If they could give Germany the opportunity to take part, Europe would have one of the biggest assets she could ever have for the future.

SIR ARTHUR GALTER'S VIEW Sir Arthur Galter, speaking at the evening meeting, said that in the present circumstances he did not think

Miss Gullan, with the support of the education authorities, travelled across the States from Atlantic to Pacific, living with the students, and teaching classes of 500 and over.

GRANDMOTHER-STUDENTS In her classes were many women who had enrolled as college and university students after raising a family. One woman took her diploma on the day she became a grandmother.

What Americans chiefly want, Miss Gullan stated, is to get rid of the nasal quality in their speech. But they do not wish to learn Oxford English, which they consider offensive.

Londoners, says Miss Gullan, have a correspondingly serious speech fault—the Cockney vowel.

"Most people do not realise," she said, "that to speak English requires as much study as to write it."

In 1927, with Miss Gertrude Kerby, she founded the Speech Fellowship, whose chief inspiration is "the desire to remove the handicap of bad speech in all its applications to life."

Both Fellowship and Institute were built up entirely with private funds. Neither is profit-making.

CHORIC SPEAKING In 1922 Miss Gullan founded the first verse-speaking choir in this country at Glasgow. It was brought to London at the invitation of Miss Maude Royden and in 1925 a London choir was founded.

It is felt by various bodies that our speech has deteriorated in recent years.

The Bishop of Chichester, Dr. Bell, announced in January last that candidates for ordination in his diocese must hereafter pass a voice test.

In March funds were provided by Baron Profumo, K.C., for classes on speech for junior barristers.

that we should transfer to Germany her pre-war colonies.

"I agree," he said, "that the Treaty of Versailles and the accompanying documents included a great deal of hypocritical and indefensible nonsense about why we took Germany's colonies. The plain truth is that we and the rest of the Allies took them because we had won them in war."

"Even though there were no other difficulties in the way of our doing so, I believe that by giving back those colonies we should not only buy peace, but should buy additional trouble."

Stratosphere Air Liners

New York, Aug. 25.

STRATOSPHERE flying for passenger aeroplanes is the latest development of aviation. Trans-continental and Western Airways announce plans for a new fleet of super-liners, which they hope will fly at altitudes up to 30,000 ft.

An official said today: "We are going to take up the scientific study of high altitude flying where Wiley Post (the famous one-eyed airman who flew alone around the world) left off. Modern airliners can ascend to higher altitudes than those at which they are generally used, but very little is known of the reactions of the crew and passengers."

"We have withdrawn an aeroplane from our passenger service, and it is now being equipped with various instruments for making tests at high altitudes. The future development of our planes will rest largely on these tests."

If the experiments are successful the company will probably introduce a high-altitude freight service before passengers are invited to speed through the stratosphere.

Court Sits In Camera

CUSTODY OF AN INFANT PRINCE

The application listed as "Monaco v. Monaco, injunction," concerning the custody of Prince Pierre, 12-year-old son of Prince Pierre of Monaco, was before Mr. Justice Bucknill, sitting as the Vacation Judge in the High Court recently.

When the case was called on, counsel for both sides asked that the matter should be taken in camera as it concerned the custody of an infant.

Mr. Justice Bucknill acceded to this request, and the Court was at once cleared.

Anybody for the motion to be taken in private, Mr. R. E. L. Vaughan Williams, K.C., said that he appeared for the plaintiff, and the matter concerned the custody of an infant, the grandson of the plaintiff and the son of the defendant.

Mr. H. Wynn Parry, K.C. (for the defendant)—I support the application. It is the usual practice, and I think it is eminently in the interests of the child, that the custody of an infant should not be discussed in public. The case has already attracted a lot of publicity.

Mr. Justice Bucknill—If both sides wish that it be heard in camera, I will so hear it.

Mr. Vaughan Williams—We shall all be very much obliged.

ADJOURNMENT PLEA Mr. Vaughan Williams then mentioned the question of an adjournment, stating that he received an affidavit late the previous night which he desired to answer.

"There are other circumstances which ought to be before the Court," he added, "and I ask for an adjournment until next Wednesday."

Mr. Wynn Parry said that he opposed an adjournment. "An injunction," he continued, "was obtained from Mr. Justice Eve last week, and for reasons which I should like to tell your Lordship when the Court is cleared I desire that the matter should be dealt with to-day. I do not wish to say any more before the Court is in camera."

Mr. Justice Bucknill—Having regard to the fact that both sides wish this case to be heard in camera, I order that the Court be cleared.

The Court was crowded, both in the well and in the public gallery, and the order was allowed to remain before the interested parties and officials.

For the plaintiff, Mr. R. E. L. Vaughan Williams, K.C., Mr. H. O. Danckwerts, Mr. Acland-Hood (Messrs. Parker, Garrett and Co.) for the defendant, Mr. H. Wynn Parry, K.C., Mr. Raymond Jennings (Messrs. Lewis and Lewis).

CINEMA
NOTES

Despite the fact that he's Irish through and through, Brian Donlevy hasn't the slightest inclination towards crystal balls, palmistry, numerology or any other means of fortune telling, but he's beginning to wonder a bit about astrology. Donlevy, featured in "High Tension," a picture now at the King's Theatre, a few months ago was just about ready to give up Hollywood as a bad job and return to New York, where he is a stage favourite. While attending a Hollywood party, one of the entertainers provided was an astrologist who, to Donlevy's surprise, predicted that within six months the young leading man would be one of the most promising actors in Hollywood. At the time Donlevy ridiculed the prophecy, but subsequent events have confirmed the prediction and Donlevy has risen rapidly in the Hollywood firmament. Also featured in "High Tension," an excitement-packed film of thrills, undersea and romantic excitement ashore, are Glenda Farrell, Norman Foster, Helen Wood and Robert McWade.

"Klondike Annie" Mae West spreads her own particular brand of light in the Land of the Midnight Sun in her newest picture, "Klondike Annie" which comes showing at the Oriental Theatre on Friday and Saturday. The lady who made curves famous goes back to the period of the gay and gaudy '90s for her latest production. A big cast headed by the virile Victor McLaglen supports her in the film. "Klondike Annie" begins on San Francisco's famed Barbary Coast and winds up in Alaska. In "Frisco" she is held virtually a captive by a jealous lover, and when she seeks to escape, he tries to stop her by force. In the struggle, he is killed. Mae flees to a steamer awaiting her in the harbour. The vessel is commanded by Victor McLaglen, a tough old salt. He sets out under full steam for Alaska, stopping one port to pick up additional passengers. Among them is a girl missionary, bound for Nome. She and Mae become firm friends, and Mae is deeply grieved when she dies at sea. Just at this time, Federal officers board the vessel, in search of Miss West, who is wanted for the San Francisco affray. She dons the missionary's clothes, and escapes detection. But when the vessel arrives at Nome, she is forced carry on the posse.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE
YESTERDAY

New York, Sept. 9.

Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Dow

Jones summary of yesterday's market:—The market to-day was irregular and a number of leading issues declined on realising, although some special stocks advanced on selective buying. Steel shares were the first to suffer, after which eagerness spread to other groups.

Packards were extremely active,

touching a new high level of 13 1/2, but

Chrysler and General Motor shares declined. Utilities met with late support. Radio Corporation of America shares were active, advancing on speculative demand. Both the Bond

Market and the Curb Exchange were

irregular.

S. C. & F. New York office cables:

Stocks: The market reflects a certain amount of profit-taking, but the undertone is firm. Montgomery

Business failures for the week amounted to 163. Bank deposits for the week were $14,807,000,000.

Cotton: Spot houses are reported to be taking all offerings, advancing on speculative demand. Both the Bond

Market and the Curb Exchange were

irregular.

Wheat: The Government weekly report is slightly bearish and is reflected in sales, but the world statistics is unchanged, with foreign buying for December and May on reactions.

Corn: There have been favourable

rumors in several sections of the corn belt. The Government weekly report is slightly bearish and demand is less aggressive.

Rubber: The French political situation is disturbing. The factories are out of the market for the moment.

S. C. & F. Wall Street Journal

comment:—"London believes that the franc will eventually be devaluated. The cotton crop

Government estimate helps the textile outlook. Cinema stocks are favoured, with increasing talk of high admission prices this Autumn. The street believes that copper prices will be advanced soon. Many understandings are favourable. New York Central, Pennsylvania and

Baltimore-Ohio. It is gossiped that the Western Union Telegraph Company is increasing its earnings."

KOWLOON HONOUR
ST. SYLVESTER ORDER
FROM POPE

Mr. Henry Dixon, i.s.o., J.P., retired Superintendent of the Govern- ment Money Order Office, and a leading member of the Catholic and Portuguese community, was yester- day invested by Bishop Valtorta, Vicar Apostolic of Hongkong, with the dignity of Knight of St. Sylve- ster conferred on him by His Holiness Pope Pius XI.

The ceremony took place at the Catholic Union Club, Kowloon, of which Mr. Dixon is President, and the occasion was extended to in- clude a welcome tea party for the Bishop, who recently returned from Rome. Many members of the Club attended, and among others present were Fathers Spada, Gallagher, Rossi, Rignati, Ryan and Angelus.

Following tea, Mr. Dixon said that club members were glad to see his

NEW BRITISH STAMPS

HONGKONG INCLUDED IN ISSUE

London, Sept. 9. Arrangements are being made for new issues, at or about the date of the Coronation next year, of Colonial stamps bearing the King's effigy.

The new issues will be confined at first to a few denominations for each territory and will be based on a common design. The stamps will form part of a new permanent issue and will not be special Coronation issues. No such special Coronation issues for the Colonies are at present in contemplation.

The stamps will be of standard size. The design comprises a three-quarter profile vignette of the King's head in a circle placed towards the top left-hand corner of the stamp, with the Imperial Crown in the top right-hand corner. The name of the territory is shown beneath the vignette. The duty tablet is shown at the bottom right-hand corner and the denomination appears in words at the base of the stamp.

The above arrangements will apply to Aden, Bahamas, Bermuda, British Guiana, British Honduras, British Solomon Islands Protectorate, Ceylon, Cyprus, Falkland Islands, Fiji, Gambia, Gibraltar, Gilbert and Ellice Islands, Gold Coast, Hongkong, Jamaica and the Dependencies, Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika, Nigeria, Northern Rhodesia, Nyasaland, Leeward Islands, Malia, Mauritius, St. Helena, Seychelles, Sierra Leone and Protectorate, Straits Settlements, Trinidad and Tobago, and Western Samoa.

Hostages In Refuge

San Sebastian, Sept. 10. Hostilities on the San Sebastian front have been virtually suspended for the past 48 hours.

The 925 hostages held here have been quietly transferred to Bilbao in order to protect them, it is believed, in the event of the extremists getting the upper hand.—Reuter.

PLANES "GROUNDED"

London, Sept. 9. Five aeroplanes have been grounded at Croydon aerodrome by order of the Board of Trade on account of the suspicion that it permitted to leave they might be delivered to one or other of the contending parties in the Spanish Civil War, in contravention of the British Government's embargo.—British Wireless.

PORTUGAL DECLINES

London, Sept. 9. Representatives of 28 powers met to-day at a Non-Intervention Committee to prevent European nations becoming embroiled in the Spanish civil war. However, Portugal declined to participate in the committee's work, seriously handicapping its efforts.—United Press.

LEADERS INVOLVED

Moscow, Sept. 9. The Soviet leaders, Bukharin and Rykov, charged with conspiring against the state during the trial of reactionary extremists recently, have been absolved of responsibility.—Reuter.

FORMER CANTON OFFICIAL

EXECUTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Canton, Sept. 9. Feng Jul, former Director of the Agricultural Bureau, under the Chin Chai-long regime, is reported to have been executed this afternoon.—Reuter.

Canton, Sept. 9. Feng Jul, former Director of the Forest and Agriculture Bureau, who was recently arrested for alleged embezzlement of $2,500,000 public money, suffered the death penalty this afternoon by order of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, after a brief court martial at the Headquarters of the local Gendarmes presided over by General Li Kong, the Commander of Gendarmes.

After the execution, which was carried out in the eastern suburb, outside the city at 4 p.m., by a party of 30 Gendarmes, an official communiqué was issued stating that Feng Jul, aged 38, native of Pun Yu, Kwangtung, was found guilty of corruption and embezzlement of Government money. He was also found guilty of oppressing the farmers in the Province and purchasing foreign sugar from abroad to pass it off as produced by the Government factories.

The communiqué states that complaints have been received from farmers all over the province since Feng's arrest. He admitted all offences during a careful trial.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

CHENG TU INCIDENT

Shanghai, Sept. 9. Mr. Suma, Japanese Consul-General at Hankow, and concurrently Chief-Secretary to the Japanese Embassy, called on General Chang Chun, at the Foreign Office yesterday afternoon. He remained at the Foreign Office for two hours.

It is understood that the present visit of Mr. Suma was on instructions from Mr. Shigeru Kawagoe, the Japanese Ambassador to China, who is still here, consulting with other Japanese officials on the Chengtu incident.

During his visit at the Foreign Office Mr. Suma asked General Chang Chun, the Chinese Foreign Minister, about the attitude of the Chinese Government, and made preparations for the coming Sino-Japanese negotiations in connection with the Chengtu incident. Certain observers believe that in the negotiations the Japanese Ambassador will bring up other Sino-Japanese questions.

Mr. Wu Hsiang-tse, Special Commissioner for Foreign Affairs for Szechuen and Szechwan, who had taken full charge of the Chengtu incident on behalf of the National Government, arrived at the Capital yesterday from Chungking by aeroplane. It is understood that he is coming to make a full report of the incident.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

The annual general meeting of the St. Andrew's Women's Fellowship will be held to-day (Thursday) at 3 p.m. All members are specially invited to be present.

BEWARE OF PAIN AFTER EATING

Do you dread your meals? Are you for ever wondering what you can eat with safety and freedom from pain? Are you, in fact, living in fear and agony from stomach trouble?

Scarcely anyone escapes this scourge of modern life. Some are wise and take it in time. Others endure terrible torture—but even they can do the same as the wise ones, and find quick relief in Maclean Brand Stomach Powder.

An amazing volume of evidence proves that Maclean Brand does bring relief. Sufferers from gastric and duodenal ulcers and from acute gastritis have found in it a remedy worth untold gold. Their letters are documents of wonderful joy and thanks.

You can be like them. You can once more enjoy the good food that Nature intends you to enjoy. Get a bottle of Maclean Brand Stomach Powder at once. You have only to take one dose to feel its benefit—and a short course will have lasting effect.

But it must be Maclean Brand with the signature "ALEX. C. MACLEAN" on the bottle. None without it is genuine and you dare not risk your health by taking powder of which you know nothing. Maclean Brand is never sold loose. Sold only in cartons, of powder or tablets. If any difficulty in obtaining, write to Banker & Co., Ltd., P. O. Box 536, Hong Kong.

HONGKONG ESTATE

LEFT BY FORMER TIENHSIN RESIDENT

Local estate, sworn not to exceed $3,300 in value, was left by Francis Benbow Rowe, broker, of Liddle Bros. Tientsin, who died at Tientsin on December 11, 1932. Probate of the will was granted to Mr. E. S. C. Brooks, solicitor, the lawful attorney, by the Supreme Court yesterday, on the application on behalf of Oswald Stanhope Benbow Rowe, of White Cottage, Talpa, a brother, who is an executor.

Beneficiaries under the will are members of the testator's family.

Probate was also granted yesterday to the will of Kong Yuen-ling, alias Kong Tin-to, alias Kong Lok-to, pawnbroker, of Waterloo Road, Kowloon, who died on January 13. The value of the estate is sworn not to exceed $9,500.

SPECIAL TRAINING FOR BUSINESS

The growing popularity of the course of business training begun some years ago at the London School of Economics is indicative of changed ideas
which now prevail in regard to fitting young men for a commercial life. It is shown in the School's latest report that there has been a stream of university
graduates from the principal
centres of learning passing into business through the one-year
post-graduate course. The new attitude of business leaders is in striking contrast to the view so
long held that the best and only
efficient training ground for
young men is in business itself.
Those who adhered to this viewpoint envisaged the boy fresh
from school beginning at the lowest rung of the ladder and
working his way up to the top.
The university-trained young
man was looked at askance, as
one whose head was so full of
theories as to leave little room
for the ordinary hard facts of life. There can, of course, be no disputing the fact that there
is great value in first-hand knowledge of business—that, in this sphere as in others, an ounce of
practice is worth a ton of theory. But something more is needed, and that "something"
can be summed up by saying
that the better the general education of a young man is, the
more readily will he adapt himself to a business life, always assuming that he has a due
share of character and intelligence. In other words, there must be specialised education as well as actual experience if the
best results are to be obtained.
It is true that many instances
can be quoted of men who have risen to high posts without the advantage of such education, but
these have succeeded in spite of
their educational shortcomings,
and not because of them. This type of individual would, in any event, forgo his way to the top,
through sheer determination and
an inherent capacity to adapt
himself to changing conditions.
He is not, however, typical of the majority. With every passing year, business is becoming more complex, and the successful pursuit of it demands larger
knowledge and wider outlooks.
World competition is keener every day, and the Briton, whether he stays at home or goes overseas, is being constantly
made aware of this fact. Nowhere is this competition more evident than in the Far East,
where business no longer falls
into the lap of the man who sits

is a dangerous amusement.

NOTES OF THE DAY

Broadcasting has proved a strong stimulus to education in England. Thousands of schoolchildren and students can now
listen to talks given by experts on
a great variety of subjects, and
local education authorities, realising
their value, are contributing
financial assistance to many of the listening schools. About 5,500
British schools are recorded as regular listeners, and the number rapidly increases. Over 900 were registered between January and May this year. As a result of this increase, the British Broadcasting Corporation has decided to give more time to school broadcasts and
to develop the programmes considerably. The new scheme is based on the replies received from schools to a list of questions circulated to teachers throughout
Great Britain. School broadcasting was formerly concerned with the requirements of children from eleven to fourteen, now provision
is made for all children from five
to eighteen years of age. There is one course for infants, there
are seven for juniors, eleven for secondary schools. During the coming year there will thus be twenty-five courses, including some
in Welsh, covering a wide range
of subjects such as would normally
be outside the scope of the average teacher. The Central Council for School Broadcasting has done much to develop the closest possible contact between the teacher
and the broadcaster. The result of recent efforts is that school
broadcasting has achieved a measure of success undreamed of
by those who initiated the experiment some twelve years ago.

in his office, but has to be sought after and won in the face of much rivalry. There are, admittedly, types of university
men who are unsuited for modern business life—which is another way of saying that a university education will not of itself provide the necessary
equipment. But the man who,
by special training, coupled with
a practical knowledge of his work, is educated in the broadest
sense of the term, will accomplish more than the who has
merely fallen into a business
career and has taken little pains
to increase his knowledge or become closely acquainted with modern commercial trends.

later, they usually manage to
bite the hand that writes them.

I always regard with wonder
anyone with the persistent personal faith to keep a diary.
Diarists are born, not made, and I have never been able to keep
one for more than two days
together.

To be able to take a little
closely packed volume (1917,
perhaps) from the secret
drawer in your desk and discover what you were doing on
that particular 12th of August,
must produce a delicious sense
of personal importance.

Great Scandals

THAT sense of importance, of course, is one of the prime essentials of keeping a diary.
That, and an unquestioning
faith in the said diary's inviolable secrecy.

Once you admit the thought
that one day your diary is going
to be read by amused and hostile persons (as, needless to say,
every diary eventually is), you
are inhibited from entering anything more innocuous than the times and places of your luncheon engagements. And those, even to yourself when you are 80, are not good enough
reading to have been worth the trouble.

Some diaries have made
great scandals in their day
and have provided much excellent reading for other generations.

Perhaps even Miss Astor's
diary, if carefully preserved,
will provide some future historian with invaluable material
on the social manners of Hollywood in the twentieth century.

Famous Harriette

THE greatest scandal of the kind that was ever created
was that which exploded in London with the publication of Harriette Wilson's memoirs.

Memoirs are not, properly
speaking, a diary, but the notorious Harriette compiled her amorous adventures for the Press with diary-like fidelity to fact and detail, and must have
had a lifetime of small diary
notes to help her.

They were pure scandal, implicating no lesser men than the Marquess of Worcester, Lord
Alvanley, Beau Brummell, the 3rd Duke of Leinster, and—
choicest sensation of all—the Duke of Wellington.

The story is well known of Harriette's attempt to blackmail Wellington before the publication of the memoirs, and

of his famous reply: "Publish
and be damned!"—expressive of
a defiant dignity which even reputation-conscious film stars
might adopt with profit.

Harriette, more fortunately
for posterity than for her noble
admirers, published with relish,
and the rush to buy the paper-
backed numbers in which the book appeared was so riotous
that a barrier had to be erected
to protect the publisher's shop.

A Best-Seller

IT sold 30 editions in one year,
its indiscretions making it an instantaneous best-seller. It is still excellent reading because Harriette, besides having num-
berless love-affairs with the gentry, had also a sharp wit, a vigorous pen, and the trick of being able to reproduce exactly
conversational mannerisms.

Her book had all the qualities which make a dangerous
diary live.

Another succes de scandale
was Lady Charlotte Bury's
diary, published in 1838 by her husband (probably against her
will) when he was hard up.

Since she had been for many
years a lady-in-waiting to the unfortunate Caroline Princess of Wales, whom the Prince Regent
treated so badly and who was herself rather an unfashionable person, her diary was full of malicious revelations about the Court.

Though its sales were immense the book cost Lady
Charlotte many of her friends.

One of them, whose indiscreet
letters had appeared in the
diary, wrote to her scathingly:

"When I wrote the silly, impertinent letters in question, between 20 and 30 years ago, I knew that I was writing to the Duke of Argyll's daughter, and
thought myself safe by all the common laws of good breeding
and morality. But I find I was extremely deceived." A nineteenth-century example of sudden alarm over long-forgotten
frivolities!

The best diaries in the world are those which were kept secret, written without
a thought of publication.

Samuel Pepys, as indiscreet
and self-revealing as even Dr.

ROUND ABOUT by

The Showman

I AM grateful to somebody—I
have forgotten his name, and I
am too lazy to look it up—who wrote an article, this week, which hinted at a progressive world
water shortage.

He admitted, by the way, that this
was hard to believe in Great Britain,
now that summer is here.

But he did envisage an arid world
reduced to tapping the polar ice-caps
for water, as Lowell suggested had been done on Mars with those disputed canals.

This is a conception to which the word "awful" may be properly applied. Thinking about it does you good,
because, for once, you see the idiotic
squabbles of nations in their right perspective.

Shall we ever combine for happiness and self-preservation? Or—as seems probable now—will the Last Man be
Last Mirror with the Last Machine Gun?

'EGGS OF HELL'

I have been urged to continue my uncompleted novel, "Eggs of Hell,"
past the point where I got stuck because Captain Peter Pullover, of the Secret Service, faced by five giant Chinese with automatics, had mislaid
his machine-gun.

You may remember that a bomb in
his breakfast egg had exploded, bringing down the ceiling, and that he had a wife called Lady Ekke, of dazzling beauty? Very well. Now read on.

Her Ladyship's Entrance

SUDDENLY a machine-gun began
its devilish chatter behind Pullover, and the Chinese, nothing
curses, were stricken to the floor.

"What on earth . . .!" he began.
Then there was a crash. And he knew
no more.

When he recovered consciousness,
his wife was leaning over him and adjusting his smoked glasses so that her
dazzling beauty would not blind him.

"Yes," she said softly, "it was I.
The explosion threw your machine-gun into my hands upstairs. There was no telling, so I saw the Chinese;
and then—" she laughed deliciously
—"I just dropped in on you."

He, too, laughed, and drew her into
a long embrace while the Chinese, who were weakened by the explosion, began very slowly and very tenderly to give way beneath them.

Fairy Story

THE news was this. Francis Lederer
had a surplus of cabbages on his farm near Hollywood, thirty thousand
of them. So he began posting them off in sacks to everyone he knew.

And what do you think he found underneath each cabbage? Why, a dear, little baby, ten-penny! There were all howling their heads off because there aren't enough diamond-studded cots to go round.

Isn't that a pretty story, ducks?

Eden's Lament

A BALLAD, inspired by Sir Austen
Chamberlain's rebuke to the Government for not saying clearly what it means. To be sung by Mr. Eden in a plaintive voice.

I hope, oh, I hope, oh, I hope
You will not confuse the poor Cabinet.

I know that I hand out soft soap
With precious few facts you can grab in it.

But please do not blame me—you know how I try.

Or else, I assure you, I'll break down and cry!

Now please don't, now please don't,
now PLEASE

Don't ask for a definite answer.

My tight-rope walks so in a breeze,
And I'm such a dainty dancer,

It isn't a matter for cynical mirth!
I'll fall—and I DON'T want to come down to earth!

Wags' Corner

The fat man and his wife were returning to their seats in the theatre
after the interval.

"Did I tread on your toes as I went out?" he asked the man in a seat on the gangway.

"You did," the other replied grimly.

"It's all right, Mary," said the fat man, turning to his wife, "this is our row."

Thorpe's attorney could wish,

had the good grace to write his journals in code and to die before the immortal books saw daylight.

Parson Woodforde, whose gentle, interminable, irresistible chronicle of the small doings of an eighteenth-century lifetime, with no indiscretions greater than the compassionate noting of a housemaid's mishap, created no scandal, made no ears burn.

Or Better . . . Burn it!

BUT great diaries require great diarists, and few of us, no matter how violent the urge to immortalise our emotional reactions on a clean page, are really that.

The ordinary diarist is an in-trospective, self-centred person, irresponsible about the trouble
for others that these self-communications on paper are likely to create.

For these diarists there should be a stringent rule—keep the
thing locked up or, better still,
burn it! And for the rest of us,
beware of diarists!

HONGKONG TEXTILES RAMP EXPOSURE

"Telegraph" Articles Cause Big Clean-Up In Philippine Islands: Textile Imports CrashMANILA CUSTOMS AUTHORITIES CLOSE "OPEN DOOR" RE-EXPORT OF JAPANESE GOODS THROUGH COLONY CEASES FOLLOWING NEWSPAPER EXPOSE*"Telegraph" Special

Following the "Telegraph" exposure last June of the amazing textile ramp existing between Hongkong and the Philippines, the Manila Customs authorities have staged one of the biggest clean-ups in their history.

In a series of articles, which were reprinted in Manila newspapers, the "Telegraph" disclosed how unscrupulous merchants in Hongkong were defeating the "Gentlemen's Agreement" between the United States and Japan.

This agreement limited the quantity of Japanese textiles imported into the Philippine Islands to 42,000,000 linear yards per annum.

Hongkong merchants for a time defeated the agreement by importing Japanese textiles into this Colony, and re-exporting them to the Philippine Islands as "Hongkong Made" or "South China Made" goods.

An amazing series of frauds were unearthed.

The Japanese quota of 42,000,000 linear yards was filled in the first four months of the year, and direct exports from Japan to the Philippines were thereafter reduced to a minimum.

But, until the "Telegraph" exposure, exports from Hongkong to the Philippines continued at a merry pace.

In the first six months of this year, Hongkong exported a total of 35,466,363 linear yards of textiles to the Philippines, more than in the whole of any previous year.

That the greatest part of these Hongkong exports were of Japanese origin was conclusively proved by official statistics, which showed that Hongkong imports from Japan had increased in proportion to its exports to the Philippines.

It was estimated in one quarter that fully 80 per cent. of Hongkong's exports to the Philippines were of Japanese origin. Yet the greatest part of the textiles entering Manila from Hongkong entered the Philippines as goods "Made in Hongkong" or "Made in South China."

Investigations by the "Telegraph" disclosed that an amazing system of falsification was employed by several merchants in Hongkong in order to secure entry for these textiles into the Philippines without disclosing that they were of Japanese origin.

These methods included the cutting of Japanese brands and trade marks from the textiles when they were imported into Hongkong, and substituting Hongkong labels.

Another system was to open bales or boxes of Japanese goods, take out the top layers and substitute genuine Hongkong or Chinese textiles. Only a cursory examination of the top layers was made by Philippine customs officials.

A third method that attained some popularity before the "Telegraph" disclosures was to enter goods without a consular declaration, posting a 100 pesos bond that the declaration would be delivered before a specified time. Non-delivery of the declaration meant only a forfeiture of the 100 pesos bond, which represented an infinitesimal value of the goods that passed the customs before the 100 pesos became forfeited.

Following publication of the "Telegraph" articles, the customs authorities in the Philippines have taken stringent measures to prevent Japanese textiles from entering via Hongkong.

CAREFULLY CHECKED

Each consignment is carefully checked to prevent substitution of Hongkong labels for Japanese, and instead of the cursory examination of bales and boxes formerly made, a strict examination of the entire contents of packages of textiles imported from Hongkong is made.

The Philippine authorities now refuse to accept a monetary bond in lieu of consular declarations regarding the country of origin of textiles, and insist that before delivery is made the consular declaration be forthcoming.

As a result of the more stringent measures adopted in the Philippines to prevent Japanese textiles from entering via Hongkong, imports of textiles to the Philippines dropped in remarkable fashion in July and August.

DOWN TO HALF

Exact figures for August are not yet available, but official statistics show that imports from Japan during the month of July were only 5,326,478 linear yards, as compared with an average of more than 10,000,000

HUSBAND WIFE DAUGHTER—---TOTAL 170 YEARS IN EAST*HONGKONG FAMILY HAS UNIQUE RECORD

THIRTY-SIX continuous years in Hongkong is bad enough, but 69 years in the Far East—it just isn't done.

What's the use of retired majors and taipans sipping whiskies and sodas in a West End Club and telling about the 20 years they spent in the dammedest climate in the world when, damme, William J. Edwards naively admits to a residence that goes back to 1867.

Even when hale and healthy at men's allotted span of three score years and ten, he decides it's time to retire, he won't do the thing decently by going home to a little cottage in the country. No, sir!

"Go home and be miserable in that climate," he says scornfully. "Not I! I'm going to retire to Shanghai!"

But that's Hongkong for you. People get that way after a few years. Won't admit that the climate isn't fit for a man to live in, or that anyone who stays over fifteen years has his foot in the grave.

Countless letters to Editors have lashed at Hongkong's climate. Every tourist who visits us in the summer has something to say about it. And even the loyalist who defends us against all traducers becomes silent when climate is the subject.

"Climate" is always a subject Hongkong journalists can fall back upon when he's hard up for copy. Therefore, Mr. Edwards had no right to tell me that he's lived in the Far East for 69 years, in Hongkong for 36 years. It was rubbing it in to add that his wife, daughter and he can tot up 170 years residence in Cathay, between them, and that neither of them are thinking of leaving for many years to come.

WIFE HOLDS RECORD

His wife, in fact, can claim exactly one month's longer residence in the Far East than can Mr. Edwards.

"She was born in Shanghai a month before I was born," up the Yangtze River, in August, 1867," he told me with a chuckle.

Few Europeans ventured up the famous inland waters of China in those days. Therefore, it comes as no surprise to know that Mr. Edwards was the first European baby born up the Yangtze.

In fact, Mr. Edwards can lay several claims to distinctions as equally newsworthy as the fact that he was the first white baby born up the Yangtze.

He was one of the first boys to attend the St. Francis Xavier's College in Shanghai, which was opened six years after his parents took him to Shanghai in 1870.

FIRST TRAIN IN CHINA

He rode in the first train ever to run on rails in China. That was in 1876, when the Chinese Empire, with great pomp and ceremony, inaugurated a railway service from Shanghai to Woosung.

"The railway wasn't too successful," Mr. Edwards told me, with a reminiscent smile. "The boat people plying along the river did not like this new competition on land. So they bribed the country people to lie across the steel rails. Either the train—they had two engines, the 'Celestial Empire' and the 'Far Cathay'—had to stop or run over the protestants. In any case, there was usually a thumping big claim for damages from someone."

MET PRESIDENT GRANT

One of Mr. Edwards' earliest recollections is that of meeting General Grant after the U.S. President—Grant when he visited China in 1876.

General Grant was introduced to Edwards Senior, who in turn introduced his nine-year-old son. One of young Edwards' first recollections was that General Grant gravely shook hands, called him a "good lad!"

Mr. Edwards first visited Hongkong in 1891, and came to live here in 1900.

From 1892 to 1910 he served with Jardine, Matheson's floating staff in various Indo China Navigation Company steamers, and was a picturesque figure along the China coast.

During the Great War he served in the Transport Harbours, and was demobilized in Hongkong six months before the ship foundered with all hands off the Farallons in 1920.

Mr. Edwards joined Messrs. W. S. Bailey & Co., after the Great War, served on the well-known shipyard's staff until 1927, when the call

MALARIA FEARS ALLAYEDFEVER INCIDENCE IS ALMOST NORMAL: FEAR UNWARRANTED

As a result of investigations, the "Telegraph" is able to allay fears, recently expressed, regarding the incidence of malaria in this Colony.

Although recent official statistics are not available, the "Telegraph" learns from a reliable source that the incidence of malaria is no greater than usual.

Latest available statistics conclusively disclose that the whole of Hongkong is a comparatively malaria-free Colony when compared with Malaya, Ceylon and other tropical centres.

Official statistics to the end of 1934 show that the number of admissions to Government hospitals has decreased by 66 per cent. during the past decade. In 1925 there were 1,142 admissions, in 1934 only 457. With the exception of 1932, the 1934 figure is the lowest in the history of the Colony.

Statistics for 1935 are not yet available to the Press, but the "Telegraph" is informed from a reliable source that the incidence for this year is approximately that for 1934.

During the first six months of the current year 280 cases were admitted to Government hospitals. This, on the surface, would lead one to believe that the incidence for the whole year will be higher than usual. Such, however, is not the case, as the incidence is much higher during the summer or "rainy" months, than during the winter.

No Europeans have fatally contracted malaria, and the percentage of Chinese fatalities is comparatively low.

URBAN AREAS CLEAR

Efficient drainage methods have ended malaria as far as the urban districts of Hongkong are concerned, and it persists only in certain parts of the New Territories and in some of the outer suburbs.

The ever-decreasing number of cases each year reflects the excellent work that has been done by the Medical and Sanitary Departments in Hongkong to eradicate malaria.

In the early days malaria was the chief cause of sickness and death in Victoria and, in 1844, coincident with the breaking of the soil for the formation of Queen's Road, which was then the chief arterial road of the city, it became such a scourge that there were serious thoughts of abandoning the entire island.

The graveyard at Stanley, where the first settlement was made, is an indication of the terrible toll taken by malaria last century. Nearly all of the inmates of this cemetery died from malaria.

Available statistics show that—as recently as 1910, the number of

of the sea took him to the engine-rooms of several West River ships. He retired in 1934.

IN JAPANESE NAVY

A half-century at sea in the Far East has included service with both the Chinese and Japanese navies, and today Mr. Edwards' most vivid impressions of the changes that have taken place during his life-time has been the decline of the Chinese navy, the unprecedented rise of the modern Japanese fleet.

"I have watched the Chinese Navy, as fine a fleet as you could wish for when Admiral McClure was its chief, decline to nothing, and the Japanese Navy, which consisted of a few small vessels when I served in it, rise from nothing to a world power," he told me.

Incidentally, Admiral McClure was at one time a "skipper" in the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company's fleet. He succeeded in command of the Chinese monitor, old-time Hongkong resident, Admiral "Chinese" Lang, whose son, Lt. Cdr. Lang, only recently retired from this Colony. The decadence of the Chinese fleet is the saddest sight of Admiral Lang's retirement.

HELPED FOUND K.C.C.

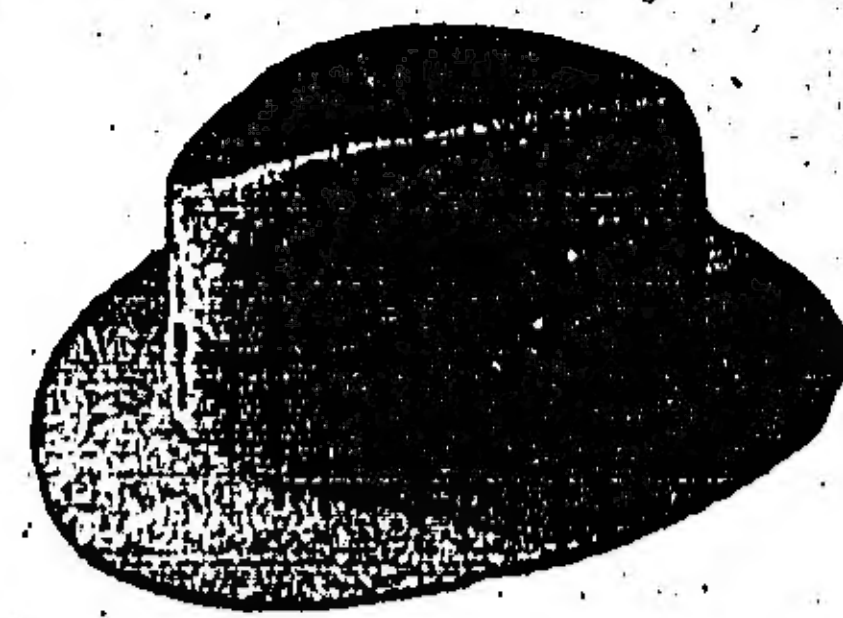

It is interesting to note that Mr. Edwards was, with Dr. Swann, Capt. T. W. Selby and Mr. J. P. Robinson, one of the original founders of the Kowloon Cricket Club, which started in 1902 with a "few second hand bats borrowed from the island club." He was also one of the founders of the Kowloon Junior Golf Club.

The Far Eastern history of Mr. Edwards' family actually dates back to the end of the Fifties, when his father went to Shanghai from India. His mother arrived in 1865, the trip from London to Shanghai occupying six months!

Mr. Edwards, who was also born in Shanghai, is the eldest daughter of the late Alfred Silverthorne, who spent many years in the Far East. Mrs. Edwards, like her husband, has spent all but two years in Shanghai and Hongkong.

An only daughter is the wife of Mr. Claude Glover, well known in Hongkong as the skip of the Shanghai Interport Bowls Team which has taken Interport honours to the north-east city on three occasions.

Mr. Edwards, on retirement, this month, will join his daughter and son-in-law in Shanghai, and will reside in the northern city for some years before going home.

"No Interport" Verdict By Shanghai Is Big Disappointment

CATHOLIC UNION CLUB FINDS BILLIARDS RELIC

DISAPPOINTING, indeed is the news published exclusively elsewhere in this paper to-day, that Shanghai cannot send a tennis Interport team here this year. The reason is inability of players to get time off from their duties. It is an old trouble, experienced just as much by Hongkong as Shanghai. For two years (1933 and 1934) Hongkong endeavoured to send a team up north for a return match which the Colony owed Shanghai, but always were the authorities thwarted by this one big obstacle. Finally last year a big effort was made, and although neither of the Rumjahn cousins could make the trip, we did get a team of five to visit Shanghai. Clanking back on the history of the same thing happening between 1923 and 1928. For four years there was no competition, due almost entirely to the fact that both sides found it impossible to get together sufficiently representative players to make the trip either way. When the contests were resumed in 1928, it was again left to Hongkong to play the role of guests, although actually Shanghai should have been the visitors. It is doubly unfortunate that there will be no Interport this year because with the possible visit of Vines and Tilden and the certain appearance here of Perry, a real revival of tennis enthusiasm in Hongkong was hoped for. On the other hand it may be that with the Association relieved of its responsibilities concerning Interport arrangements, greater attention can be paid to the suggested visit of the American professional players. No further news is to hand about this except that Raoul Carnavaro, the ex-Shanghai Interporter, now professional coach, is in direct communication with Tilden and Vines with a view to staging them in Shanghai, and that the Philippines L.T.A., has asked permission from the International Lawn Tennis Federation to arrange exhibitions for the professionals if and when they reach Manila. Which at least shows that the whole of the Orient is keenly interested in the Tilden-Vines Far East tour.

League Tennis Ending

OUR league tennis season is pursuing a somewhat tortured path to its conclusion. Yesterday Kowloon Cricket Club completed its "A" Division programme and there now only remains about four outstanding games in this division. Of these the most important is between C.R.C. (1), the likely champions, and Recreio, who at present stand second, having suffered one defeat in six matches. The match, not yet fixed up as it is a re-arranged fixture, will not only end the Recreio's programme, but will either make C.R.C. champions again or will make necessary a replay for the title. Chinese Recreation Club will be on their own courts and the odds are greatly in their favour. Should they beat Recreio either 2-0, or 3-1, it will mean that K.C.C. earn runners-up position on sets average. If Recreio can take two or more sets in this match, they will finish runners-up. It speaks well for the general levelling up of play in the "A" Division that this year three teams will probably finish on level pegging for second place.

HOME FOOTBALL

SUNDERLAND HIT THE GROUND AT DERBY CRUSHING 3-NIL DEFEAT MOTHERWELL DEFEATED ON THEIR OWN GROUND

London, Sept. 9. Sunderland, the league champions, suffered a shocking setback to-day when they visited Derby County and were beaten by three clear goals.

Arsenal once again indicated their lack of scoring powers by being held to a 1-1 draw with Brentford at Highbury while Manchester City pleased their supporters by defeating Huddersfield.

There were two big surprises in the Scottish League. Motherwell, playing before their own supporters, lost by three goals to one to Hearts, while Rangers, visiting Third Lanark, could only share the points in a goalless draw.

The complete results as cabled by Reuter follow.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS (No. 2)

R.A.M.C. OUTLOOK BRIGHT

AND NEW PLAYERS

The Royal Army Medical Corps third division football team faces an especially bright outlook.

During last season they were unfortunate in losing seven players at the same time and it was not until the latter part of the season that the team got together again.

This year they start off with practically new personnel as that which carried the club to fourth position in 1935-36. On top of this some half-dozen excellent newcomers have been signed-on.

Cpl. Howells (left back), Pte. Youd (inside left), Sgt. Caselli (centre-half), Pte. Wright (goal-keeper), Pte. Westwood (right back), Pte. Hughes (left half), Pte. Flint (inside right) and Pte. Stanton (outside left) are among last season's players who have been retained, while the new talent includes Cpl. Harrison (right half), Pte. Hood (right back), Pte. Garlin (outside right), Cpl. Jones (inside right) and Pte. Allen (goal-keeper).

Cpl. G. Howells is acting as both secretary and captain of the team, while a selection committee has been elected comprising S/Sgt. J. Dunford, Pte. J. Walker and Pte. C. Youd. The R.A.M.C. will participate in the third division, and there is every reason for them to expect to better last season's record. They must, in fact, be regarded as potential champions.

LEAGUE TENNIS

K.C.C. WIN LAST GAME MAY FINISH AS RUNNERS-UP

Kowloon Cricket Club brought their "A" Division league tennis programme to a finish yesterday when they won handsomely against Indian Recreation Club on the Cox's Road courts. The home team dropped two sets to a weakened I.R.C. team.

As a result three teams are likely to finish on level pegging for the runners-up position. K.C.C. have lost two games, so have the I.R.C., while they will be joined by Club de Recreio with a similar record if Recreio lost to C.R.C. (1) in their concluding match. K.C.C. appear to have the best chance of finishing second on sets average.

Bertie Guest made a welcome and successful return to league tennis yesterday, partnering Clark to win three sets. The Fincher brothers played well within their limits to win all three sets. Indians locked the services of H. D. Rumjahn, who is suffering from boils, and S. A. Ismail, who was not available. The effect was noticeable, although Hooten and A. H. Madai gave a good account of themselves, while Minu and Razack, after winning their first set, carried Guest and Clark to twelve games and the Fincher brothers to ten. The concluding sets were played in almost darkness, the light falling very quickly.

Details of the match and the revised league table follow.

E. C. and F. Fincher (K.C.C.) beat A. R. Minu and I. M. A. Razack 7-5; beat S. A. Rumjahn and S. A. R. Bux 6-3; beat A. H. Madai and M. O. Hooten 6-3.

A. E. P. Guest and G. Clarke (K.C.C.) beat Minu and Razack 6-4; beat Rumjahn and Bux 6-3; beat Madai and Hooten 6-2.

F. Grose and S. A. Gray (K.C.C.) lost to Minu and Razack 4-6; beat Rumjahn and Bux 6-0; lost to Madai and Hooten 6-2.

THREE STRAIGHT SETS

MISS STAMMERS VICTORIOUS

Forest Hills, Sept. 9.

Fred Perry, the only foreign competitor left in the United States men's national singles championship, continued to sweep all before him to-day when he met H. M. Culley in the quarter-finals and won convincingly in straight sets.

Another great English success was scored by Miss Kay Stammers, Britain's only representative left in the women's singles championship. She reached the semi-finals by beating Miss Caroline Babcock after a thrilling three set match.

Bryan ("Bitty") Grant joined Perry in the semi-finals when he beat John Van Ryn in a four-setter, while Miss Alice Marble accompanied Miss Stammers into the last four by eliminating Miss Gracey Wheeler. Perry treated Culley as though he were having a practice knock-out. He took the first set at 6-3, and continuing his devastating driving, won the second set at 6-2, and the third at 6-1.

Grant lost the first set of nine games against Van Ryn, but thereafter was always the master. Van Ryn played hard to get a two-set lead, but failed after 14 games had been played. He offered very little resistance in the third and fourth sets which Grant won with the total loss of three games.

Miss Stammers' victory over Miss Babcock was gained only after one of the best matches in the championship to date. The English girl went out to her points in the first set after twelve games had been contested, but was sharply pulled back in the second set which she lost to three. The final stanza went to ten games before Miss Stammers clinched the issue.

Reuter sent the following details:

WOMEN'S SINGLES

Quarter-Finals

F. J. Perry (Britain) beat H. M. Culley (U.S.) 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

Bryan Grant (U.S.) beat J. Van Ryn (U.S.) 3-6, 8-6, 6-0, 6-3.

WOMEN'S SINGLES

Miss K. Stammers (Britain) beat Miss C. Babcock (U.S.) 7-5, 3-6, 6-4.

Miss A. Marble (U.S.) beat Miss G. Wheeler (U.S.) 6-2, 11-9.

GROWDER AGAIN IN LIMELIGHT

Alec Growder, former Hongkong Cricket Club player is again in the limelight.

Playing recently for the Singapore Cricket Club against the Non-descripts, he captured 7 wickets for 15 runs and then went in to score a quick 30.

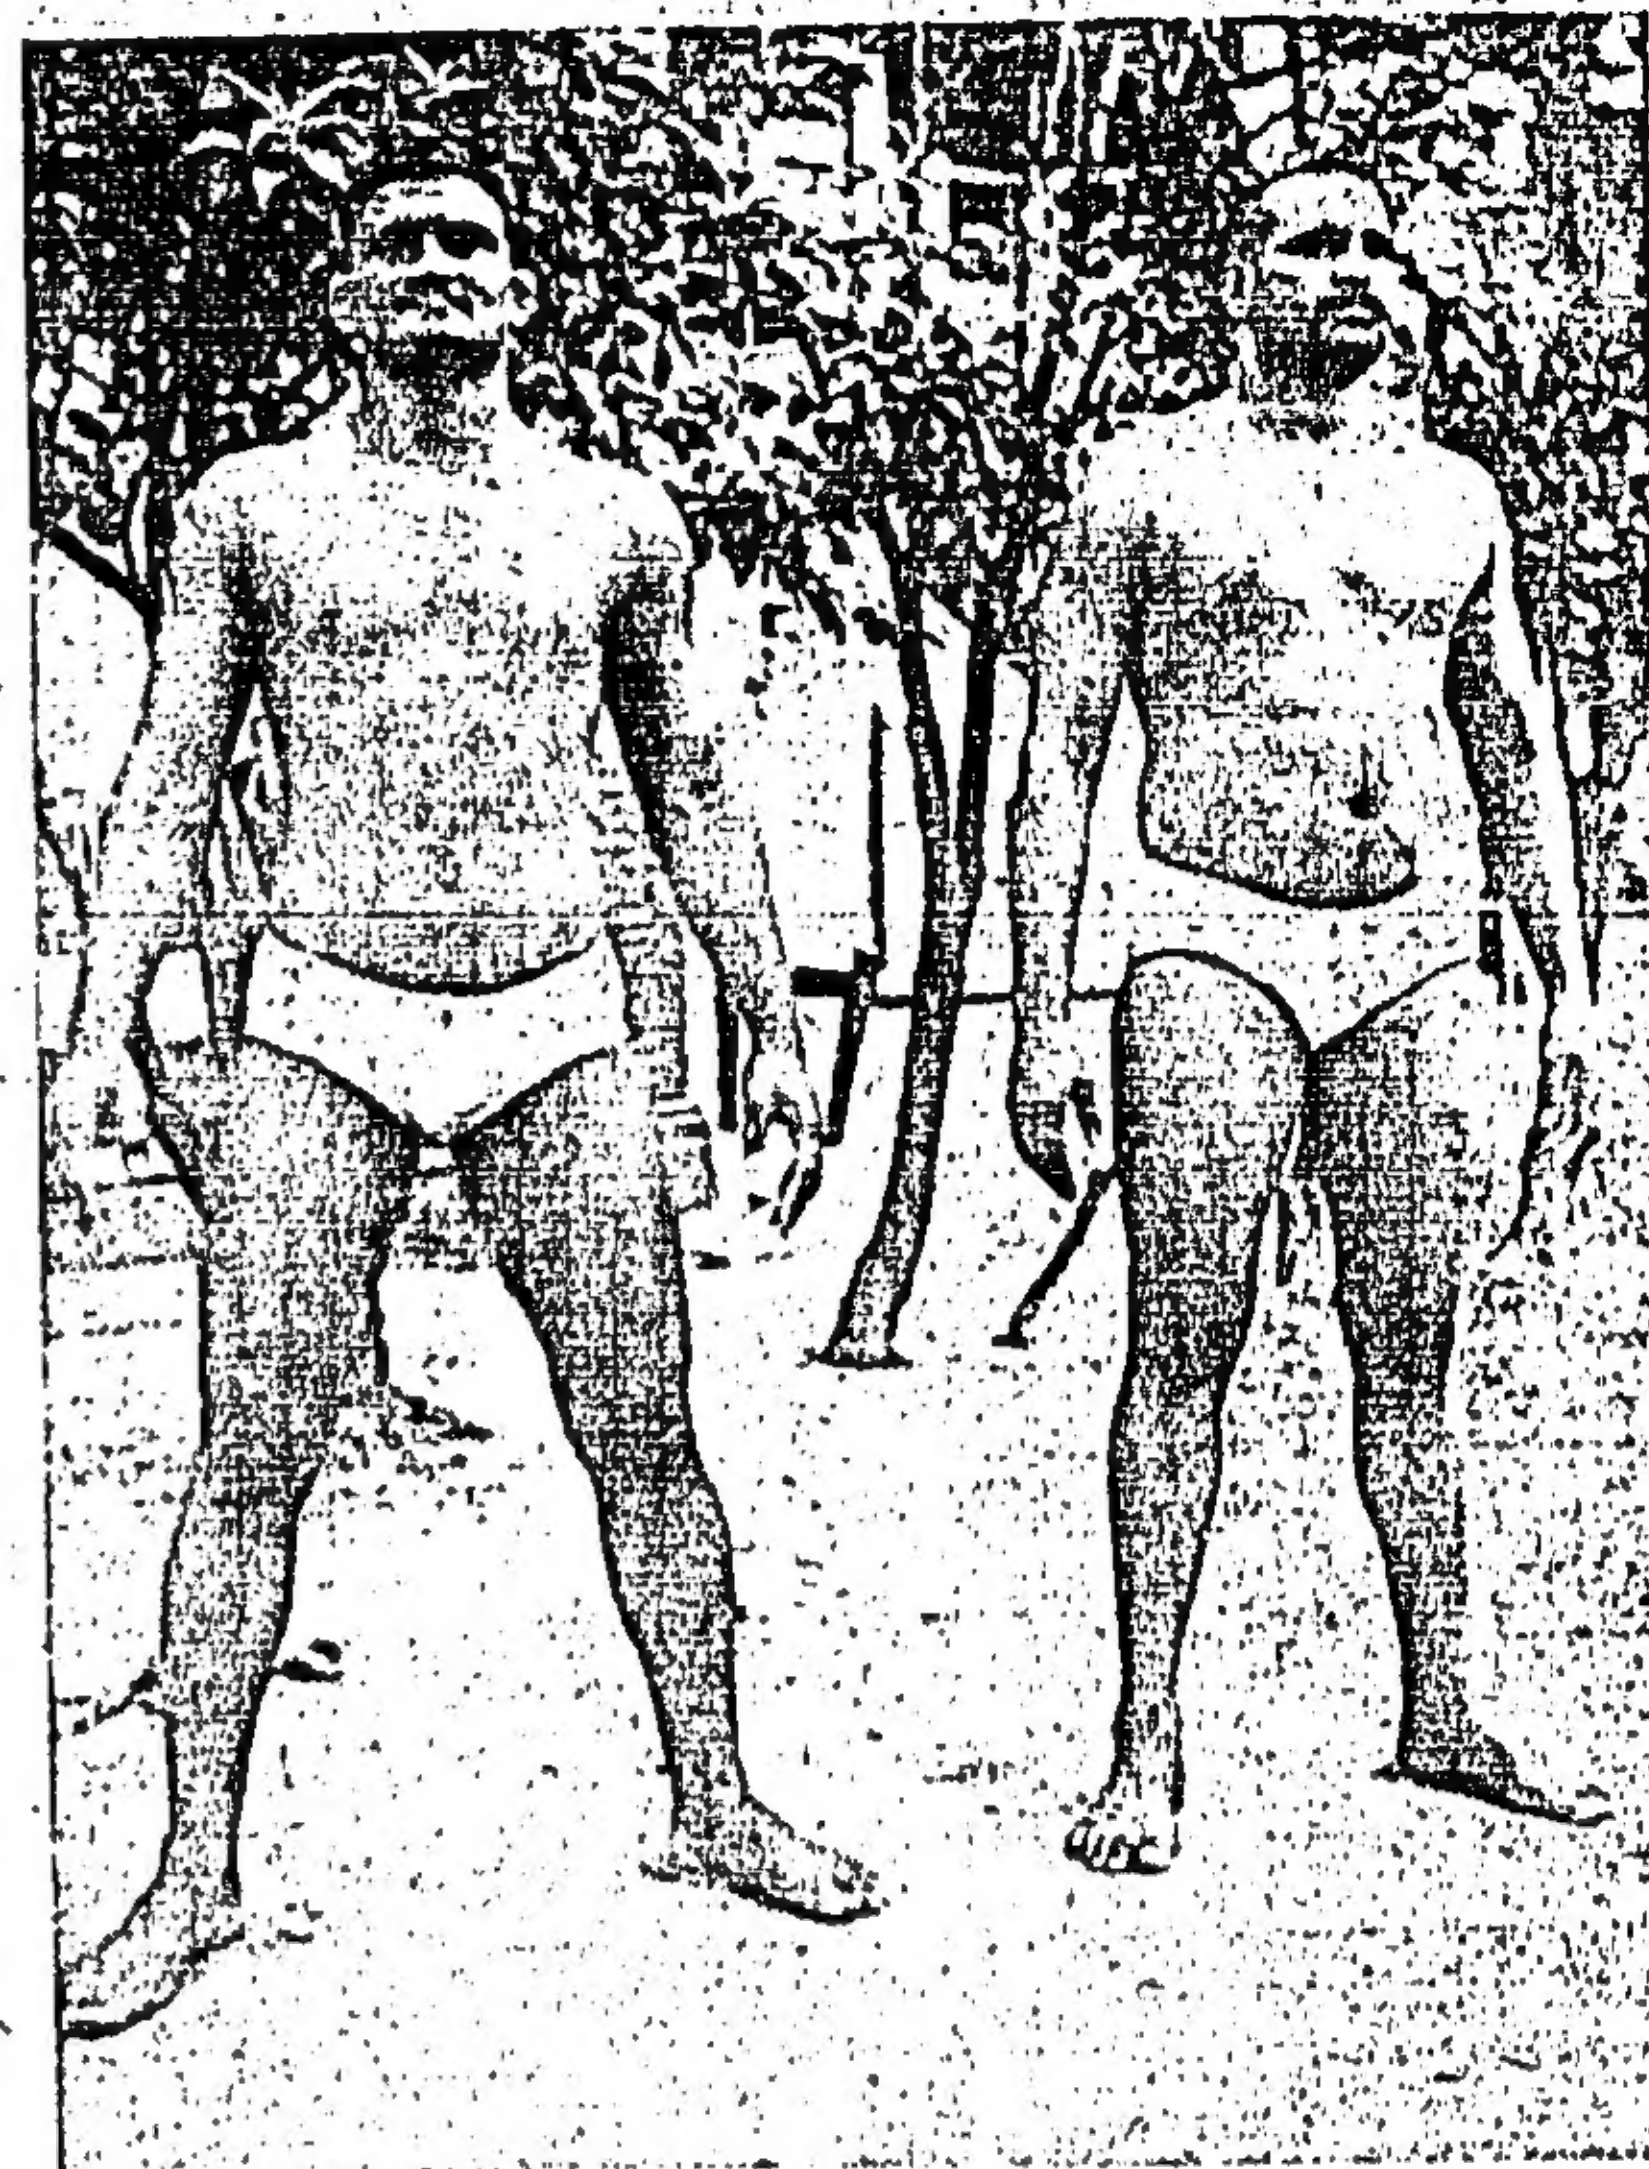

The Cricket Club won easily, the Non-descripts being sent back for 93, which total the Club passed with five wickets in hand. Finally the winners hit-up 163 for 5.

Growder's consistent fine form with the ball of recent weeks makes one regret that he is no longer in Hongkong and available for the Interport team.

Wooderson To Have Operation

An X-ray examination at the Orthopaedic Hospital has disclosed that S. C. Wooderson, the British mile champion, has splintered a bone in his foot and a muscle is slightly out of place. An operation is necessary, and the surgeon says he will be fit again at the end of the year.

Torrential rain ruined the track at Hampden Park, Glasgow, last month when America, South Africa, Canada, Australia and Scotland took part in a contest of nine events. The outstanding performance was a new British record of 224 ft. 8 in. by A. Terry (U.S.A.) at throwing the javelin, which beat the previous best by 1 ft. 11 in.

Recreio Sports Teams To Visit Macao

(Our Own Correspondent)

Macao, Sept. 9. Despite the warm weather, tennis and badminton have been actively pursued by many local enthusiasts in the various clubs in Macao, and the pick of the players will entertain teams from the Club de Recreio on Oct. 10 and 11.

Matches will be played on the League principle and besides singles and men's doubles, tennis matches will include mixed doubles games, while badminton will be confined to men's doubles matches.

A selection committee presided over by Dr. J. Villa Franca has no small task before it in the choice of players in the "A" and "B" tennis tournaments. So far, A and J. Boyol, C. and A. da Silva, A. de Mello and J. M. de Sena Fernandes are mentioned as probabilities.

Keen interest is invested in the forthcoming occasion for which strenuous endeavour has been given since the representative visit to Hongkong at the end of last May and it is hoped that Macao will give a better account of itself than it did at the Hongkong meeting.

Following the attractive programme of tennis and badminton fixtures, the Recreio players will be the guests of the Macao clubs at dinners and a dance.

WANTED! WRESTLING OPPONENT BY SEPT. 16

For the third time within a fortnight, Arjan Singh and Fatch Singh, two Indian wrestlers, recent arrivals from Shanghai, are issuing challenges to Hongkong mat artists.

They are tired, they say, of the way in which Colony wrestlers have evaded these challenges, and they want to have a go at our "Big Shots" sometime between now and September 16.

These are their latest terms:

They will wrestle against an Indian in Indian wrestling style. They will also contest any European wrestling according to any accepted style and code.

As for Sinks they are prepared to back themselves against any stated amount.

All they want is a chance to get their hands on somebody before September 16.

Incidentally anybody who is interested can fix up things through Makham Singh, c/o Ahmed Din and Co., D'Agular Street.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 9.

InterPORT BOWLS
First Match Postponed On Account Of Rain

Shanghai, Sept. 9. The first Interport Bowls match between Shanghai and Hongkong in the present series, scheduled to be played on the Police green at Hong-kew Park to-day, was postponed owing to rain.—Reuter.

LOCAL LEAGUE FIXTURE
On account of their annual swimming sports, the Police R.C. will not play their matches in the Hongkong Lawn Bowls League on Saturday.

The Civil Service C.C. will now meet the Crutchever C.C. "B" in the First Division on Saturday on the former's green, while the Civil Service C.C. will play the Police R.C. in the Second Division on Sunday.

Draw With East Lancshires

An excellent game of hockey between the Royal Welch Fusiliers and the East Lancshires Regiment at Shumshupo yesterday evening resulted in a draw, each side scoring twice.

East Lancshires opened their account after the first quarter of an hour, but the Fusiliers equalled immediately afterwards.

Play was then even up to the interval.

In the second half there was a ding-dong struggle with both sides putting in some very good hockey. The Lancshires again took the lead from a corner hit, but the Fusiliers drew level after a few minutes.

Both forward lines tried hard for the winning goal, but the defences were on top right up to the final whistle.

WORLD'S HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP

IN LONDON DURING CORONATION WEEK

(By Connery Chappell)

Negotiations are proceeding for the world's heavy-weight championship to be fought in London during Coronation Week.

Mr. Clifford Whitley, theatrical and cabaret impresario, told me that, after talking twice to New York on the phone, his plans were nearing completion.

Associated with him is Mr. Bob Ritchie, the American film and theatre man responsible for a number of big Hollywood deals.

"We are getting options on both Schmeling and Braddock to fight," Mr. Whitley said.

"The actual fighters will depend, of course, on the result of the meeting between Braddock and Schmeling in America this autumn."

"The American managers of both fighters are keen."

THE ST. LEGER

Won By Boswell At Twenty To One

MAHMOUD THIRD

London, Sept. 9.

The following was the result of the St. Leger:

Boswell (Jones), 20 to 1 1
Fearless Fox (E. Smith), 100 to 6 2
Mahmoud (Smirke), 5 to 1 3

Thirteen ran.

The race was won by three quarters of a length with three lengths between second and third.

Other starters were: Rhodes Scholar (Dick); Fox Field (Weston); Pizarro (Vergette); Magnet (Gordon Richards); Raeburn (Burns); Columelle (Sam Wragg); His Grace (Harry Wragg); Haulfryn (Lane); Esquemeling (Bezzant); Thunkerton (Henry).

The scratching of Pizarro Cast was announced yesterday.

COURSE OF THE ACE
London, Sept. 9.

Boswell jumped off in front of Mahmoud, Haulfryn, Esquemeling, Fearless Fox, and His Grace followed, with Rhodes Scholar last.

At the half-mile Esquemeling led from the front of the field, Pizarro, Boswell, and Fearless Fox.

Half-way the leaders were Pizarro, Foxfield, Fearless Fox and Esquemeling, Boswell, Raeburn, with His Grace last.

Entering the straight, Pizarro was still leading from Fearless Fox, Boswell and Mahmoud.

Below the distance, Boswell was slightly in front, with Fearless Fox, Mahmoud, Thunkerton and Magnet close behind. When near home, Boswell drew out and holding off Fearless Fox went on to win cleverly.

The order of finishing was, after the first three, Magnet, Thunkerton, Esquemeling, Columelle, Pizarro, His Grace, Rhodes Scholar, Foxfield, Haulfryn and Raeburn.

Time: 3 min. 8 3/4 secs.—Reuter.

CRICKET PRACTICE

Interport Nets Opened At Club Yesterday

Interport cricket practice nets were opened at the Hongkong Cricket Club yesterday afternoon, when several players availed themselves of the opportunity.

Among them were T. A. Pearce, A. W. Hayward, L. C. C. Garraway, E. L. Gosano, L. J. P. Williams, R. Lee, E. Zimmerman and Telegraphist Tunell (Royal Navy).

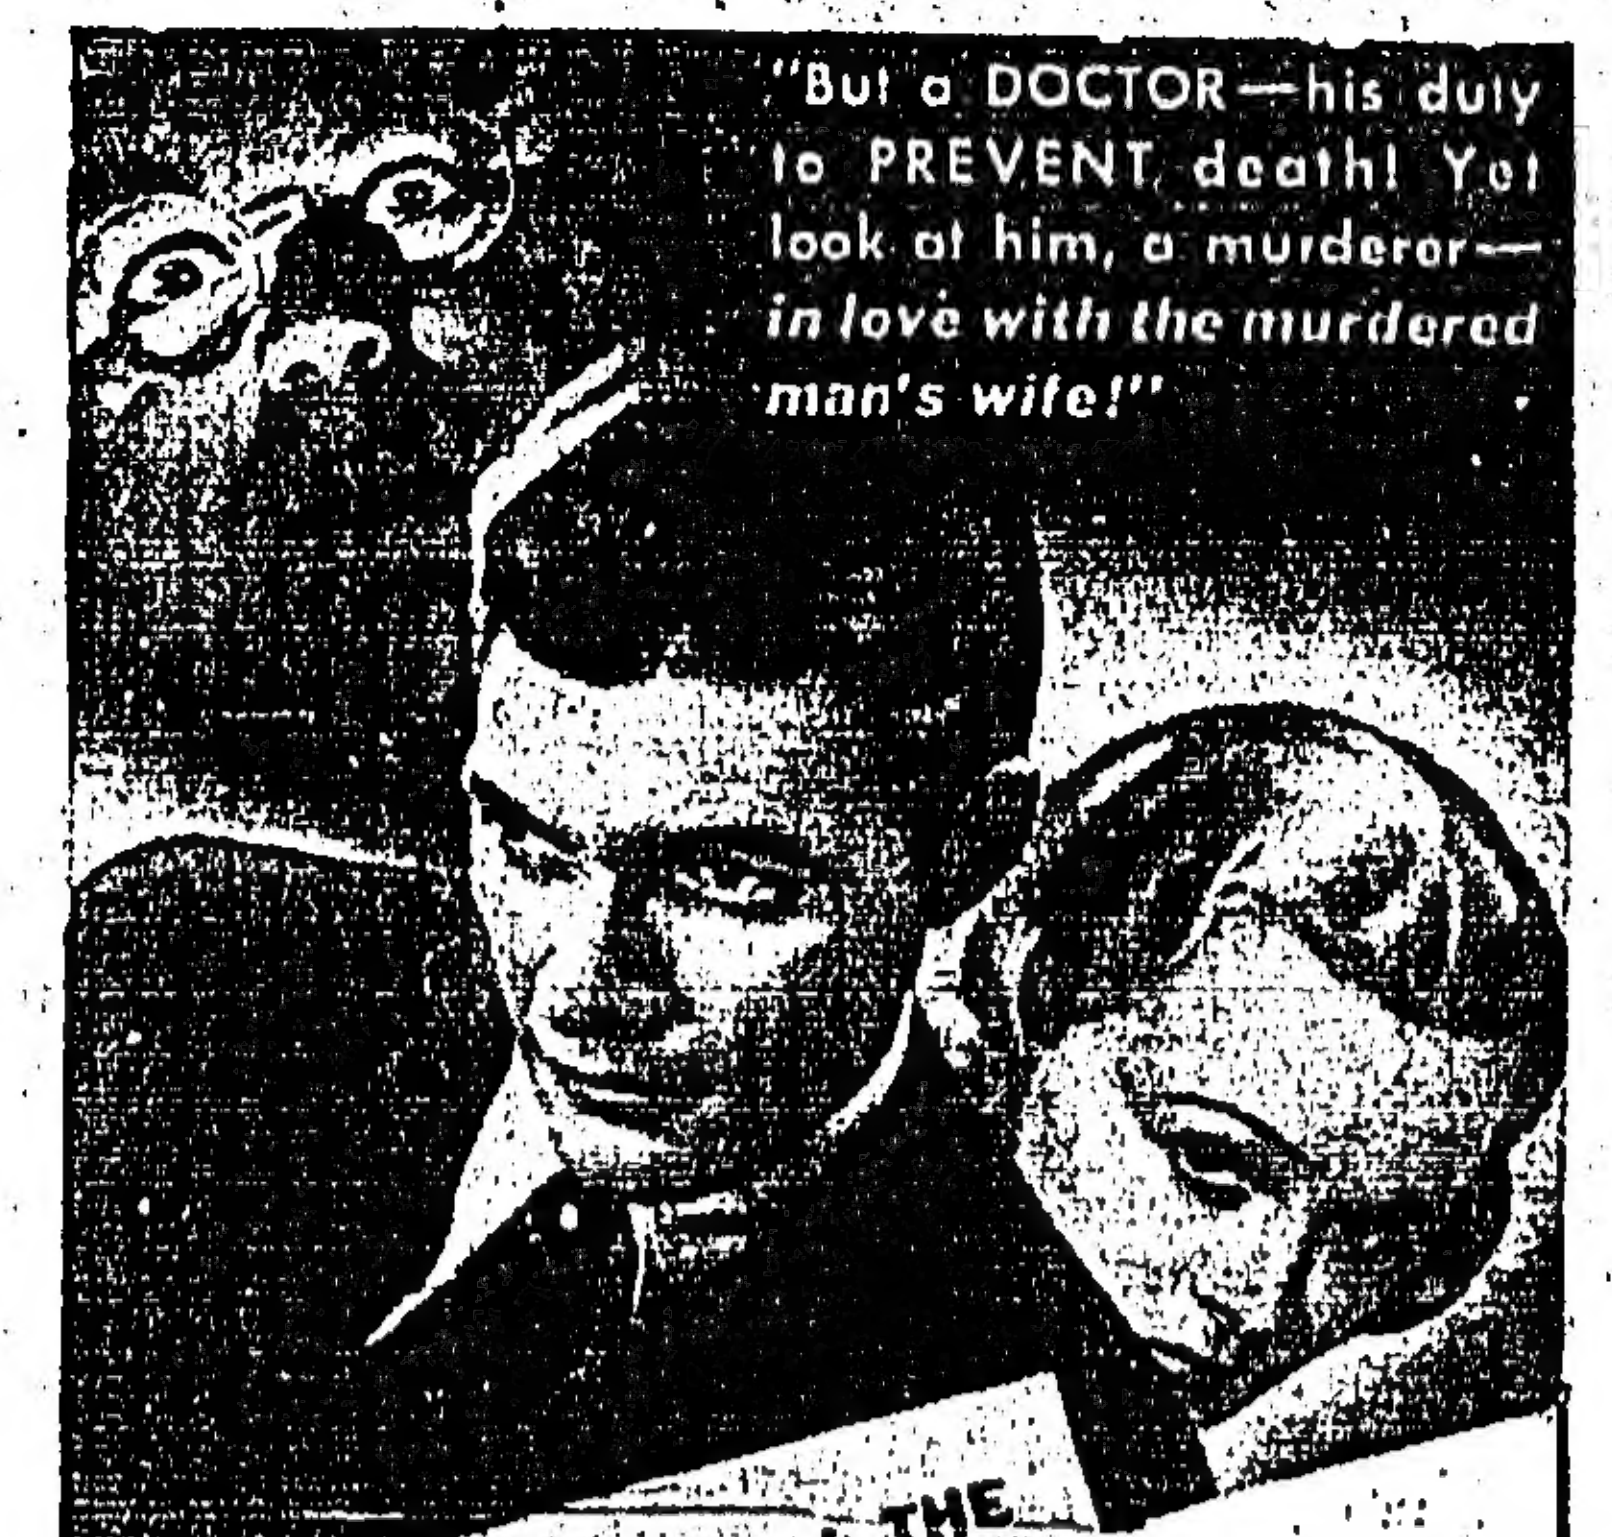

The wicket, after the recent rains, took a great deal of spin, and the bowlers needed watching. T. A. Pearce seemed to get his eye in immediately he went out to bat, executing some beautiful strokes.

L. Williams, however, was not sighting the ball at all well, and L. Garraway and A. W. Hayward also did not appear too comfortable after the long rest from the game.

The bowling was of a somewhat indifferent nature, but practice will soon put the players into better shape.

It is probable that a trial match will be held this Saturday.

What SPAIN'S WAR means to BRITAIN

by LORD STRABOLGI

EVERY decent man in this country must wish not only that the legally constituted Government in Spain will triumph, but that the rebellion and its aftermath will not lead to international complications and the breaking of the peace elsewhere.

A section of those who normally support Toryism in this country is showing open sympathy for the rebel Generals and their dupes.

Do our self-styled patriots understand what they are risking by their moral support of the Spanish rebels?

If their hopes are fulfilled, and a Fascist Government wins control in Spain, the strategic position of the British Empire will be weakened to an almost incalculable extent.

The British Empire contains most of the desirable territories in the world suitable for capitalist exploitation, and Fascism will desire to devour these rich prizes.

There are clear tendencies visible of the Fascist States coming together. The open Italian support of the Spanish rebels, and the veiled German support are evidence.

Our Tory pro-Fascists should read a lesson in the virtual recognition of the Spanish rebel

A MAN may build himself a throne of bayonets but he cannot sit on it.
—DEAN INGE.

This map will help the reader to understand the position in the Mediterranean. With a hostile Spain, the Union Jack could no longer dominate Gibraltar.

leader by Nazi Germany. The commander of the most powerful unit in the rapidly expanding German fleet actually called on General Franco at Ceuta.

These are days of Power Politics, whether we like it or not.

Let us consider the power that would lie behind the next German demand for satisfaction, either at our expense or at the expense of the League and the Peace of Europe, with Spain practically an Italo-German Protectorate.

With a hostile Spain, Gibraltar is untenable as a naval base. With the increase in the range of modern artillery, the harbour in Gibraltar Bay, on the west side of the Rock, can be dominated by cannon mounted on the ring of hills in the Spanish hinterland.

This danger was recognised some years ago. There was a proposal to make an additional harbour on the east side of the Rock. It was not proceeded with for a number of reasons, one of these being the realisation that, with the ever-increasing range of modern guns, such a harbour, in its turn, could be dominated by guns mounted on the Spanish coast to the north and north-east of Gibraltar. The fortress itself could stand a siege; but its harbour would be useless for refuelling or repairing our warships.

The Fascist Confederation would control the fortress and harbour of Ceuta, on the south side of the Straits of Gibraltar and its hinterland. Ceuta is a natural fortress second only to "the Rock." We could not make an attack on Ceuta without organising a great expedition. The Fascists would, in effect, control both sides of the Straits of Gibraltar, the western exit of the Mediterranean.

We already know that Malta is vulnerable to air attack because of its situation at short flying distance from the Italian aerodromes. The British Fleet, therefore, in time of war, would be without a foothold in the Western Mediterranean except by the good grace of France.

Furthermore, if, as has been

freely reported, the Italians have been promised the use of the Balearic Islands by the Spanish rebels, they would have, as an additional base, the Island of Minorca, including the first-class natural harbour of Port Mahon.

This was once a British base in the Mediterranean. Admiral Byng was shot on his own quarter-deck by order of a court-martial for failure to relieve it when it was besieged by the French.

Although we could, by arrangement with France, use Bizerta or other harbours on the French North African coast and Toulon in the South of France, the communications would be difficult.

Furthermore, the magnificent Spanish harbours of Vigo and Villa Garcia in the North of Spain and Cadiz in the south, both on the Atlantic seaboard, would be available as bases for German or Italian cruisers and submarines in case of war.

The British Channel Fleet frequently used Vigo and Villa Garcia for the purpose of exercises and manoeuvres by friendly arrangement with Spain, in pre-war days.

During part of the Great War I was on the Staff at Gibraltar and had knowledge of what was going on in Spain.

Most of the aristocracy and the Army officers were pro-German. The thought of Spain coming in against us at one critical stage of the war was a real nightmare.

Our only sure friends in Spain at that time were the Republicans and Socialists—the so-called "Reds" of to-day.

Portugal might be forced into the threatened Fascist combination, and there would be then additional landing harbours at the disposal of this anti-British and anti-French Confederacy.

Our nearest Atlantic bases, supposing France was on our side, would be Bordeaux, deep in the Bay of Biscay, Brest and Plymouth. For operations on the Atlantic trade routes, especially on the very important sea communications with South Africa and South America, our opponents would be on interior lines.

Such convoys as we brought from the Cape or managed to escort westwards through the Mediterranean would have to run the gauntlet of attack from these Spanish and Portuguese harbours.

As if this were not enough, a Spanish alliance might give the Fascist Confederacy a cruiser base in the Canary Islands and at Rio de Oro, in Spanish territory, on the north-west shoulder of Africa.

Our difficulties of trade protection at sea in the last war were child's play compared to the problems set by such circumstances. Again, it must be remembered that Italy has established an "Empire" in North-East Africa, with a potential threat to our Red Sea trade route to India. We can assume with certainty that in the event of such a war, we could not dispatch a large fleet to the Pacific in case of need. And who would guarantee that Japan would not join such a Confederacy?

Now as to France. French national defence is directed towards safeguarding her north-eastern frontiers against a possible German threat. A Fascist Spain would cause France to detach an army to guard the Pyrenees and to erect fortifications on the Franco-Spanish frontier. With an enemy based on the Balearic Islands and the Spanish Mediterranean ports, the passage of troops from Algeria to the South of France to reinforce the Metropolitan armies would be difficult.

To sum up: if the Fascists win in Spain, with German and Italian help, the balance may be tipped against the anti-Fascist nations. Neither the policy of "splendid isolation" nor hundred per cent. non-resistance will avail us in Britain if we abandon our friends on the Continent of Europe.

And yet Tories blindly cheer the reports of rebel victories and our attitude of malevolent neutrality towards the constitutionally elected Government of Spain.

"Those whom the gods wish to destroy, they first make mad."

B. M. A. PLEA FOR NATIONAL WAR ON DISEASE

"Doctors Too Busy For Proper Work"

THE marshalling of medical services all over Britain for a nation-wide attack on disease was foreshadowed by Sir E. Farquhar Buzzard in his presidential address to the British Medical Association at Oxford.

Declaring that the war on disease had up to now been conducted on a wasteful and ill-organised system, Sir Farquhar envisaged the creation of "health centres" in each district from which would be controlled all the medical services in that area.

He also suggested the provision of a central training school for men and women anxious to devote their lives to medical research.

The association decided that the suggestions in Sir Farquhar's speech should be considered by its council.

Sir Henry Brackenbury said that the sum required was not so enormous, and the financial state of the nation was improving.

Later he remarked: "I submit that the nation owes us more than it has ever paid us."

Commenting on the presidential address, a Ministry of Health spokesman said to a Daily Mail reporter:
"This department will naturally consider carefully and sympathetically any suggestions made by Sir Far-quhar Buzzard or the British Medical Association as a whole."

DOCTORS OVERWORKED

In his speech Sir Farquhar said:
"The chief flaw in the medical service which has evolved in this country during the last century is lack of time.
Both general practitioner and consultant, to earn a living wage, are obliged to undertake far more work than they can deal with efficiently."

"The day has passed when any doctor can legitimately pretend to carry on as an isolated unit ready to meet all the requirements of his patients."

"I envisage a central board in each district, based on the chief hospital, with representatives of all interests and institutions concerned with the health of that district."

"Its chief duty would be to coordinate all the preservative, preventive, and curative services in the district, to avoid overlap and wastage, and to secure the public that its financial contributions to the common cause of health, both voluntary and levied, are used to the best advantage."

Plotting A Revolution WORLD CRUSADE BY OXFORD GROUP

By GARTH LEAN DRAWN from all over the world men and women were in Oxford last month plotting world revolution.

They are the happiest revolutionaries I have seen. You can pick these Oxford Group people out of any crowd.

I found Dr. Frank Buchman, leader and founder of the Group, at a "Council of War."

He has dared to demand revolution in 50 countries simultaneously—a revolution by consent, which shall put God in control of policy at home and abroad.

"Each nation must produce its own leaders," he said to me, "and I am here to stimulate others to take that lead."

"Everybody," he added, "wants to see the other fellow changed and every nation wants to see the other nation changed. That's the trouble with the world to-day."

"The Oxford Group is convinced that if you want to change the world
you have to start with yourself."

"That is what we are doing in Oxford this week-end."

"If one individual is changed a million, a whole nation. We are seeing this change in many countries to-day."

A NEW HONESTY
"In this way the man in the street can become the man of the hour."

"We have been hearing amazing stories from all over the world of how changed individuals have brought about new and better relations between employer and worker and new honesty and understanding between competing interests."

Dr. Buchman showed me telegrams from all over the world demanding visits from teams of the Oxford Group.

One cable transmitted a message from the Prime Minister of New Zealand and another from the Finance Minister of China.

"This coming week great house parties are to be held at Harrogate, Birmingham, Exeter, Oxford, and Cambridge," Dr. Buchman told me.

During a parade in Hyde Park, London, one of the Guardsmen fainted owing to the intense heat. Two policemen carried him away.

1,621,000 Words Were Spoken at Inquiry

Gresford Colliery disaster inquiry, the longest Mines Ministry inquiry on record, which concluded last month, lasted 38 days.

Verbatim official report comprises 38 volumes, running into 3,070 pages of close typescript.

Aggregate of 1,621,000 words was spoken.

Questions addressed to witnesses numbered 42,364.

Concluding speeches of Sir Stafford Cripps (for the miners) and of Mr. Hartley Shawcross (for the owners) each exceeded 150,000 words.

Disaster occurred in September, 1934, cost 265 lives.

Bodies of all except 12 remain entombed in the pit.

BARE LEGS 'OUT': STOCKING SALES JUMP

STOCKING sales in the West End of London have increased by just 25 per cent. this summer.

Two years ago talk of "tanned, golden-brown legs" brought about the biggest slump in stockings since ankle-length evening dresses.

Now, finding that by August their legs are still winter-white, women are covering them in golden-brown silk. Not even the spartans can claim that legs mottled, mud-splashed, and bristling with goose-flesh have charm.

Fashion, too, is beginning to realise that the athletic strain which brought women in shirts, shorts, and down-covered legs to the sea fronts lacks the attraction of feminine modesty.

FINE BUT HARDY

Manufacturers have risen to the occasion. In colour, range, and style, stockings show a new variety, greater imagination.

A new British weaving process now produces hard-wearing stockings of gossamer fineness. As tough as their cotton ancestors, these stockings produce an attractive bare-leg effect
while covering a multitude of skins—and sins.

For dieters there is the slimming stocking, shaded at the ankle and calf, designed to give line
to a hockey leg without the agony of starvation, or the ungainliness of fat, flabby bare legs.

Seamless stockings in natural browns are also selling like hot cakes.

For the most part, women are prepared to acknowledge that a tailored stocking, with a high clock and neat square heel, is a greater attraction than a rain-splashed leg.

Alleged Impersonation In Court 20 Years Ago

APPLICATION for the reopening of proceedings which were disposed of 20 years ago was made at Brighton County Court recently by a woman who alleged that she had been impersonated during the original proceedings.

Miss Estelle Katherine Croft, of Bromley-avenue, Sutton, formerly living at Hove, applied for a new trial of foreclosure proceedings, the suggestion being that she did not sign a mortgage and that she was not aware of the foreclosure proceedings.

The solicitor concerned in the original proceedings was the late Mr. John Charles Buckwell, a former mayor of Brighton.

Appearing for Mr. Buckwell's executors, Mr. Kenneth Thomas applied for an adjournment on the ground that Mr. Webb, a material witness, was on holiday in Germany.

Mr. F. H. Lawton, for Miss Croft, said that there was no imputation against the professional conduct of any parties concerned, but what was urged was that his client was impersonated by someone else. She had had a nervous breakdown, and was an inmate of a hospital at Lambeth at the time.

Miss Croft told Judge Austin Jones
that she had never been in a solicitor's office, and she complied with trial.

20 CLAIMANTS FOR HAUPTMANN REWARD

Trenton, N.J., Sept. 3.
Claims for the $25,000 reward offered by the state in 1932 for apprehension of the kidnapper of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., cannot be paid, Attorney Gen. David T. Wilentz advised Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, because the money has never been appropriated. There are more than 20 claimants.

The judges' request to write her signature for comparison with that on a document in court.

Ordering an adjournment until October 15, Judge Jones intimated that his inclination at present was not to make an order for a new trial.

NAVAL RIVALRIES MAY CAUSE RACE

U.S. Threatens Reprisals Against Japan's Move

BRITISH DECISION CAUSES TREATIES TO TREMBLE

London, Sept. 9.

British and American naval experts and diplomats are conferring to determine the respective policies of their countries in view of Japan's decision to expand her submarine tonnage beyond the limits of the London Treaty.

The British Embassy in Washington last week handed the United States Government a copy of Japan's note to His Majesty's Government, informing Britain that London's proposal to retain over-age destroyer tonnage in service would cause Japan to increase her submarine strength by keeping over-age ships in commission. The British Ambassador asked for the American reaction.

The interchange was carried a step further on Monday, when Mr. Hershell Johnson, Secretary of the United States Embassy in London, discussed the situation with Mr. Adrian Holmes, British naval expert.

It is understood here that the United States adopted the attitude that Japan's proposals, if carried out, would be tantamount to invoking the "escalator clause" of the London Treaty and hence the United States was entitled to a similar move. This statement possibly signifies that the United States has decided to increase its submarine tonnage.—United Press.

U.S. Reactions

Washington, Sept. 9.

"If the Japanese have not agreed to fourteen inch guns by April 1, 1937, then the sky is the limit for armament of the two battleships to be laid down next year," declared Admiral William Standley, Acting Secretary for the Navy, when speaking at a press conference today.

Mr. Claude Swanson, Secretary for the Navy, attended the conference for the first time in many months. He has had a long illness. Mr. Swanson asserted that Japan's proposal to retain 15,000 tons of over-age submarines, in response to Great Britain's announced determination to retain some 40,000 tons of destroyer tonnage, would involve the violation of the London Treaty. The United States would "take no action," he went on, "until it was known definitely that Japan was going to keep these under-sea ships in commission."

Mr. Swanson opposed the formation of a European Squadron of the United States Navy because, he said, it might involve the United States in European political matters.—Reuter.

Twenty Inch Guns?

Washington, Sept. 9. Mr. Claude Swanson, Navy Department chief, announced today completion of the plans for two battleships which will probably carry guns of 16 inch calibre, or larger, unless the new London Treaty limitations are made effective, which depends on the actions of Britain and Japan.

Mr. Swanson mentioned 20 inch guns as feasible. But naval observers doubt if they would be so large. The Department only awaits President P. D. Roosevelt's signal to proceed to make a start on the laying of the keels of the two proposed big ships, Mr. Swanson said.

Pacific War Game

Mr. Swanson further announced that the 1937 naval manoeuvres would be held in the Hawaiian and North Pacific waters in May and June.

Although officials carefully avoided designating any area, it is learned the manoeuvres will probably take place in the locality covered in the 1935 war games and that the arms of the fleet will extend as far west as Wake Island.—United Press.

HOOPER CAN'T SAIL

San Francisco, Sept. 9. A further deadlock between the Seamen's Union and the Dollar Steamship Company has now delayed indefinitely the sailing of the liner, President Hoover, due to leave at midnight to-night with Far East mails.—United Press.

Paris, Sept. 8.

The French trade unions have decided to support M. Leon Blum's policy.

At the meeting of the General Labour Federation called to define the attitude of the workers to the Government's decision to place a ban on arms exports to Spain, it was decided the Federation would reaffirm its entire support of the Popular Front Government.

In a communique the Federation requested M. Blum to act promptly with a view to summoning the League of Nations Council, there to ask all Governments for strict observance of the Covenant.

The Federation also requested the Government to reconsider, in agreement with the British and other democratic Governments, the policy of neutrality. It was pointed out that the possibilities of achieving complete non-intervention had been compromised owing to the attitude of countries taking sides with factions opposed to the Popular Front Government in Spain, while the action taken by Portugal and Germany endangered the principle of neutrality itself.

The Federation appealed to the British trade unions to approach the

BRITISH SUPPORT

London, Sept. 9. At a joint meeting of the Labour Party and the General Council of the Trades Union Congress at Plymouth to-night, it was decided to adhere to the policy of non-intervention in Spain approved by His Majesty's Government.

It is learned in a reliable quarter, however, that in the recent fighting between the insurgent garrison at Majorca and the Catalan landing force, the rebels were assisted by new aeroplanes delivered to them by a mystery ship, along with anti-aircraft guns, ammunition and other war equipment.

The rebel planes brought down a Government machine and forced the warships protecting the invading force to withdraw with damage.—Reuter.

ANOTHER MEETING SOON

London, Sept. 9. The opening meeting of the International Committee for the application of the agreement regarding non-intervention in Spain was held in the Locarno Room at the Foreign Office this morning. The Ambassadors of Belgium, France, Italy and Poland and the Ministers of Bulgaria, Greece, Latvia, Lithuania, the Netherlands, Norway and Sweden were present, together with the High Commissioner for (Continued on Page 4.)

TIRADE AGAINST JEWRY

HITLER'S BITTER ATTACK

Nuremberg, Sept. 10.

A fresh attack upon the Jews was delivered by the Chancellor, Herr Adolf Hitler, at last night's session of the Nazi Party Congress.

He declared the Jews were responsible for all the destructive currents and events. In their thousand-year history, Dr. Fuhrer declared, Jews had always played a negative role.—Reuter.

TRI-CORNERED STRUGGLE FOR SAN SEBASTIAN

Wild Confusion As Rebels Lay Siege FACTIONS FIGHTING IN STREETS OF CITY

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

San Sebastian, Sept. 9.

This correspondent arrived in San Sebastian to find the besieged city in the throes of the three-cornered battle, the anarchists and Basque Nationalists fighting in the streets and rebel militia and volunteers attacking the anarchists who have barricaded themselves on the edge of the port.

Thousands of civilians are fleeing on foot, on horseback or in boats to the comparative safety of Bilbao and Santander.

I am informed that 400 anarchists and extremists have been arrested.—United Press.

SURRENDER EXPECTED

Outside San Sebastian, Sept. 9.

It is indicated that the defenders of San Sebastian will surrender without resistance when the insurgent attack opens. The rebel outposts are already occupying the outskirts of the city proper.

Anarchists have manned machine-guns atop the heavily fortified heights of Trincerpe.

The great question at present is whether the anarchists will fulfil their threat and dynamite the city.

Loyalists have reported that the Civil Governor, General Antonio Ortega, has formed the Basque Nationalists into "special police" units and has arrested hundreds of anarchists in a daylong round-up. The Basques have simultaneously organised a hasty defence.—United Press.

Loyalists Frustrated

Oviedo, Sept. 9.

It is learned that rebel spies in Oviedo frustrated the loyalist plans for a mass attack on the city. They gained information of the Government's plans when they penetrated the loyalist lines and informed the rebel chiefs of their discovery.

As a result, rebel artillery and a fleet of rebel planes heavily bombarded the loyal troops as they moved into supposedly secret positions.

The Government retained, dropping fifty bombs on Oviedo, principally on the main rebel barracks.—United Press.

Huesca's Fate In Doubt

Hendaya, Sept. 9.

Loyalist wireless stations state the Government troops have occupied Huesca.

However, the report is not otherwise confirmable.

Refugees arriving here said the rebels in the Alcazar at Toledo had at least partially surrendered to the Government forces, but this too was not confirmable.—United Press.

Still Holding Out

Outside Huesca, Sept. 9.

Loyalist troops have penetrated Huesca.

However, rebels have fortified strategic positions and are determined to withstand a siege.

The loyalist ultimatum, warning that an aerial bombardment would be inflicted unless the rebels surrender before midnight, has been delivered. The bombardment is expected to open to-morrow. The ultimatum said that resistance was futile, and promises prisoners normal treatment, but a battle would mean a merciless bombardment.—United Press.

Offering Terms

Madrid, Sept. 9.

The Cabinet has authorised the commander of the loyal forces in Toledo to make a final offer to the insurgents there who have been holding out in the Alcazar for six weeks, despite artillery and air bombardments which have half-ruined their old fortress.

The loyalists will offer safe conduct to the women and children in the cellars of the fortress before the Government forces make their final assault. The lives of the rebel leaders.—(Continued on Page 4.)

NO TENNIS INTERPORT THIS YEAR

SHANGHAI CANNOT RAISE TEAM

UNEXPECTED DECISION

(Special To "Telegraph")

Shanghai, Sept. 10. There will be no tennis interport between Hongkong and Shanghai this year.

This decision the Shanghai Lawn Tennis Association, regrettably reached yesterday, announces an exclusive message from United Press.

In stating that Shanghai would not send a team to Hongkong this year, the L.T.A. said it is because "representative sides could not be raised."—United Press.

This decision is entirely unexpected, writes "Veritas," because Shanghai tentatively accepted Hongkong's invitation to send men's and ladies' teams to the Colony for the Double Tennis. According to the Shanghai newspapers last week leading players had been circulated enquiring whether they could make the trip, but apparently the replies have been completely in the negative.

This decision is particularly disappointing as Hongkong was looking forward to seeing Lewis Carson, "Stick" Duff, Squires and Gordon Lum in action on our courts.

The last time Shanghai sent a team to Hongkong was in 1932, when they won the Interport by the odd match. Hongkong last won a tennis interport against Shanghai in 1929. In 1931 Shanghai were hosts and won five-nil. They won again in 1932 and after a lapse of two years, entertained a Colony side in 1935 and again won hands down, the late Khoo Hoo-hye, Lewis Carson, Gordon Lum, W. A. H. Duff and Colledge being Shanghai's representatives.

"Good Luck" To Troops

ON DEPARTURE FOR PALESTINE

London, Sept. 9.

A special Order of the Day, addressed to all troops of the 1st Division who are embarking for Palestine, by General Gathorne Hardy, Commander-in-Chief at Aldershot, says: "I cannot let you leave without wishing you good luck during what I hope and believe will only be a short visit to Palestine. Remember that the maintenance of law and order is a thankless task which brings little honour or reward, but entails heavy responsibilities. The fame of the British Army stands high as the result of many such arduous tasks. I know you all well enough to be completely satisfied that this great reputation is safe in your hands and that when you return you will have raised it to an even higher level."

A Marseilles message states that Lieutenant General J. G. Dill, newly-appointed Commander in Palestine, embarked on the destroyer Douglas there this afternoon.—British Wireless.

FRANCO- SYRIAN TREATY

ANGLO-IRAQ PACT USED AS MODEL

Paris, Sept. 9.

The Franco-Syrian Treaty was initiated to-day in the famous Clock Room at the Quai d'Orsay.

The Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs declared: "We have derived much experience from the British mandate over Iraq and have made the Franco-Syrian Treaty on the same lines as the Anglo-Iraq Treaty, but it avoids the mistake in the latter Treaty of not ensuring protection to Christians and other minorities. The Syrians are pleased, we are pleased and the world is pleased," added the Under-Secretary.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

NEW LOCARNO PACT

London, Sept. 9.

It is reliably learned that Great Britain has invited France, Germany and Belgium to a conference in London on October 2 to negotiate a new Locarno Treaty.—United Press.

YOUR FACE VALUE

TO-DAY I want to talk about 100,000. But please don't think this is a beauty article. It has to do with health. During long years of experience I have found that a slight disfigurement has caused many patients to feel a sense of inferiority which has shown itself in various nervous symptoms.

It may be only a slight blemish which others would not notice, perhaps, but, through constant worry, it assumes abnormal proportions to the person concerned. Some women spend hundreds of pounds to have a blemish removed.

The result of this worry is to make the sufferer feel that she is different from everybody else. She either becomes shy and lacks confidence, or she assumes a protective cloak of aggression to cover her sensitiveness.

In either case, these nervous symptoms often react on the general health and lower the resistance of the individual to many minor ailments.

by a PHYSICIAN

These cases are just as worthy of the doctor's care and attention as any other trouble which affects health.

Scars often cause considerable disfigurement, but it is almost impossible to remove a scar without leaving another in its place. There is no perfect cure for them, because they are formed from tough, fibrous tissue which has taken the place of the skin, filling in the gap between the edges of the wound.

Skin Troubles

The question then is really one for the surgeon, who may be able to replace the existing scar with another which is more slightly. Plastic surgery is a highly skillful art which since the War has brought happiness to many.

Acne disfigurement is responsible for much facial disfigurement. It is not possible to treat these cases successfully unless the type of skin trouble is known. This means a medical examination.

There is one type which is particularly common, especially in young people. Acne. In these cases the skin is usually coarse, sallow and somewhat oily. The tiny pores are easily seen and blackheads are common.

Acne shows itself in large numbers of red pimples, some with yellow heads, others of the "blind boil" type. Permanent scars result from many of these pimples, and sometimes the face is marked as though the patient had suffered from small pox.

Important Hygiene

Acne is often difficult to treat. In the young it tends to clear up usually before the age of 20. Fresh air, fresh fruit, green vegetables and attention to the bowels is an important part of treatment.

Cleanliness is essential. Don't be afraid to use plenty of hot water and a good skin soap. Carefully, and without bruising the skin, squeeze out all blackheads. Then wipe the skin with a weak solution of peroxide of hydrogen.

Its Effect on Health

Where the skin is greasy, ointments should be avoided.

If this treatment fails to have any marked effect, X-ray treatment is often helpful, but it will have no lasting results if you neglect hygiene. The skin must be kept clean.

Red nose may result from a lowered state of the general health, from indigestion, or from skin disease. In some cases no cause can be found.

Examination by a doctor is advisable in cases where this trouble exists. It will probably save a great deal of worry and experimenting with remedies.

Digestive troubles can be corrected by medical treatment, and if the general health is below par, your doctor will be able to put you on the way towards recovery.

Where no cause can be found and the condition must, in consequence, be put down to a peculiarity of the individual, the best thing to do is to use some form of cosmetic which will hide the disfigurement.

Enlarged tonsils and adenoids frequently give the individual a vacant expression—the pinched nose and open mouth so often seen are typical of this condition.

These cases require treatment at an early age. Mental backwardness, lung troubles, a retarded growth may result if nothing is done.

In her next film Diana Churchill wears one of the new high hats with flower pot crown.

Hat & Muff Set

This amusing hat and muff," says our artist, "was designed for Ascot, but it will be worn in place of the halo evening head-dress so popular last season."

Field flowers are used for the massed blooms resting on the head: daisies, poppies and cornflowers; they are repeated, too, in the muff, which has a frill of deep blue tulle to match the veil.

This model has inspired tiny toque-shaped hats, composed entirely of flowers, some of which give one the idea that you have robbed the garden for your summer millinery.

Flowers predominate as a hat adornment this summer, and many are lavishly used as trimmings. Where they are not spread over the top of the hat, they are packed away closely beneath the brim.

Sometimes, a couple of large blossoms will top the crown, but only when your face is round and small must you dare to wear this style, and then only with a wide brim and hat with a sideways tilt.

BERETS ARE BACK!

FASHION is welcoming the beret again with open arms. Berets are back in all sorts of shapes and sizes. Some of them even have a poke crown!

The beret shown here is in felt with a circlet of metal rings linked together with felt. The necklace continues the same idea.

Another novel combination is black felt and white Panama, the latter arranged in graduated rings, wide at the edge and narrowing down to almost nothing in the middle.

Is Your Name PHOEBE?

Symbol:

The crescent moon.

THE inner meaning of this name is brightness, lucidity, lustre, brilliance.

Thursday is the lucky day, and the lucky hours are both in the evening, 7 and 9 p.m.

The best day of the month is the 21st.

The palest yellow and mid-night blue are your two most harmonious colours... those of the young moon and the sky in which it floats.

Your personality will be free and unfettered if you have these colours about you.

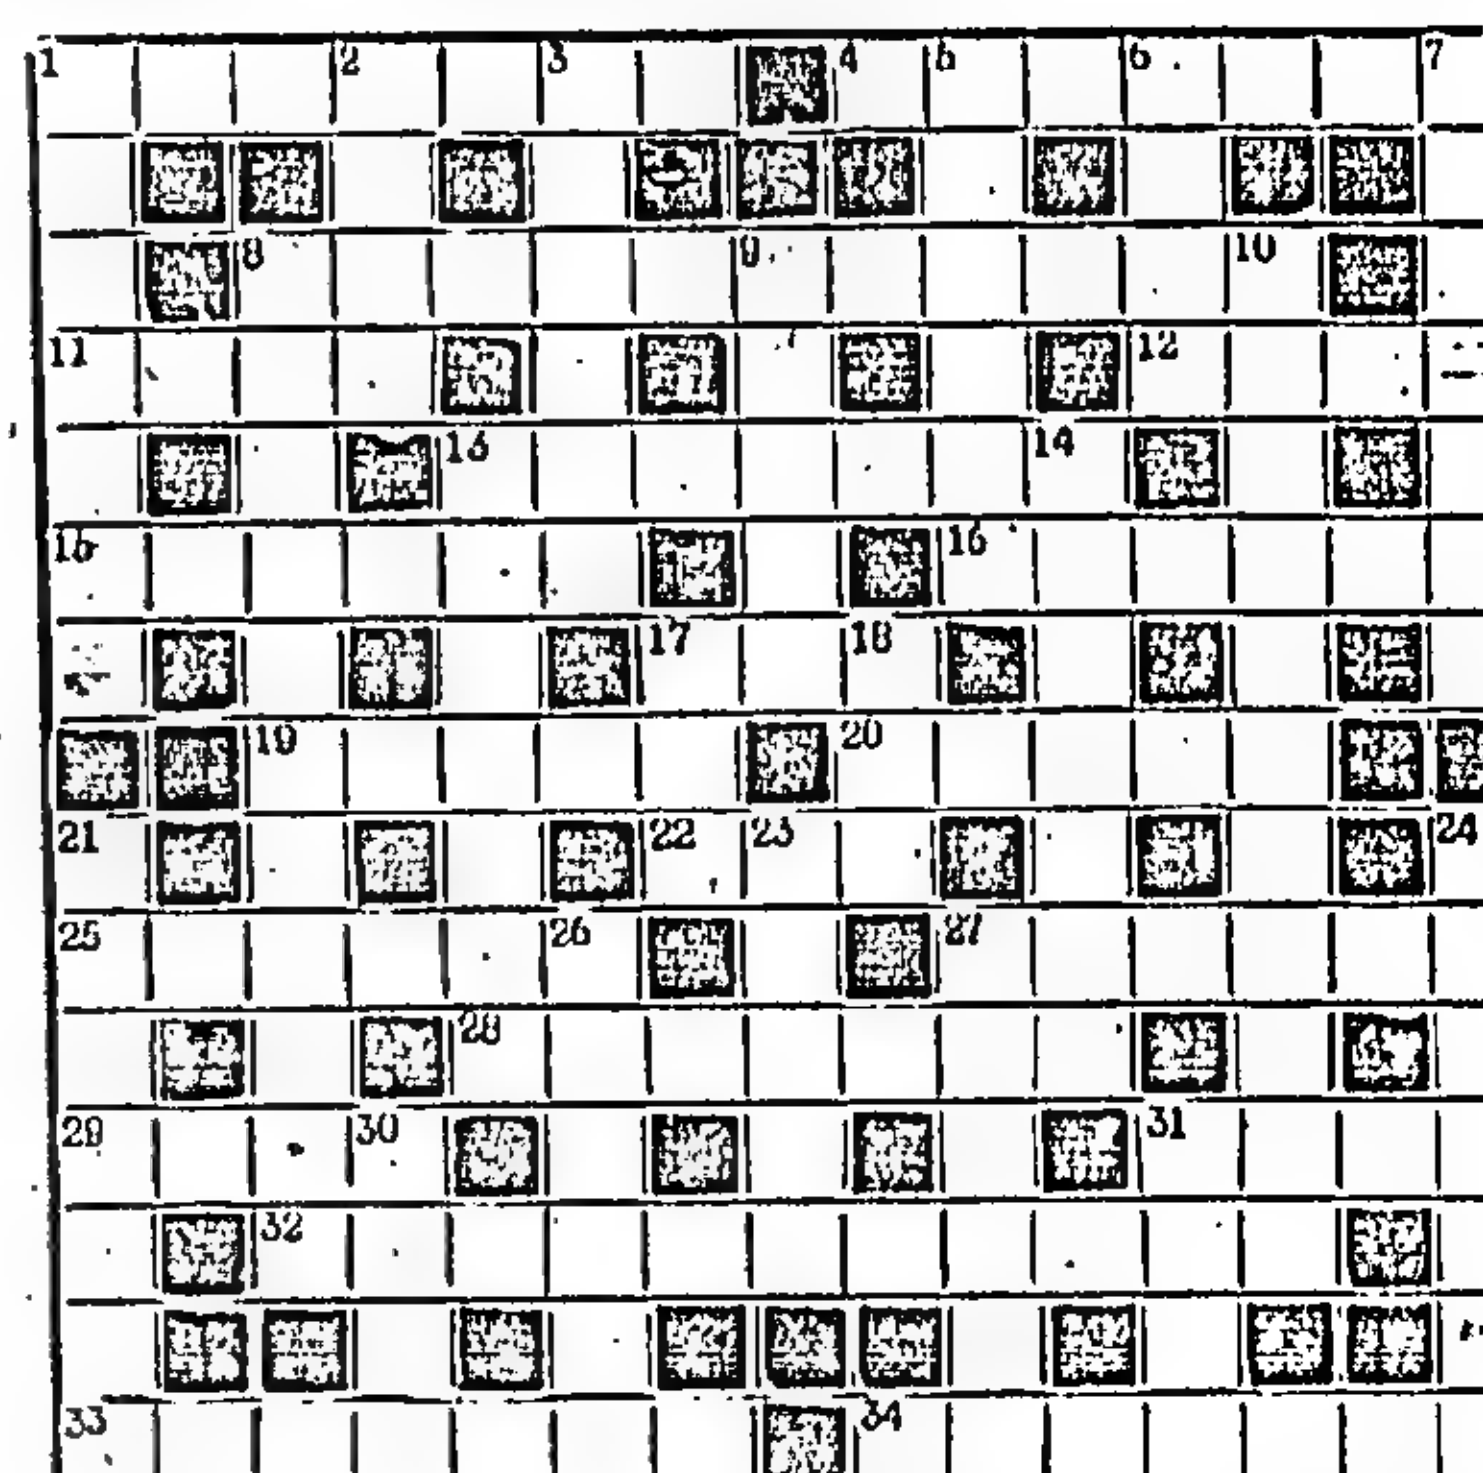

All luck will shun you if you wear the yellow topaz for your jewel, and it will protect you against hatred and revenge.

RELATIVES of European Royalty will shortly be barred from visiting Hollywood because of excessive hospitality.

The last visitor was Princess Katherine, youngest sister of King George of Greece. She is now staying in a London hotel, but to avoid being recognised she has changed her mode of dress.

"The Princess arrived in Hollywood as Miss K. Constantine," but the news leaked out," a friend said. "She was immediately mobbed."

"So-called friends were out to exploit her. She was photographed with stars, and rumours spread that she wanted to be a film star. She was overwhelmed with screen offers."

"It soon became apparent that even the most modest member of a Royal house could not maintain reasonable dignity among the rumour-mongers of Hollywood."

"So she came away."

Los Angeles, Aug. 25.

POWERFUL forces behind the scenes failed to bring about peace in the drama which began in earnest this afternoon in which Mary Astor, film star, and her husband, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, are fighting for the custody of their four-year-old daughter Marilyn.

Fans and professionals rubbed shoulders in an attempt to enter the courtroom, but although Judge Knight had moved three times to larger courtrooms, "House full" notices were put up.

In a broken voice she opened the attack on her husband by saying:—

"He said that unless I allowed him to get a divorce and the custody of our child, and do as he pleased, he would blot out my name and the names of my prominent friends."

REPEATED THREATS
"He repeated the threats constantly until—well, until the divorce."

During a short recess Miss Astor was told that a subpoena had been issued against the screen lover, John Barrymore, to give evidence in the case.

"It would be just as consistent for them to get a subpoena for President Roosevelt or Governor Landon," she said contemptuously.

"He struck me once," sobbed Miss Astor. "I did not know but what he might do it again. He had got me into a hysterical state."

Attorney Anderson was on his feet again with an objection. The reference to hypnotic control was struck out.

"Miss Astor said she moved away from her home about April 1 last year, taking her baby with her. "I couldn't stand his tormenting me with these continuous threats," she said.

"Were these threats the reason you gave Dr. Thorpe the guardianship of the child?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes," said Miss Astor determinedly.

She was shown a copy of the trust agreement, which stipulated that she should not take the child from the State without his permission.

BEDSIDE SCENE
"Why did you sign it?" Miss Astor was asked.

"Because I was told by Dr. Thorpe," she answered.

She then recounted an alleged conversation with Dr. Thorpe, his attorney, and Miss Ethel Peplin.

"It occurred in the library, where I had made up a bed while I was ill at the end of March 1935," said Miss Astor.

"Dr. Thorpe said: 'This thing is going to be the way I want it. I am going to get a divorce and the custody of the child, and arrange a distribution of property.'"

"I said I would do as he pleased. There was nothing else I could do." "I was ill and heartily sick over the way things were turning out. "I was licked," I said.

Miss Astor sat down and Attorney Joseph Anderson rose and began to hurl questions at Miss Astor.

"Isn't it a fact," he asked, "that you had already selected a place to live before you discussed the divorce?"

"It's not a fact," said Miss Astor. The judge banged his gavel and ordered the court to be adjourned for luncheon.

Anderson shouted across the room, "I'm not going to take the time to answer all these interminable and phony statements by counsel. I am going to prove conclusively before I am through—"

"Be careful what you say," interrupted Miss Astor's counsel, "You're responsible for scandalous statements that are not proved."

IN THE VATICAN GAOL PRISONER WHO STOLE A BOOK

Vatican City, Aug. 20.

A flutter of excitement stirred the venerable precincts of the Papal City this morning. For the third time since it came into existence the little law court was opened for a trial.

A certain Ezio Morigi, an Italian citizen, was found guilty of purloining a book from the Vatican Library, and sentenced to one month's solitary confinement in the Vatican gaol.

This small building has three well-lighted cells, and Morigi is the only occupant. Two Papal gendarmes, dressed in Napoleonic uniform with cocked hats, are his gaolers.

Three eminent Vatican citizens sat on the Bench. A fourth, called "The Promoter of Justice," prosecuted. The court was crowded.

One witness expressed indignation that the prisoner got into the Vatican under false pretences. He never was a student, and had not even the excuse of a student's passion for some rare and fascinating volumes. He stole a book of little value when some of the intellectual joys of the world lay within his reach.

Young America Learns 'English'

SEEKING PERFECT ACCENT

Thousands of Teachers Go to be Taught

YOUNG America is going to London to learn how to speak English at the fountain-head.

Some 40 American women have arrived for the second holiday overseas courses at the Speech Institute, Gordon Square, W.C.1.

They are the vanguard of thousands of American teachers, from elementary schools to universities, who became "English-Speech conscious" during the visit last winter to America of Miss Marjorie Gullan, founder and director of the Institute.

No Fight For Colonies A GERMAN VIEW

"The idea that Germany may go to war in order to get her colonies back is preposterous," declared Dr. Rud von Aushagen, a German journalist resident in London, when he addressed the Liberal Summer School at Oxford recently.

He declared that the procedure adopted by the Allies in 1919 with regard to colonies was bound to make Germans suspicious, when they heard so much of the trusteeship for coloured races.

Germany did not raise any new or unlimited claims in the colonial field, but what she did claim were her rightful possessions which she had held in the past. The economic side of the problem, important though it was, had been overcast.

What came first in the minds of the German people when they thought of the question at all was the matter of honour and justice.

Germany would never admit that the action which she was compelled to take in 1919 at the point of the bayonet and on the threat of starvation for her women and children in handing over her colonies gave any right of possession in favour of the Allies.

"SIMPLE SOLUTION"

"A plain and simple solution, indeed the only natural solution from the point of view of honour and justice, would be the restoration of the colonies in question to their lawful possessors—Germany."

"If the Mandatory Powers," he added, "could see their way to such a solution without haggling and bargaining—of which we are thoroughly sick in post-war years—they would do more for the re-establishment of better and really cordial relationship among the great nations of Europe than could be done by any other single act."

Germany, excluded from participation in the great task of colonisation and Germany, declared to be a second-class nation in the question of colonial development, would be bound to be a centre of political and social unrest.

If they could give Germany the opportunity to take part, Europe would have one of the biggest assets she could ever have for the future.

SIR ARTHUR SALTER'S VIEW
Sir Arthur Salter, speaking at the evening meeting, said that in the present circumstances he did not think

GRANDMOTHER-STUDENTS
In her classes were many women who had enrolled as college and university students after raising a family. One woman took her diploma on the day she became a grandmother.

What Americans chiefly want, Miss Gullan stated, is to get rid of the nasal quality in their speech. But they do not wish to learn Oxford English, which they consider effeminate.

Londoners, says Miss Gullan, have a correspondingly serious speech fault—the Cockney vowel.

"Most people do not realise," she said, "that to speak English requires as much study as to write it."

In 1927, with Miss Gertrude Kerby, who founded the Speech Fellowship, whose chief inspiration is "the desire to remove the handicap of bad speech in all its applications to life."

Both Fellowship and Institute were built up entirely with private funds. Neither is profit-making.

CHORIC SPEAKING

In 1922 Miss Gullan founded the first verse-speaking choir in this country at Glasgow. It was brought to London at the invitation of Miss Maude Royden and in 1926 a London choir was founded.

It is felt by various bodies that our speech has deteriorated in recent years.

The Bishop of Chichester, Dr. Bell, announced in January last that candidates for ordination in his diocese must hereafter pass a voice test.

In March funds were provided by Baron Profumo, K.C., for classes on speech for junior barristers.

that we should transfer to Germany her pre-war colonies.

"I agree," he said, "that the Treaty of Versailles and the accompanying documents included a great deal of hypocritical and indefensible nonsense about why we took Germany's colonies. The plain truth is that we and the rest of the Allies took them because we had won them in war."

Stratosphere Air Liners

New York, Aug. 25.

STRATOSPHERE flying for passenger aeroplanes is the latest development of aviation. Trans-continental and Western Airways announce plans for a new fleet of super-liners, which they hope will fly at altitudes up to 30,000 ft.

An official said to-day: "We are going to take up the scientific study of high altitude flying where Wiley Post [the famous one-eyed airman who flew alone around the world] left off. Modern airliners can ascend to higher altitudes than those at which they are generally used, but very little is known of the reactions of the crew and passengers."

"We have withdrawn an aeroplane from our passenger service, and it is now being equipped with various instruments for making tests at high altitudes. The future development of our planes will rest largely on these tests."

If the experiments are successful the company will probably introduce a high-altitude freight service before passengers are invited to speed through the stratosphere.

Court Sits In Camera CUSTODY OF AN INFANT PRINCE

The application listed as "Monaco v. Monaco, infamatus," concerning the custody of Prince Rainier, 12-year-old son of Prince Pierre of Monaco, was before Mr. Justice Bucknill, sitting as the Vacation Judge in the High Court recently.

When the case was called on, counsel on both sides asked that the matter should be taken in camera as it concerned the custody of an infant. Mr. Justice Bucknill acceded to this request, and the Court was at once cleared.

Applying for the motion to be taken in private, Mr. R. E. L. Vaughan Williams, K.C., said that he appeared for the plaintiff, and the matter concerned the custody of an infant, the grandson of the plaintiff and the son of the defendant.

Mr. H. Wynn Parry, K.C. (for the defendant)—"I support the application. It is the usual practice, and I think it is eminently in the interests of the infant and all the parties, that of the infant and all the parties, that of the question of the custody of this child should not be discussed in public. The case has already attracted a lot of publicity."

Mr. Justice Bucknill—"If both sides wish that it shall be heard in camera, I will so hear it."

Mr. Vaughan Williams—"We shall all be very much obliged."

ADJOURNMENT PLEA
Mr. Vaughan Williams then mentioned the question of an adjournment, stating that he received an affidavit late the previous night which he desired to answer.

"There are other circumstances which ought to be before the Court," he added, "and I ask for an adjournment until next Wednesday."

Mr. Wynn Parry said that he opposed an adjournment. "An injunction," he continued, "was obtained from Mr. Justice Eves last week, and for reasons which I should like to tell your Lordship when the Court is cleared I desire that the matter should be dealt with to-day. I do not wish to say any more before the Court is in camera."

Mr. Justice Bucknill—"Having regard to the fact that both sides wish this case to be heard in camera, I order that the Court be cleared."

The Court was crowded, both in the well and in the public gallery, and the only people allowed to remain were the interested parties and officials.

For the plaintiff, Mr. R. E. L. Vaughan Williams, K.C., Mr. H. O. Danekwerts, Mr. Acland-Hood, Messrs. Parker, Garrett and Co., for the defendant, Mr. H. Wynn Parry, K.C., Mr. Raymond Jennings (Messrs. Lewis and Lewis).

EXCHANGE

New York, Sept. 9. Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Dow Jones summary of yesterday's market: "The market today was irregular and a number of leading issues declined on realising, although some special stocks advanced on selective buying. Steel shares were the first to suffer, after which business spread to other groups. Packards were extremely active, touching a new high level of 13 1/4, but Chrysler and General Motors shares declined. Utilities met with late support. Radio Corporation of America shares were active, advancing on speculative demand. Both the Bond Market and the Curb Exchange were irregular."

S. C. & F. New York office cables: Stocks: The market reflects a certain amount of profit-taking, but the undertone is firm. Montgomery Ward sales for August were 20% above those for August of last year. Business failures for the week amounted to 103. Bank deposits for the week were $14,667,000,000. Cotton: Spot houses are reported to be taking all offerings, which are reflected in hedge-selling that outside interests are apparently unable to absorb. The cotton mills are not buying.

Wheat: The Government weekly report is slightly bearish and is reflected in sales, but the world-statistical position is unchanged, with foreign buying for December and May on relations. There have been favourable rains in several sections of the corn belt. The Government weekly report is slightly bearish and demand is less aggressive.

Rubber: The French political situation is disturbing. The markets are out of the market for the moment. S. C. & F. Wall Street Journal morning comment: "London believes that the Franc will eventually be devaluated. The cotton crop Government estimate helps the textile outlook. China stocks are favoured with increasing talk of high admission prices this Autumn. The street believes that copper prices will be advanced soon. Many traders are favouring rails, particularly New York Central, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio. It is expected that the Western Union Telegraph Company is increasing its earnings."

FRENCH LABOUR

the Irish Free State, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Russia, Turkey, Yugoslavia and eight other countries were represented by their respective Ministers. The British representative was Mr. W. S. Morrison, Financial Secretary to the Treasury. The Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Lord Cranborne, was also present. On the proposal of the French Ambassador Mr. W. S. Morrison was elected Chairman. After a general discussion on the scope of the work of the committee, it was proposed that the several delegations should as soon as possible furnish the Committee with particulars regarding the legislative and other steps taken by their respective Governments to give effect to the agreement for non-intervention. It was agreed that this proposal should be referred to the Governments represented on the Committee for their consideration. The Committee also took note of the fact that the text of the notes exchanged between the French Government and other Governments, constituting the agreement, would be published by the French Government when the assent of other Governments had been obtained.

The Committee expressed a wish to meet again as soon as possible. The second meeting will accordingly be summoned by the Chairman as soon as, in his judgment, sufficient material had been received for the purpose. It is understood that during the course of the meeting the absence of a representative of Portugal was mentioned with regret, and the hope was expressed by more than one speaker that the Portuguese Government would be represented at the next meeting.—British Wireless.

BANKING LAW BROKEN?ECHO OF RECENT SPEECH

Philadelphia, Sept. 9. Dr. Luther A. Harr, State Secretary of Banking, has threatened to prosecute Colonel Knox for violation of the law providing a fine of $5,000, or five years' imprisonment, on any one spreading false reports regarding banks and financial institutions, unless, within a fortnight he retracts a recent speech made at Allentown. In his speech, Colonel Knox declared: "No life insurance policy is secure, and no savings bank account safe."—United Press.

LOYALIST ATTACK

advance guard for a final loyalist onslaught on the city. The "Death Battalion" will lead the attack, armed only with hand grenades. In an interview, Major Rojo told me that the rebels had no intention of attacking, due to the rumours that reinforcements were arriving soon, and that General Mola, the rebel leader, was already triumphantly entering Madrid. Subsequent to the loyalist attack on Alcazar, rebel planes continued by dropping four bombs on Toledo. Five people were killed and three houses were destroyed.—United Press.

SOME RAIN

Pressure continues highest over the Pacific to the east of Japan; it is relatively low over South China and the Pacific between Formosa and the Western Carolines. Local forecast: S. W. winds, moderate; cloudy, some rain.

PHILIPPINE POST

Washington, Sept. 9. The War Department has announced that Mr. J. Weldon Jones has been appointed acting High Commissioner of the Philippines.—United Press.

"DORADO" ARRIVES

The Imperial Airways liner Dorado arrived this afternoon with two passengers (Mr. Alcan, of Saigon, and Mrs. Tallick, of Calcutta), and a record quantity of mail.

Two deportees, Ho Kau, 32, unemployed, and Kwok Fai, 27, by Water Police constables on September 8, were brought before Mr. E. H. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistrate's court this morning. The first man stated that he had returned for the purpose of securing some money, the second stated that he had come back to find a niece of his. Ho Kau was sentenced to three months' imprisonment, while Kwok Fai, with two previous convictions received a similar sentence.

The annual general meeting of the St. Andrew's Women's Fellowship will be held to-day (Thursday) at 3 p.m. All members are specially invited to be present.

TRI-CORNERED
SAN SEBASTIAN

tenders, it is said, will be spared if they surrender.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

Hostages In Refuge

San Sebastian, Sept. 10. Hostilities on the San Sebastian front have been virtually suspended for the past 48 hours. The 625 hostages held here have been quietly transferred to Bilbao, in order to protect them, it is believed, in the event of the extremists getting the upper hand.—Reuter.

Returning To Normal

Hendaye, Sept. 10. Visitors to Iran have been struck by the rapidly with which the battle-scarred town is returning to normal. Barbers are shaving customers in chairs set up in the ruined streets, where pretty, daintily dressed girls are waiting. Insurgent levies, in their red berets, are everywhere, but the Moorish troops and Foreign Legionaries, who the shock force of the army, have marched on towards San Sebastian.

Fishermen of Fuenterrabia have returned to the sea and their wives are selling sea food. Tourists from San Francisco, Aden, and Shanghai are busy everywhere filling in trenchers, repairing roads and bridges. They are occasionally disturbed by a bomb from a Government plane.—Reuter.

Premature Claim

St. Jean de Luz, Sept. 9. The insurgents' claim to have entered San Sebastian appears to be premature.

Columns are pressing in on two sides and are between five and ten miles from the town. One column from Fuenterrabia and Guadalupe is before Renteria Pasajes and two others are in front of Pasarte, cutting the road to Bilbao. The railway to Bilbao is still functioning. It is stated that the armed defenders of San Sebastian number 14,000, but it is doubtful if the front line effectives are more than 4,000. The Basque Nationalists form the majority of the fighting units.

Four anarchists are reported to have been killed in disputes with Basque militiamen and recently 200 of the latter were picked up in Spain, who are said to be threatening to burn important buildings.

Two German torpedo-boats have arrived here from San Sebastian and Bilbao with 120 refugees aboard, including the British, Jack Greenwell, well-known football coach in Spain, who said that the game was still being played in Catalonia.—Reuter Special.

Pressman In Prison

"United Press" Staff Correspondent Special to the "Telegraph"

San Sebastian, Sept. 9. A Basque fishing boat took me to San Sebastian.

Immediately after my arrival I inspected the old city fort, unused now for hundreds of years. Nevertheless, I was greeted by loyalists and was charged with espionage. I remained in a prison room for four hours with a youth of eighteen years keeping a revolver jammed in my ribs, and threatening to shoot at the slightest move.

Meanwhile, I could hear the rebels bombarding San Sebastian, my guard telling me that 70 bombs had been dropped.

Finally I prevailed upon the youth to call the French consul, who suggested that, as evidence of my good faith, I should ferry seven children refugees across to their grandmother at St. Jean de Luz.

Upon promising to do so, I was released with the threat: "Never show your face here again. If you do, we will put you in prison and forget you."

City May Fall Soon

Apparently the rebel forces are capable of occupying San Sebastian at any time they wish. However, they are staying their hand pending negotiations with the Governor, Senor Ortega, whom they have informed that they are willing to spare the city where it is taken, and pronounce an amnesty if they are allowed to enter. The difficulty at present is that the rebels will not include anarchists in their offer of an amnesty. They have promised death to all anarchists captured in the city where it is taken. Few defending soldiers are now visible. It is estimated that there are no more than 800 loyalists left in the entire city. They have remained behind to discipline the populace and control the streets in order to prevent the anarchists from burning the city. The anarchists are apparently in control of the municipal government of the city.—United Press.

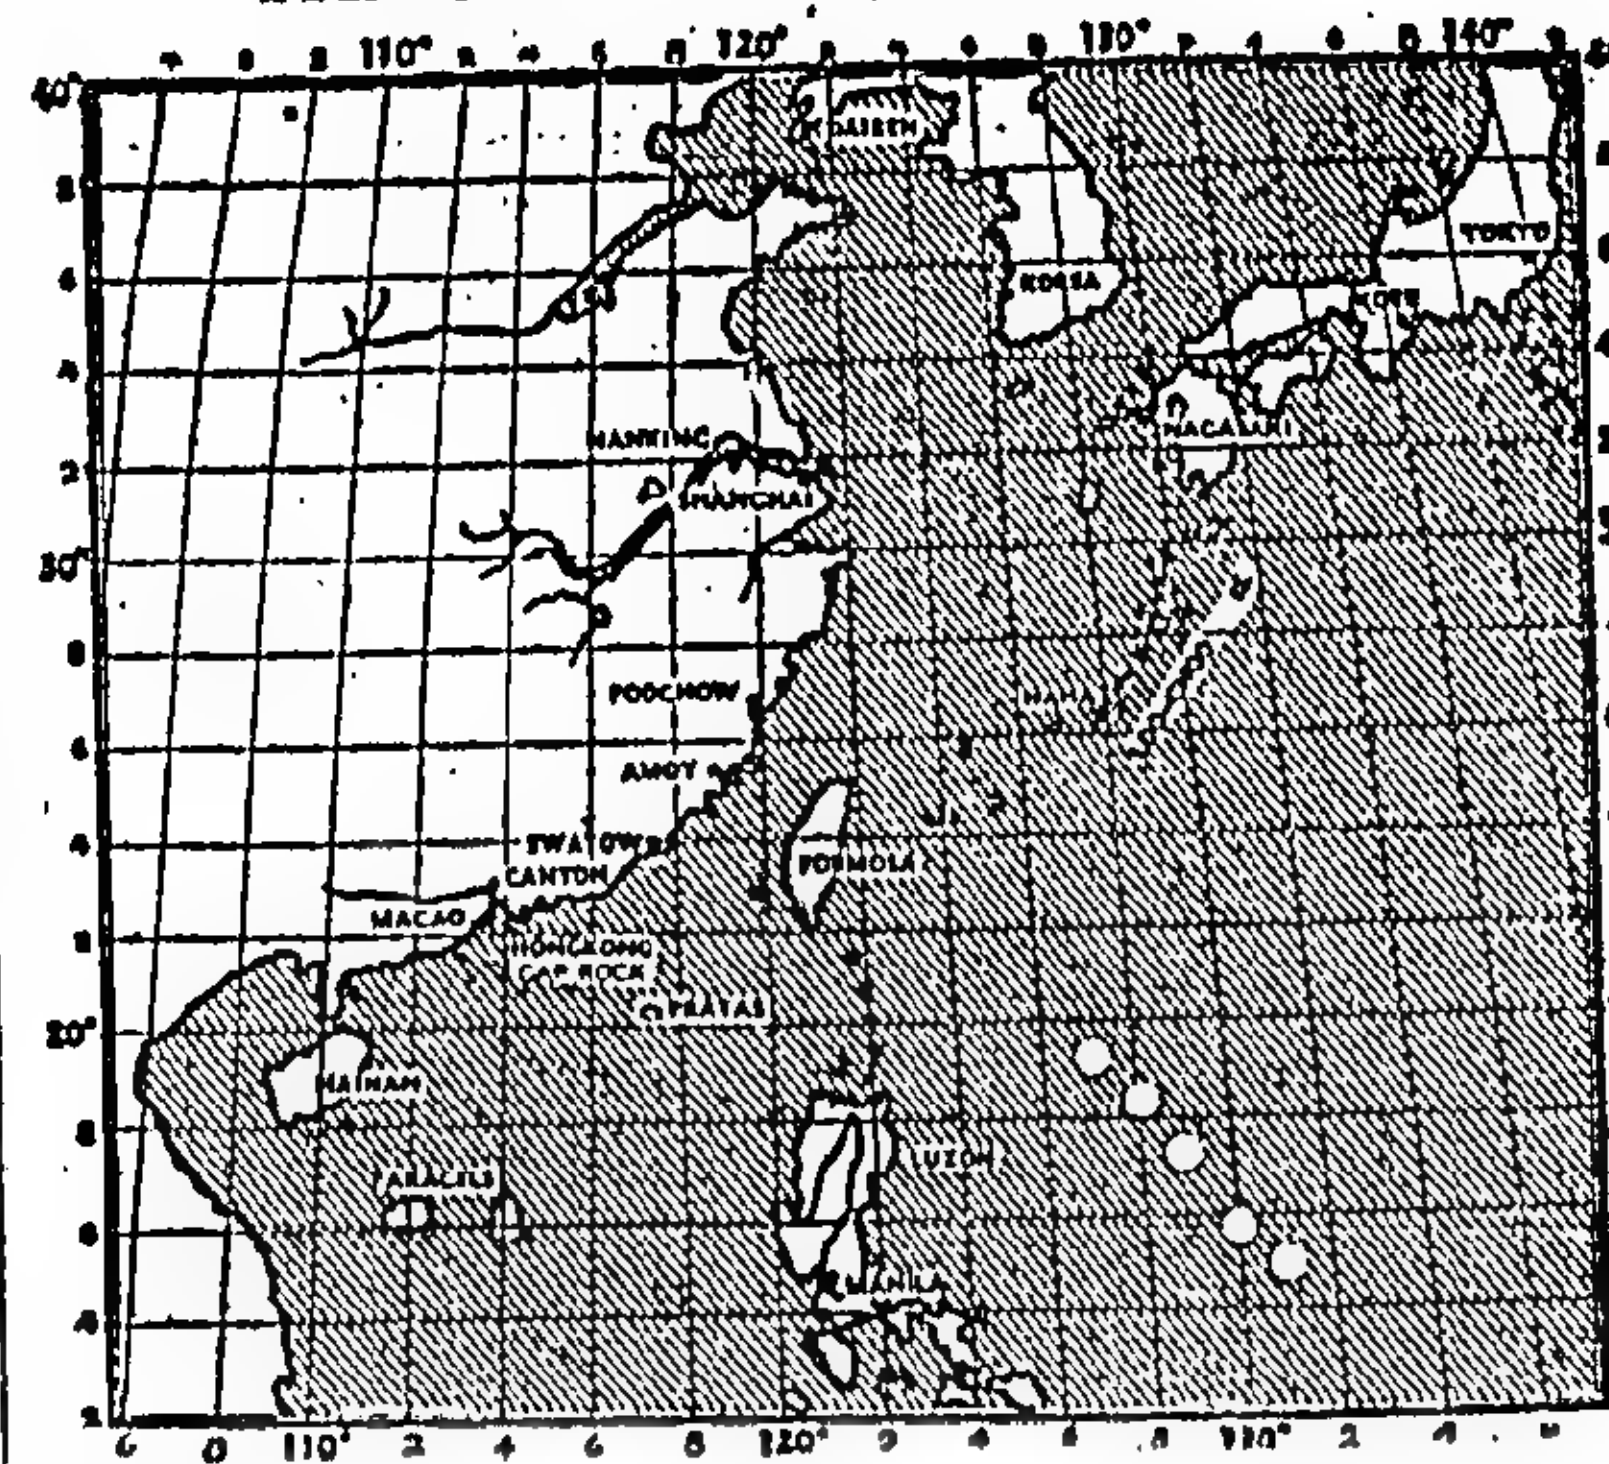

"HOOVER" CREW PAID OFF

San Francisco, Sept. 9. The Dollar Line has paid off the President Hoover's supernumerary deck crew, following recent troubles, and is prepared to sign an International Seamen's Union crew. The police, anticipating violence, arrived at the wharf barrier armed with tear gas.—United Press.

PORTUGAL DECLINES

London, Sept. 9. Representatives of 26 powers met to-day as a Non-Intervention Committee to prevent European nations becoming embroiled in the Spanish civil war. However, Portugal declined to participate in the committee's work, seriously handicapping its efforts.—United Press.

HEROIN DIVAN RAIDED

TWO ARRESTS; ONE CONVICTION

Two clansmen, Leung Pun, 37, and Leung Tsing, 31, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning, charged with possession of 788 heroin pills. They had been arrested on September 2, on the first floor of 115 Temple Street. The first defendant pleaded not guilty, but his companion admitted the offence.

Revenue Officer P. J. O'Neill said he believed first defendant was the principal tenant of the place, which was an opium and heroin divan, but the only evidence against him was that he was on the premises when the raid took place. The pills were found in a drawer.

First defendant was discharged, and the other was fined $500, or two months' hard labour.

Tung Kam, 50, unemployed, Leung Sik, 18, delivery boy, Yu Lai, 25, servant, Chan Lung, 31, carpenter, Chan Ho, 33, married woman, and Leung Chun, 24, spinster, were brought before Mr. E. Hilmsworth at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning, charged with the operation of a big heroin pill factory.

Revenue Officer Brown stated that he had been asked to apply for a formal remand of one week.

His worship granted the remand. Each defendant was allowed bail to the sum of $2,500.

ROBBERS STEAL GOLD RING

MANAGE TO EVADE CAPTURE

A robbery on a Jewellers' shop last night was reported to the police by Tsui Mai, a salesman, who said the robbers stole a gold finger ring and three pepper in his eyes.

In his report, the salesman said that about 9.25 p.m. yesterday, two men entered the ground floor of the Po Lai goldsmith firm, No. 87 Queen's Road East, while he was behind the counter. One of them asked to be shown some gold rings from a showcase, and Tsui handed a tray over to him.

The man took up one ring and examined it, and then passed it over to the second man, who also examined the ring. This man then returned the ring to the first man, who put it on a finger of his left hand. He then placed his right hand in his jacket and pulled out a packet of pepper which he threw into Tsui's eyes.

Both men ran out of the shop into Swatow Lane, and Tsui raised the alarm and pursued them, but the assailants managed to get away.

HOTEL PROWLER CONVICTED

TWO-MONTHS' GAOL TERM

Chan Lam, 24, unemployed, appeared before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning, charged with the intent to housebreak with the intent to commit a felony.

Sergeant Byron related that defendant was formerly employed at the Lark Hotel, owned by the complainant, Yi Oi. Two days ago, defendant came down from the country, and went to see complainant who gave him a room to pass the night. During the night, an alarm of the hotel saw defendant prowling around the premises in a suspicious manner and finally saw him entering a room adjoining his own, with a duplicate key. She informed the complainant who had defendant arrested.

Defendant was sentenced to two months' hard labour.

FILM OF BIG FIGHT

CROWDS SEE SCREENING

There were packed houses at all sessions at the Queen's Theatre yesterday, when the film of the big fight between Max Schmeling and Joe Louis was screened for the first time. Every round is depicted in the film, which is one of the finest boxing pictures ever screened, and should not be missed.

In addition, "Her Master's Voice" was screened, this being a delightful comedy featuring Edward Everett Horton.

There were also crowded houses at the Alhambra to see the big fight film.

EXCURSION SHIP SINKS

OVER 200 RESCUED IN COLLISION

Boston (Mass.), Sept. 9. An excursion steamer carrying 150 passengers and a crew of 53 is reported to have sunk five miles off the coast, after being in collision with the liner, New York.

The collision occurred during a dense fog, and latest reports indicate that the New York has picked up all the passengers and crew.—Reuter.

FOUR APPEALS SUCCEED

POSTAL REGULATIONS DISPUTE

QUASHING OF CONVICTIONS

Four appeals against the decision of Mr. S. F. Balfour, Magistrate, regarding a breach of the Post Office regulations were allowed by the Chief Justice, Sir Alford McGregor, in the Supreme Court this morning. The appellants were Lai Cheung-ling, licensee of the Ki Sang Chan boarding house; Lai Chu, licensee of the Cheung Fat Chan boarding house; and Fung Kai-ling, licensee of the Ping On Chan boarding house. The last-named appellant, Mr. D'Almada, Jr., instructed by Mr. M. C. McCallum, appeared for the appellants, and Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, was for the respondent, Mr. I. R. Butters, Postmaster-General, who was present in Court.

Mr. D'Almada said the appeals were against the conviction by Mr. S. F. Balfour on charges of having sent through the post registered packages containing letters for delivery in Singapore, contrary to Regulation 14 made under the Post Office Ordinance, 1921.

The packages came under suspicion in Singapore where they were opened and found to contain several letters each. On the outside of the packages, there were ordinary registration envelopes, and these appeared in the course of the hearing and address of the particular boarding houses of which each of the appellants was the licensee. That, continued counsel, was the sole evidence upon which the Magistrate convicted the appellants.

EVIDENCE UNSHAKEN

At the close of the case for the Crown, the solicitor for the defence submitted there was no case to answer but this was over-ruled. The result was that each of the defendants gave evidence denying all knowledge of the packages. Their evidence was unshaken under cross-examination but in spite of that they were convicted and each fined $100.

Continuing, counsel said the Magistrate appeared to have based his decision on sub-section 2 of section 36 of the Post Office Ordinance. He submitted the case could not come under this legislation because the name and the address of the sender of each package was the boarding house and not an individual, body corporate or a firm as covered by that section. No legislation had been provided for cases of this kind and the benefit should have been given to the defendants.

Counsel then went on to submit that the Magistrate was wrong in holding that because the appellants were licensees of the boarding houses they were the senders of the packages. As to the fact that the packages bore the name of the Supreme Court, would the Registrar be held responsible? he asked "Could not the sender be the Crown Solicitor, or even, with due respect, your Lordship?"

His Lordship: I make no admission (Laughter).

Continuing, Mr. D'Almada said there was nothing in the contents of the packages which connected the appellants. They had given evidence, completely denying knowledge of the packages, and the testimony against them that they were the licensees of the boarding houses. No question as to the credibility of their evidence, and under the circumstances the appeals should be allowed.

Replying for the respondent, Mr. Abbott said it was not reasonable to expect that somebody had deliberately put a false name and address on the packages. There were two things in the postal service, either non-delivery or opening by the authorities. Having regard to the fact that non-delivery was more likely to happen, any sender would not give a false name and address. He contended the Magistrate was right in coming to the conclusion that the defendants were the senders, and the decision therefore should be held up.

APPEALS ALLOWED

Allowing the appeals, His Lordship said there was no evidence to show that boarding houses could be treated as firms and came under the ruling of sub-section 2 of section 36 of the Post Office Ordinance, upon which the Magistrate must have based his decision. The defence was a complete denial of any knowledge of the packages.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

"THE GOOD MAN IS A FRIEND TO HIMSELF BY DOING RIGHT HE WILL BENEFIT HIMSELF AND BE A HELP TO OTHERS."—Aristotle.

The German Ambassador to China, Dr. Trautmann, is expected to return via Hongkong from Europe in November.

There is an unclaimed telegram lying at the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company's office addressed to Hilda Lock, Peninsula Hotel, from Kismu.

With injuries received through an earth truck falling on him at Wong Ma Kok, Stanley, yesterday, a man, Cheng Chan-poon, was removed to the Government Civil Hospital.

For having in his possession two packets of dutiable tobacco, Ho Tin, 43, unemployed, was ordered to pay a fine of $7, or in default, to serve one week's imprisonment, at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning.

Five cases of Diphtheria with two deaths, 12 cases of Typhoid with six deaths (three imported) and 63 deaths from Tuberculosis, were reported to the local Health authorities last week. On Tuesday, two further cases of Diphtheria were reported.

BEWARE OF PAIN AFTER EATING

Do you dread your meals? Are you for ever wondering what you can eat with safety and freedom from pain? Are you, in fact, living in fear and agony from stomach trouble?

Surely anyone escapes this scourge of modern life. Some are wise and take it in time. Others endure terrible torture—but even they can do the same as the wise ones, and find quick relief in Maclean Brand Stomach Powder.

An amazing volume of evidence proves that Maclean Brand does bring relief. Sufferers from gastric and duodenal ulcers and from acute gastritis have found in it a remedy worth untold gold. Their letters are documents of wonderful joy and thanks.

You can be like them. You can once more enjoy the good food that Nature intends you to enjoy. Get a bottle of Maclean Brand Stomach Powder at once. You have only to take one dose to feel its benefit—and a short course will have lasting effect.

But it must be Maclean Brand with the signature "ALEX. C. MACLEAN" on the bottle. None without it is genuine and you dare not risk your health by taking powder of which you know nothing. Maclean Brand is never sold loose. Sold only in cartons, of powder or tablets. If any difficulty in obtaining write to: Maclean & Co., Ltd. P. O. Box 536, Hong Kong.

CHILD'S SALE NOT ILLEGAL

IN ACCORD WITH CHINESE CUSTOM

Five women and two men appeared on remand before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning, charged with taking part in a transaction to transfer the possession, custody or control of a minor, namely, Chan Sut-ho, aged 11, at No. 107 Lockhart Road, second floor, on September 5.

They were Chan Wah-siu, aged 43, odd job mason, Tsang Kan, aged 33, married woman, Chan See, aged 40, married woman, Pun So, aged 21, spinster, Pang Yee, aged 40, married woman, Wong Mei, aged 45, married woman, and Ng Shing, aged 74, unemployed.

Inspector E. J. Ellis, of the S.C.A., prosecuted, and Mr. C. Y. Kwan appeared for the defence of third accused and pleaded not guilty.

Inspector Ellis said the girl was sold to third accused by second accused and her husband, the first accused, for the sum of $70, and a document regarding the sale was drawn up. The other defendants were the go-betweens. The police came to know of the affair when the second accused reported that third accused was taking her daughter out of the Colony.

Evidence was heard, after which his Worship discharged all defendants, saying the sale of the child was apparently in accordance with Chinese custom, and there did not appear to have been any trafficking.

SOUTH CHINA RAILWAYS

MINISTER ARRIVES IN CANTON

Canton, Sept. 10. Mr. Chang Kiu-ngru, Minister of Railways, arrived here to-day. It is understood that his mission is connected with the development of railways in South China.—Reuter.

The evidence to this effect was unshaken by the Crown. The Magistrate's duty in this case was the same as in any other; special provision of the Ordinance made no real difference whatsoever. His duty was to be satisfied of the guilt of each of the appellants beyond any reasonable doubt.

"How on the evidence before me the Magistrate could possibly hold that he was satisfied is beyond me," His Lordship concluded.

The appeals were allowed, the convictions quashed and the fines refunded.

The growing popularity of the
course of business training begun some years ago at the London School of Economics is indicative of changed ideas
which now prevail in regard to
fitting young men for a commercial life. It is shown in the School's latest report that there
has been a stream of university
graduates from the principal
centres of learning passing into
business through the one-year
post-graduate course. The new attitude of business leaders is in
striking contrast to the view so
long held that the best and only
efficient training ground for
young men is in business itself.
Those who adhered to this view-
point envisaged the boy fresh
from school beginning at the lowest rung of the ladder and
working his way up to the top.
The university-trained young
man was looked at askance, as
one whose head was so full of
theories as to leave little room
for the ordinary hard facts of
life. There can, of course, be
no disputing the fact that there
is great value in first-hand knowledge of business—that, in this sphere as in others, an ounce of
practice is worth a ton of
theory. But something more is needed, and that "something"
can be summed up by saying
that the better the general
education of a young man is, the
more readily will he adapt himself to a business life, always
assuming that he has a due
share of character and intelligence. In other words, there
must be specialised education as
well as actual experience if the
best results are to be obtained.
It is true that many instances
can be quoted of men who have
risen to high posts without the advantage of such education, but
these have succeeded in spite of
their educational shortcomings,
and not because of them. This type of individual would, in any event, forge his way to the top,
through sheer determination and
an inherent capacity to adapt
himself to changing conditions.
He is not, however, typical of
the majority. With every passing year, business is becoming
more complex, and the successful pursuit of it demands larger
knowledge and wider outlooks.
World competition is keener every day, and the Briton, whether he stays at home or goes
overseas, is being constantly
made aware of this fact. No-
where is this competition more
evident than in the Far East,
where business no longer falls
into the lap of the man who sits

NOTES OF THE DAY

Broadening has proved a strong stimulus to education in England. Thousands of school-
children and students can now
listen to talks given by experts on
a great variety of subjects, and
local education authorities, realising
their value, are contributing
financial assistance to many of the
listening schools. About 5,500
British schools are recorded as regular listeners, and the number rapidly increases. Over 900 were registered between January and May this year. As a result of this increase, the British Broadcasting Corporation has decided to give
more time to school broadcasts and
to develop the programmes considerably. The new scheme is based on the replies received from
schools to a list of questions circulated to teachers throughout
Great Britain. School broadcasting was formerly concerned with
the requirements of children from
eleven to fourteen; now provision
is made for all children from five
to eighteen years of age. There
is one course for infants, there
are seven for juniors, eleven for secondary schools. During the coming year there will thus be
twenty-five courses, including some
in Welsh, covering a wide range
of subjects such as would normally
be outside the scope of the average teacher. The Central Council for School Broadcasting has done
much to develop the closest possible contact between the teacher
and the broadcaster. The result
of recent efforts is that school
broadcasting has achieved a
measure of success undreamed of
by those who initiated the experiment some twelve years ago.

in his office, but has to be sought
after and won in the face of much rivalry. There are, admittedly, types of university
men who are unsuited for
modern business life—which is
another way of saying that a university education will not of
itself provide the necessary
equipment. But the man who,
by special training, coupled with
a practical knowledge of his
work, is educated in the broadest
sense of the term, will accomplish more than the who has
merely fallen into a business
career and has taken little pains
to increase his knowledge or become closely acquainted with
modern commercial trends.

later, they usually manage to
bite the hand that writes them.

I always regard with wonder

anyone with the persistent personal faith to keep a diary.

Diaryists are born, not made, and

I have never been able to keep

one for more than two days

together.

To be able to take a little

closely packed volume (1917,

perhaps?) from the secret

drawer in your desk and discover what you were doing on

that particular 12th of August

must produce a delicious sense

of personal importance.

Great Scandals

THAT sense of importance, of

course, is one of the prime

essentials of keeping a diary.

That, and an unquestioning

faith in the said diary's in-

violable secrecy.

Once you admit the thought

that one day your diary is going

to be read by amused and hos-

tile persons (as, needless to say,

every diary eventually is) you

are inhibited from entering any-

thing more innocuous than the

times and places of your

luncheon engagements. And

those, even to yourself when you

are 80, are not good enough

reading to have been worth the

trouble.

Some diaries have made

great scandals in their day

and have provided much excellent reading for other

generations.

Perhaps even Miss Astor's

diary, if carefully preserved,

will provide some future his-

torian with invaluable material

on the social manners of Holly-

Famous Harriette

THE greatest scandal of the

kind that was ever created

was that which exploded in

Harriette Wilson's memoirs.

Memoirs are not, properly

speaking, a diary, but the notorious Harriette compiled her

amorous adventures for the Press with diary-like fidelity to

fact and detail, and must have

notes to help her.

They were pure scandal, im-

plicating no lesser men than the

Alvanley, Beau Brummell, the

3rd Duke of Leinster, and—

choicest sensation of all—the

Duke of Wellington.

The story is well known of

Harriette's attempt to black-

mail Wellington before the

publication of the memoirs, and

of his famous reply: "Publish

and be damned!"—expressive of

a defiant dignity which even

reputation-conscious film stars

might adopt with profit.

mail Wellington before the

publication of the memoirs, and

of his famous reply: "Publish

and be damned!"—expressive of

a defiant dignity which even

reputation-conscious film stars

might adopt with profit.

Harriette, more fortunately

for posterity than for her noble

admirers, published with relish,

and the rush to buy the paper-

back numbers in which the

book appeared was so riotous

that a barrier had to be erected

to protect the publisher's shop.

A Best-Seller

IT sold 30 editions in one year,

its indiscretions making it an

instantaneous best-seller. It is still excellent reading because

berless, love-affairs with the

gentry, had also a sharp wit, a

being able to reproduce exactly

conversational mannerisms.

Her book had all the qualities which make a dangerous

diary live.

Another success de scandale

was Lady Charlotte Bury's

diary, published in 1838 by her husband (probably against her

will) when he was hard up.

Since she had been for many

years a lady-in-waiting to the

unfortunate Caroline Princess of

Wales, whom the Prince Regent

treated so badly and who was

herself rather an unfastidious

person, her diary was full of

Court.

Though its sales were immense the book cost Lady

Charlotte many of her friends.

One of them, whose indiscreet

letters had appeared in the

diary, wrote to her scathingly:

"When I wrote the silly, im-

pertinent letters in question, between 20 and 30 years ago, I

knew that I was writing to the

thought myself safe by all the

common laws of good breeding

and morality. But I find I was

extremely deceived." A nineteenth-century example of sud-

frivolities!

The best diaries in the world are those which were

kept secret, written without

a thought of publication.

Samuel Pepys, as indiscreet

and self-revealing as even Dr.

Johnson, was not a diaryist.

For these diaryists there should be a stringent rule—keep the

thing locked up or, better still,

burn it! And for the rest of us,

beware of diaryists!

ROUND ABOUT by The Showman

I AM grateful to somebody—I
have forgotten his name, and I
am too lazy to look it up—who
wrote an article, this week, which hinted at progressive world
water shortage.

He admitted, by the way, that this
was hard to believe in Great Britain
now that summer is here.

But he did envisage an arid world
reduced to tapping the polar ice-caps
for water, as Lowell suggested had been done on Mars with those disputed
canals.

This is a conception to which the
word "awful" may be properly applied. Thinking about it does you good,
because, for once, you see the idiotic
squabbles of nations in their right perspective.

Still we ever combine for happiness
and self-preservation? Or—as seems
left shooting at his reflection in the Last Mirror with the Last Machine
Gun?

'EGGS OF HELL'

I have been urged to continue my
uncompleted novel, "Eggs of Hell,"
past the point where I got stuck because Captain Peter Pullover, of the Secret Service, faced by five giant Chinese with automatics, had mislaid
his machine-gun.

You may remember that a bomb in
his breakfast egg had exploded, bringing down the ceiling, and that he had a wife called Lady Elsie, of dazzling beauty? Very well. Now read on.

Her Ladyship's Entrance

SUDDENLY a machine-gun began
its devilish chatter behind Pullover, and the Chinese, muzzling
curses, were stricken to the floor.

"What an earth..." he began.

Then there was a crash. And he knew
no more.

When he recovered consciousness,
his wife was bending over him and adjusting his smoked glasses so that her
dazzling beauty would not blind him.

"Yes," she said softly, "it was I."

The explosion threw your machine-
gun into my hands upstairs. There was no ceiling, so I saw the Chinese;
and then—"she laughed deliciously—
I just dropped in on you."

He, too, laughed, and drew her into a long embrace while the floor, also weakened by the explosion, began, very slowly and very tenderly to give way
beneath them.

Fairy Story

THE news was this. Francis Lederer
had a surplus of cabbages on his farm near Hollywood, thirty thousand
of them. So he began posting them off in sacksful to everyone he knew.

And what did you think he found underneath each cabbage? Why, a dear, little baby film-star. And now they are all howling their heads off because there aren't enough diamond-studded coats to go round.

Isn't that a pretty story, ducks?

Eden's Lament

Chamberlain's rebuke to the Government for not saying clearly what it means. To be sung by Mr. Eden in a
plaintive voice.

HONGKONG TEXTILES RAMP EXPOSURE

"Telegraph" Articles Cause Big Clean-Up In Philippine Islands: Textile Imports CrashMANILA CUSTOMS AUTHORITIES CLOSE "OPEN DOOR" RE-EXPORT OF JAPANESE GOODS THROUGH COLONY CEASES FOLLOWING NEWSPAPER EXPOSE*"Telegraph" Special

Following the "Telegraph" exposure last June of the amazing textile ramp existing between Hongkong and the Philippines, the Manila Customs authorities have staged one of the biggest clean-ups in their history.

In a series of articles, which were reprinted in Manila newspapers, the "Telegraph" disclosed how unscrupulous merchants in Hongkong were defeating the "Gentlemen's Agreement" between the United States and Japan.

This agreement limited the quantity of Japanese textiles imported into the Philippine Islands to 42,000,000 linear yards per annum.

Hongkong merchants for a time defeated the agreement by importing Japanese textiles into this Colony, and re-exporting them to the Philippine Islands as "Hongkong Made" or "South China Made" goods.

An amazing series of frauds were unearthed. The Japanese quota of 42,000,000 linear yards was filled in the first four months of the year, and direct exports from Japan to the Philippines were thereafter reduced to a minimum.

But, until the "Telegraph" exposure, exports from Hongkong to the Philippines continued at a merry pace.

In the first six months of this year, Hongkong exported a total of 35,466,303 linear yards of textiles to the Philippines, more than in the whole of any previous year.

That the greatest part of these Hongkong exports were of Japanese origin was conclusively proved by official statistics, which showed that Hongkong imports from Japan had increased in proportion to its exports to the Philippines.

It was estimated in one quarter that fully 50 per cent of Hongkong's exports to the Philippines were of Japanese origin. Yet the greatest part of the textiles entering Manila from Hongkong entered the Philippines as goods "Made in Hongkong" or "Made in South China."

Investigations by the "Telegraph" disclosed that an amazing series of falsification was employed by several merchants in Hongkong in order to secure entry for these textiles into the Philippines without disclosing that they were of Japanese origin.

These methods included the cutting of Japanese brands and trade marks from the textiles when they were imported into Hongkong, and substituting Hongkong labels.

Another system was to open bales or boxes of Japanese goods, take out the top layers, and substitute genuine Hongkong or Chinese textiles. Only a cursory examination of the top layers was made by Philippine customs officials.

A third method that attained some popularity before the "Telegraph" disclosures was to enter goods without a consular declaration, posting a 100 pesos bond that the declaration would be delivered before a specified time. Non-delivery of the declaration meant only a forfeiture of the 100 pesos bond, which represented an infinitesimal value of the goods that passed the customs before the 100 pesos became forfeited.

Following publication of the "Telegraph" articles, the customs authorities in the Philippines have taken stringent measures to prevent Japanese textiles from entering via Hongkong.

CAREFULLY CHECKED

Each consignment is carefully checked to prevent substitution of Hongkong labels for Japanese, and instead of the cursory examination of bales and boxes formerly made, a strict examination of the entire contents of packages of textiles imported from Hongkong is made.

The Philippine authorities now refuse to accept a monetary bond in lieu of consular declarations regarding the country of origin of textiles, and insist that before delivery is made the consular declaration be forthcoming.

As a result of the more stringent measures adopted in the Philippines to prevent fraud, Hongkong imports of textiles from Japan, and export of textiles to the Philippines dropped in remarkable fashion in July and August.

DOWN TO HALF

Exact figures for August are not yet available, but official statistics show that imports from Japan during the month of July were only 5,320,478 linear yards, as compared with an average of more than 10,000,000

HUSBAND WIFE DAUGHTER—---TOTAL 170 YEARS IN EAST*HONGKONG FAMILY HAS UNIQUE RECORD

THIRTY-SIX continuous years in Hongkong is bad enough, but 69 years in the Far East—it just isn't done.

What's the use of retired majors and taipans sipping whiskies and sodas in a West End Club and telling about the 20 years they spent in the damndest climate in the world when, damme, William J. Edwards naively admits to a residence that goes back to 1867.

Even when, hale and healthy at men's allotted span of three score years and ten, he decides it's time to retire, he won't do the thing decently by going home to a little cottage in the country. No, sir!

"Go home and be miserable in that climate," he says scornfully. "Not me! I'm going to retire to Shanghai!"

But that's Hongkong for you. People go that way after a few years. Won't admit that the climate isn't fit for a man to live in; or that anyone who stays over fifteen years has one foot in the grave.

Countless letters to Editors have lashed at Hongkong's climate. Every tourist who visits us in the summer has something to say about it. And even the loyalist who defends us against all traducers becomes silent when "climate" is the subject. "Climate" is always a subject a Hongkong journalist can't back upon when he's hard up for copy.

Therefore, Mr. Edwards had no right to tell me that he's lived in the Far East for 69 years, in Hongkong for 36 years. It was rubbing it in to add that his wife, daughter and he can tell us of his residence in Cathay between them, and that neither of them are thinking of leaving for many years to come.

WIFE HOLDS RECORD

His wife, in fact, can claim exactly one month's longer residence in the Far East than can Mr. Edwards. "She was born in Shanghai a month before I was born up the Yangtze River, in August, 1867," he told me with a chuckle.

Few Europeans ventured up the famous inland waters of China in those days. Therefore, it comes as no surprise to know that Mr. Edwards was the first European baby born up the Yangtze.

In fact, Mr. Edwards can lay several claims to distinctions as equally newsworthy as the fact that he was the first white baby born up the Yangtze.

He was one of the first boys to attend the St. Francis Xavier's College in Shanghai, which was opened a month before his parents took him to Shanghai in 1870.

FIRST TRAIN IN CHINA

He rode in the first train ever to run on rails on Chinese soil. That was in 1876, when the Chinese Empire, with great pomp and ceremony, inaugurated a railway service from Shanghai to Woosung.

"The railway wasn't too successful," Mr. Edwards told me, with a reminiscent smile. "The boat people plying along the river did not like this new competition on land. So they bribed the country people to lie across the steel rails. Either the train—they had two engines, the 'Celestial Empire' and the 'Far Cathay'—had to stop or run over the protesters. In any case, it was usually thumping big claim for damages from someone."

MET PRESIDENT GRANT

One of Mr. Edwards' earliest recollections is that of meeting General Grant—afterwards U.S. President—when he visited China in 1870.

General Grant was introduced to Edwards Senior, who in turn introduced his nine year old son. One of young Edwards' proudest recollections was that General Grant gravely shook hands, called him a "laid lad!"

Mr. Edwards first visited Hongkong in 1881, and came to live here in 1900.

From 1892 to 1916 he served with Jardine, Matheson's floating staff in various Indo China Navy Company steamers, and was a picturesque figure along the China coast.

During the Great War he served in the Transport Hierarchy, and was demobbed in Hongkong six months before the ship foundered with all hands off the Paragela in 1920.

Mr. Edwards joined Messrs. W. S. Bailey & Co. after the Great War, served on the well-known shipyard's staff until 1927, when the call

MALARIA FEARS ALLAYEDFEVER INCIDENCE IS ALMOST NORMAL: FEAR UNWARRANTED

As a result of investigations, the "Telegraph" is able to allay fears, recently expressed, regarding the incidence of malaria in this Colony.

Although recent official statistics are not available, the "Telegraph" learns from a reliable source that the incidence of malaria is no greater than usual.

Latest available statistics conclusively disclose that the whole of Hongkong is a comparatively malaria-free Colony when compared with Malaya, Ceylon and other tropical centres.

Official statistics to the end of 1934 show that the number of admissions to Government hospitals has decreased by 66 per cent, during the past decade. In 1925 there were 1,132 admissions, in 1934 only 457. With the exception of 1932, the 1934 figure is the lowest in the history of the Colony.

Statistics for 1935 are not yet available to the Press, but the "Telegraph" is informed from a reliable source that the incidence for this year is approximately that for 1934.

During the first six months of the current year 210 cases were admitted to Government hospitals. This, on the surface, would lead one to believe that the incidence for the whole year will be higher than usual. Such, however, is not the case, as the incidence is much higher during the summer or "rainy" months, than during the winter.

No Europeans have fatally contracted malaria, and the percentage of Chinese fatalities is comparatively low.

URBAN AREAS CLEAR

Efficient drainage methods have ended malaria as far as the urban districts of Hongkong are concerned, and it persists only in certain parts of the New Territories and in some of the outer suburbs.

The ever-decreasing number of cases each year reflects the excellent work that has been done by the Medical and Sanitary Departments in Hongkong to eradicate malaria.

In the early days malaria was the chief cause of sickness and death in Victoria and, in 1844, coincident with the breaking of the soil for the formation of Queen's Road, which was then the chief arterial road of the city, it became such a scourge that there were serious thoughts of abandoning the entire island.

The graveyard at Stanley, where the first settlement was made, is an indication of the terrible toll taken by malaria in that century. Nearly all of the inmates of this cemetery died from malaria.

Available statistics show that as recently as 1910, the number of

of the sea took him to the engineering rooms of several West River ships. He retired in 1934.

IN JAPANESE NAVY

A half-century at sea in the Far East has included service with both the Chinese and Japanese navies and to-day Mr. Edwards' most vivid impressions of the changes that have taken place during his life-time has been the decline of the Chinese navy, the unprecedented rise of the modern Japanese fleet.

"I have watched the Chinese Navy, as fine a fleet as you could wish to see, at one time a 'skipper' in the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company's fleet. He succeeded in command of the Chinese Navy another old-time Hongkong resident, Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, who was in command of the fleet when I served in it, rose from nothing to a world power," he told me.

Incidentally, Admiral Jellicoe was at one time a "skipper" in the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company's fleet. He succeeded in command of the Chinese Navy another old-time Hongkong resident, Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, who was in command of the fleet when I served in it, rose from nothing to a world power," he told me.

HELPED FOUND K.C.C.

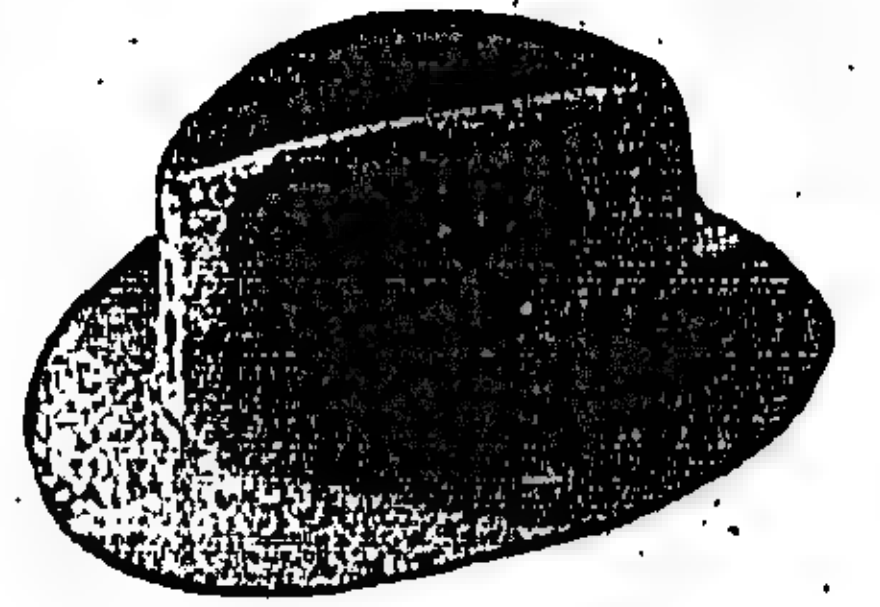

It is interesting to note that Mr. Edwards was with Dr. Swann, Capt. T. W. Solby and Mr. J. P. Robinson, one of the original founders of the Kowloon Cricket Club, which started in 1902 with a "few second hand bats borrowed from the island club." He was also one of the founders of the Kowloon Junior Golf Club.

The Far Eastern history of Mr. Edwards' family actually dates back to the end of the Fifties, when his father went to Shanghai from India. His mother arrived in 1865, the trip from London to Shanghai occupying six months!

Mrs. Edwards, who was also born in Shanghai, is the eldest daughter of the late Alfred Silverthorne, who spent many years in the Far East. Mrs. Edwards, like her husband, has spent all but two years in Shanghai and Hongkong.

An only daughter is the wife of Mr. Claude Glover, well known in Hongkong as the skip of the Shanghai Interceptor Bowls Team which has taken Interceptor honours to the northern city on three occasions. Mrs. Glover left Hongkong 14 years ago, and is residing in Shanghai since.

Mr. Edwards, on retirement this month, will join his daughter and son-in-law in Shanghai, and will reside in the northern city for some years before going home.

"No Interport" Verdict By Shanghai Is Big Disappointment CATHOLIC UNION CLUB FINDS BILLIARDS RELIC

DISAPPOINTING indeed is the news, published exclusively elsewhere in this paper to-day, that Shanghai cannot send a tennis interport team here this year. The reason is inability of players to get time from their duties. It is an old trouble, experienced just as much by Hongkong as Shanghai. For two years (1933 and 1934) Hongkong endeavoured to send a team up north for a return match which the Colony owed Shanghai, but always were the authorities thwarted by this one big obstacle. Finally last year a big effort was made, and although neither of the Rumsby cousins could make the trip, we did get a team of five to visit Shanghai. Glancing back on the history of these interports, we discover the same thing happening between 1923 and 1928. For four years there was no competition, due almost entirely to the fact that both ports found it impossible to get together sufficiently representative players to make the trip either way. When the contests were resumed in 1928, it was again left to Hongkong to play the role of guests, although actually Shanghai should have been the visitors. It is doubly unfortunate that there will be no interport this year because, with the possible visit of Vines and Tilden, and the certain appearance here of Perry, a real revival of tennis enthusiasm in Hongkong was hoped for. On the other hand it may be that with the Association relieved of its responsibilities concerning interport arrangements, greater attention can be paid to the suggested visit of the American professional players. No further news is to be had about this except that Raoul Carnavaro, the ex-Shanghai interporter, now professional coach, is in direct communication with Tilden and Vines with a view to slugging them in Shanghai, and that the Philippines L.T.A. has asked permission from the International Lawn Tennis Federation to arrange exhibitions for the professionals if and when they reach Manila. Which at least shows that the whole of the Orient is keenly interested in the Tilden-Vines Far East tour.

League Tennis Ending

OUT league tennis season is pursuing a somewhat tortured path to its conclusion. Yesterday Kowloon Cricket Club completed its "A" Division programme, and there now only remains about four outstanding games in this division. Of these the most important is between C.R.C. (1), the likely champions, and Recreio, who at present stand second, having suffered one defeat in six matches. The match, not yet fixed up as it is a rearranged fixture, will not only end the Recreio's programme, but will either make C.R.C. champions again or will make necessary a replay for the title. Chinese Recreation Club will be on their own courts and the odds are greatly in their favour. Should they beat Recreio either 2-0, or 3-1, it will mean that K.C.C. earn runners-up position on sets average. If Recreio can take two or more sets in this match, they will finish runners-up. It speaks well for the general levelling up of play in the "A" Division that this year three teams will probably finish on level pegging for second place.

Billiards Relic

THIS from a correspondent: "You may be interested to know that the Catholic Union Club, of which A. J. Osmund, Colony billiards champion is a member, and which institution now holds the trophies for every important billiards and snooker competition in the Colony, still exhibits as a dusty relic of the institution of Hongkong billiards players the handsome shield inscribed 'H.K. Billiard Association Shield presented by the Victoria Recreation Club, 1924.' It was won in that, the first, year by Catholic Union Club and has not been competed for since. The C.U.C. has to keep it, but would rather revive the purpose for which the shield was given. There are still 16 silver name plates on the shield waiting to be filled. Incidentally the go-ahead C.U.C. has recently had its table re-clothed much to the pleasure and benefit of the members."

Association's Chance

HERE seems to be a good opportunity for the Hongkong Billiards Association, which so successfully organised Colony championships this year. Clearly there is room for another inter-club billiards competition in Hongkong, whether it be on a knock-out or league system. Equally clear is it that no trophy which has been presented for a specific purpose should be allowed to rest in dusty idleness if there is a competent body such as the H.K. Billiards Association to administer competition for the shield. The best thing would be for the Catholic Union Club to approach the Billiards Association with a view to organising this coming winter a competition among clubs and thus bring back into active use a very handsome shield.

As a result three teams are likely to finish on level pegging for the runners-up position, K.C.C. have lost two games, so have the I.R.C., while they will be joined by Club de Recreio with a similar record if Recreio lost to C.R.C. (1) in their concluding match. K.C.C. appear to have the best chance of finishing second on sets average.

Bertie Guest made a welcome and successful return to league tennis yesterday, partnering Clark to win three sets. The Fincher brothers played well within their limits to win all three sets.

Indians lacked the services of H. D. Rumsby, who is suffering from boils, and S. A. Ismail, who was not available. The effect was noticeable, although Hoosen and A. H. Madar gave a good account of themselves, while Minu and Razack, after winning their first set, carried Guest and Clark to twelve games and the Fincher brothers to ten. The concluding sets were played in almost darkness, the light falling very quickly.

Details of the match and the revised league table follow.

E. C. and E. F. Fincher (K.C.C.) beat A. R. Minu and I. M. A. Razack 7-5; beat S. A. Rumsby and S. A. R. Bux 6-3; beat A. H. Madar and M. O. Hoosen 6-3.

A. E. P. Guest and G. Clarke (K.C.C.) beat Minu and Razack 6-4; beat Rumsby and Bux 6-3; beat Madar and Hoosen 6-2.

F. Grose and S. A. Gray (K.C.C.) lost to Minu and Razack 4-6; beat Rumsby and Bux 6-0; lost to Madar and Hoosen 4-6.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS (No. 3)

R.A.M.C. OUTLOOK BRIGHT

The Royal Army Medical Corps third division football team faces an especially bright outlook.

During last season they were unfortunate in losing seven players at the same time and it was not until the latter part of the season that the team got together again.

This year they start off with practically the same personnel as that which carried the club to fourth position in 1935-36. On top of this some half-dozen excellent newcomers have been signed on.

Cpl. Howells (left back), Pte. Youd (inside left), Sgt. Castell (centre-half), Pte. Wright (goal-keeper), Pte. Westwood (right back), Pte. Hughes (left half), Pte. Flint (inside right) and Pte. Stanton (outside left) are among the very little players who have been retained, while the new talent includes Cpl. Harrison (centre-forward), Pte. Addington (right half), Pte. Hood (right back), Pte. Garzlin (outside right), Cpl. Jones (inside right) and Pte. Allen (goalkeeper).

Cpl. G. Howells is acting as both secretary and captain of the team, while a selection committee has been elected comprising S/Sgt. J. Dunford, Pte. J. W. Walker and Pte. C. Youd.

Once again the R.A.M.C. will participate in the third division, and there is every reason for them to expect to better last season's record. They must, in fact, be regarded as potential champions.

LEAGUE TENNIS

K.C.C. WIN LAST GAME

MAY FINISH AS RUNNERS-UP

Kowloon Cricket Club brought their "A" Division league tennis programme to a finish yesterday, when they won handsomely against Indian Recreation Club on the Cox's Road courts. The home team dropped two sets to a weakened I.R.C. team.

As a result three teams are likely to finish on level pegging for the runners-up position, K.C.C. have lost two games, so have the I.R.C., while they will be joined by Club de Recreio with a similar record if Recreio lost to C.R.C. THREE STRAIGHT SETS

Forest Hills, Sept. 9. Fred Perry, the only foreign competitor left in the United States men's national singles tennis championship, continued to sweep all before him to-day when he met H. M. Culley in the quarter-finals and won convincingly in straight sets.

Another great English success was scored by Miss Kay Stammers, Britain's only representative left in the women's singles championship. She reached the semi-finals by beating Miss Caroline Babcock after a thrilling three set match.

Bryan ("Blitz") Grant joined Perry in the semi-finals when he beat John Van Ryn in a four-setter, while Miss Alice Marble accompanied Miss Stammers into the last four by eliminating Miss Gracy Wheeler.

Perry treated Culley as though he were having a practice knock-out. He took the first set at 6-3, and continuing his devastating driving, won the second set at 6-2, and the third at 6-1.

Grant lost the first set of nine games against Van Ryn, but thereafter was always the master. Van Ryn played hard to get a two-set lead, but failed after 14 games had been played. He offered very little resistance in the third and fourth sets which Grant won with the total loss of three games.

Miss Stammers' victory over Miss Babcock was gained only after one of the best matches in the championship to date. The English girl went out to her points in the first set after twelve games had been contested, but was sharply pulled back in the second set which she lost to three. The final stanza went to ten games before Miss Stammers clinched the issue.

Reuter sent the following details: MEN'S SINGLES (Quarter-Finals) F. J. Perry (Britain) beat H. M. Culley (U.S.) 6-3, 6-2, 6-1. Bryan Grant (U.S.) beat J. Van Ryn (U.S.) 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

WOMEN'S SINGLES (Quarter-Finals) Miss K. Stammers (Britain) beat Miss C. Babcock (U.S.) 7-5, 3-6, 6-4. Miss A. Marble (U.S.) beat Miss G. Wheeler (U.S.) 6-2, 11-9.

GROWDER AGAIN IN LIMELIGHT

Alec Growder, former Hongkong Cricket Club player is again in the limelight.

Playing recently for the Singapore Cricket Club against the Non-descriptes, he captured 7 wickets for 15 runs and then went in to score a quick 39.

The Cricket Club won easily, the Non-descriptes being sent back for 33, which total the Club passed with five wickets in hand. Finally the winners hit up 163 for 5.

Growder's consistent fine form with the ball of recent weeks makes one regret that he is no longer in Hongkong and available for the Interport team.

Wooderson To Have Operation

An X-ray examination at the Orthopaedic Hospital has disclosed that S. C. Wooderson, the British mile champion, has splintered a bone in his foot and a muscle is slightly out of place. An operation is necessary, and the surgeon says he will be at again at the end of the year.

Torrential rain ruined the track at Hampden Park, Glasgow, last month when America, South Africa, Canada, Australia and Scotland took part in a contest of nine events. The outstanding performance was a new British record of 224ft. 8in. by A. Terry (U.S.A.) at throwing the javelin, which beat the previous best by 1ft. 11in.

Recreio Sports Teams To Visit Macao

(Our Own Correspondent)

Macao, Sept. 9. Despite the warm weather, tennis and badminton have been actively pursued by many local enthusiasts in the various clubs in Macao, and the pick of the players will entertain teams from the Club de Recreio on Oct. 10 and 11.

Matches will be played on the League principle and besides singles and men's doubles, tennis matches will include mixed doubles games, while badminton will be confined to men's doubles matches.

A selection committee presided over by Dr. J. Villa Franca has no small task before it in the choice of players in the "A" and "B" tennis tournaments. So far, A and J. Boyol, C. and A. da Silva, A. de Mello and M. de Souza Fernandes are mentioned as probabilities.

Keen interest is invested in the forthcoming occasion for which strenuous endeavour has been given since the representative visit to Hongkong at the end of last May and it is hoped that Macao will give a better account of itself than it did at the Hongkong meeting.

Following the attractive programme of tennis and badminton fixtures, the Recreio players will be the guests of the Macao clubs at dinners and a dance.

WANTED! WRESTLING OPPONENT BY SEPT. 16

For the third time within a fortnight, Arjan Singh and Fateh Singh, two Indian wrestlers, recent arrivals from Shanghai, are issuing challenges to Hongkong mat artists.

They are tired, they say, of the way in which Colony wrestlers have evaded these challenges, and they want to have a go at our "Big Shots" sometime between now and September 16.

These are their latest terms: They will wrestle against an Indian in Indian wrestling style. They will also contest any European wrestling according to any accepted style and code. As for stakes they are prepared to back themselves against any stated amount.

All they want is a chance to get their hands on somebody before September 16. Incidentally anybody who is interested can fix up things through Makham Singh, c/o Ahmed Din and Co., D'Almeida Street.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 9. How Hongkong Lawn Bowls Team Won KEEN STRUGGLE IN FIRST SHANGHAI MATCH

Shanghai, Sept. 8.

THE Hongkong Interport Lawn Bowls team won their first match yesterday against the Shanghai Recreation Club, on the latter's green, by twenty-four shots to twenty-one, after a very hard fight. The green was very fast but in splendid condition, drawing well on either hand but the gusty wind made bowling a bit tricky. A novel innovation was the new score board, modelled on the style of the cricket board, and the Rees seem to have at last got a board that is really successful, easily seen from all parts and easily understood. There was a large crowd present in the latter stages of the game, and whilst the bowling was not of a very high order, they witnessed a keen struggle. The Rees entertained the visitors at the conclusion of the match in their club house.

Making due allowances for the fact that the Colony team have not quite settled down yet and were playing on a green that was much faster than anything they are used to in Hongkong, Shanghai should win the Interport series.

THE MATCH

For their match against the Rees the Colony were represented by A. Hyde-Lay (skip), H. A. Alves (No. 3), J. P. McGowan (No. 2), A. E. Coates (lead). The Rees four were L. Bell (skip), R. J. S. Brandt (No. 3), A. J. Willis (No. 2), J. R. Main (lead). Hongkong won the toss and Coates laid a short end but Jim Main beat him in the draw. The end went to the visitors with a two. Alves and Hyde-Lay's woods counting. The Rees replied with a three at the next and took the third with a single but their opponents came back with a good four at the next end, Bell failing to save.

The fifth end also went to the Colony with a single. Alves knocking in Coates' wood for the shot, score 7-4 in their favour. They also took the 6th, 7th and 8th ends with two's and a single. At this stage Hongkong had the upper hand, and the Rees four with the exception of Jim Main were putting up a very poor show.

At the 9th the Rees were lying three, when Alves came up with a fast one and burnt the end. On the replay McGowan drew the shot with his second, Brandt carried Jack for shot, Alves displaced him, Hyde-Lay got the shot with a wick off, Bell came up with weight on and gave the Rees a single. The 10th was a very poor end; nearly all the woods were short but the Rees laid the best of a bad lot to get a useful four. Hyde-Lay failing to save under very difficult conditions with so many short woods in front, the score standing at 12-9 in favour of the visitors.

The 11th went to Hongkong, Brandt knocking the Jack on to their wood for a single. The teams then stopped for the tea interval. On resumption Hongkong got a two at the 12th, Bell giving them one. The Rees then took the next two ends with a single and two and the 15th went to Hongkong with a two, giving them a lead of 17-12.

At the 16th Hyde-Lay in trying to save the end with several shots against him was unlucky enough to knock the Jack on to the Rees' woods and the latter got a useful five, which brought the score all square at seventeen. Things now began to look interesting and the Rees' chances hopeful but it was their last flutter. They failed badly in the next three ends, which Hongkong took with a two, a single and a four, their skip and Alves being mainly responsible. The last end went to the Rees with a single and with only one shot against them Hongkong, with the match in hand refused to take any risks.

DISAPPOINTING FORM

It had been a keen struggle, if a disappointing one in many ways. Hongkong hardly lived up to the form that was expected of them and the Rees, with the exception of J. R. Main and A. J. Willis, gave a very mediocre display. Main surprised everyone by his form, he had Coates beaten at practically every end, and he was easily the best of the Rees four. Bell as skip failed badly; it was evidently his day off and he could hardly do anything right. For the winners, Hyde-Lay as skip for the most part was good and he will no doubt do even better in his next games. Alves started a bit nervously but settled down in the latter stages and bowled well. McGowan in spite of getting a few good shots, did not show Interport form and Coates was not the lead that Shanghai know in previous Interports, but it is understood that he has not been in the best of health and he may improve.

IN LONDON DURING CORONATION WEEK

(By Connerly Chappell)

Negotiations are proceeding for the world's heavy-weight championship to be fought in London during Coronation Week.

Mr. Clifford Whitley, theatrical and cabaret impresario, told me that, after talking twice to New York on the 'phone, his plans were nearing completion.

Associated with him is Mr. Bob Ritchie, the American film and theatre man responsible for a number of big Hollywood deals.

"We are getting options on both Schmelling and Braddock to fight," Mr. Whitley said.

"The actual fighters will depend, of course, on the result of the meeting between Braddock and Schmelling in America this autumn."

"The American managers of both fighters are keen."

THE ST. LEGER

Won By Boswell At Twenty To One

MAHMOUD THIRD

London, Sept. 9.

The following was the result of the St. Leger:
Boswell (Jones), 20 to 1 1
Fearless Fox (E. Smith), 100 to 6 2
Mahmoud (Smirke), 5 to 1 3
Thirteen ran.

The race was won by three quarters of a length with three lengths between second and third.

Other starters were:
Rhodes Scholar (Dick); Fox Field (Weston); Pizarro (Vergette); Magnet (Gordon Richards); Raburn (Burns); Columelle (Sam Wragg); Miss Grace (Harry Wragg); Haulfryn (Lane); Esquemeling (Bezzant); Thankerton (Henry).

The scratching of Plaster Cast was announced yesterday.

London, Sept. 9.
Boswell jumped off in front of Mahmoud, Haulfryn, Esquemeling, Fearless Fox, and Miss Grace followed, with Rhodes Scholar last.

At the half-mile Esquemeling led from the front of the field, Pizarro, Boswell, and Fearless Fox.

Below the distance, were Pizarro, Foxfield, Fearless Fox and Esquemeling, Boswell, Raburn, with Miss Grace last.

Entering the straight, Pizarro was still leading from Fearless Fox, Boswell and Mahmoud. Esquemeling was slightly in front, with Fearless Fox, Mahmoud, Thankerton and Magnet close behind. When near home, Boswell drew out and holding off Fearless Fox went on to win cleverly.

The order of finishing was, after the first three, Magnet, Thankerton, Esquemeling, Columelle, Pizarro, Miss Grace, Rhodes Scholar, Foxfield, Haulfryn and Raburn.

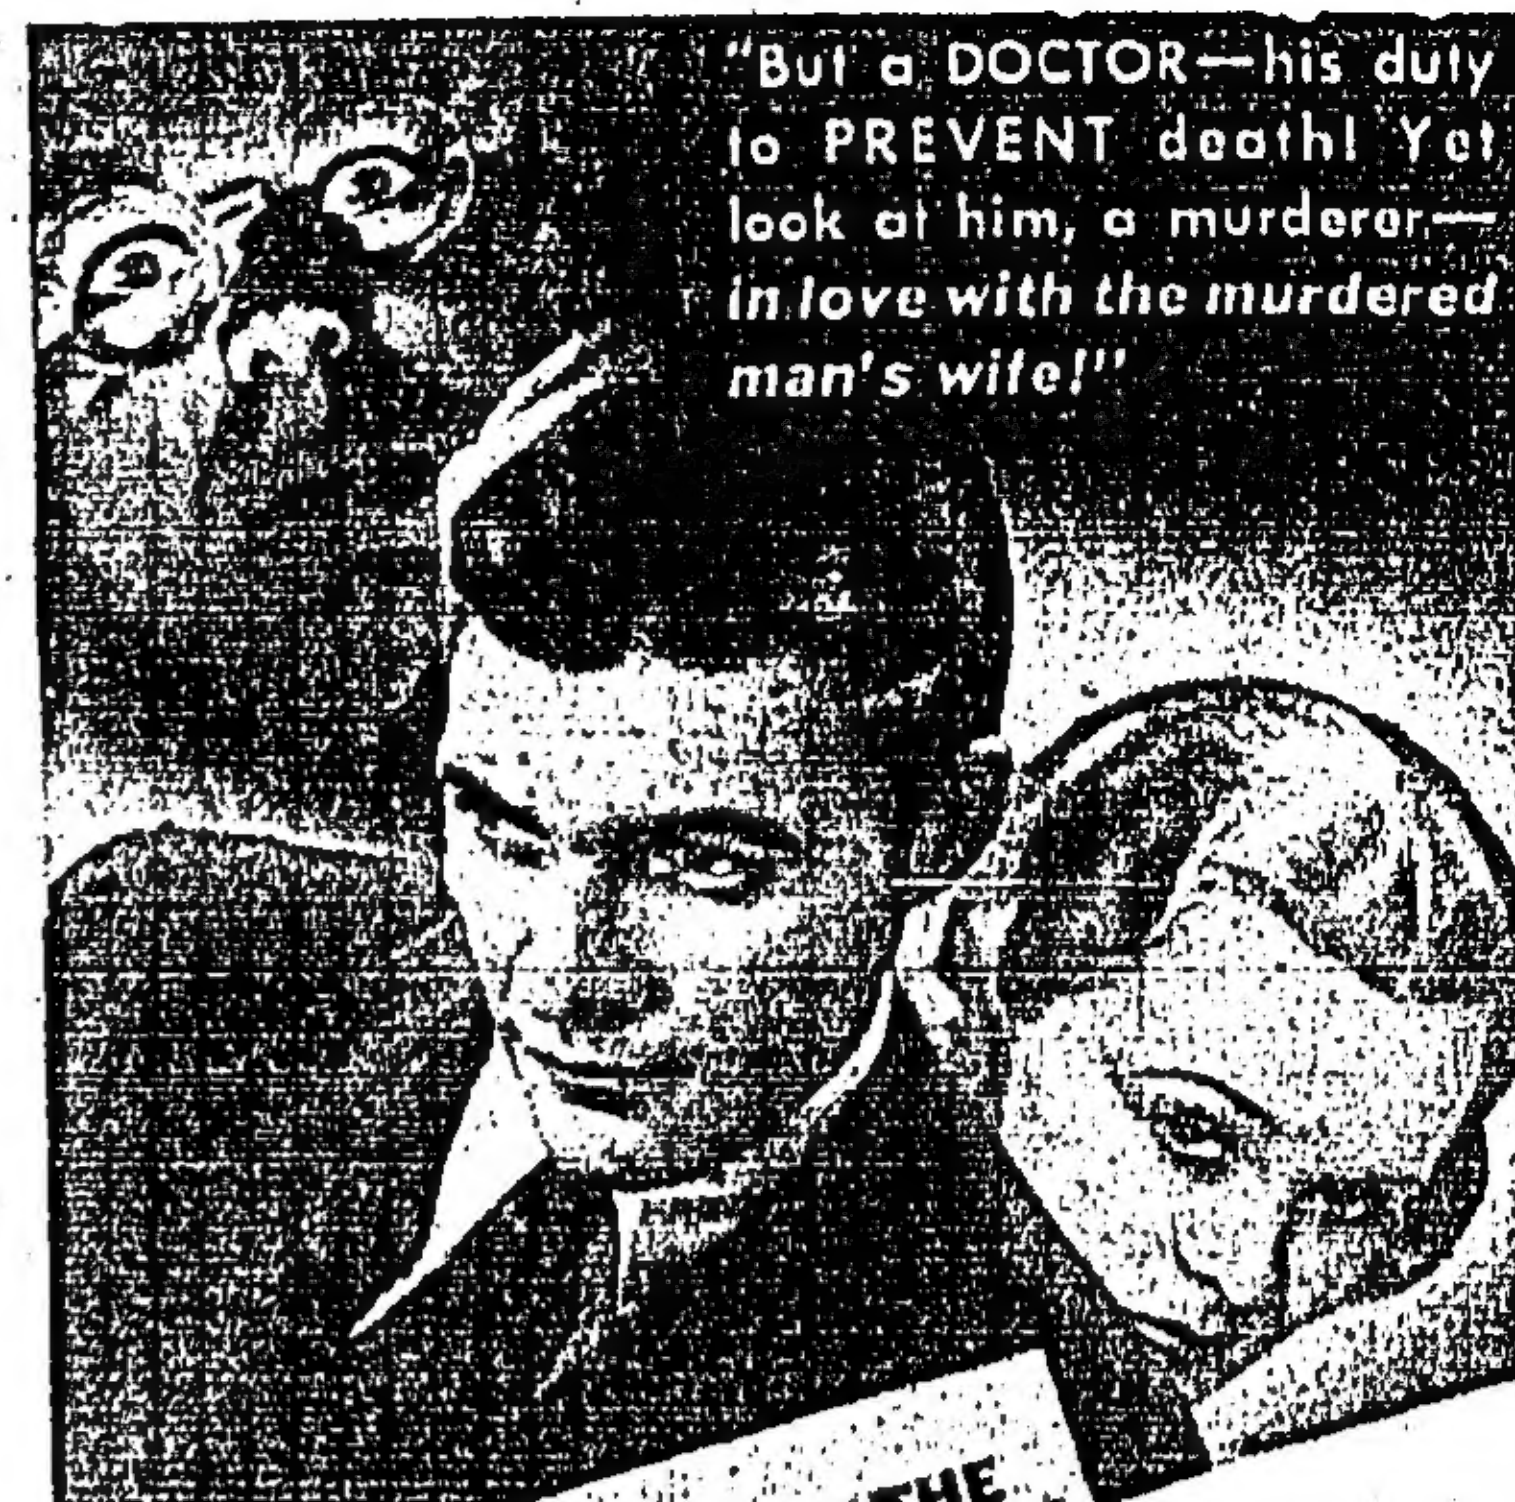

Time: 3 min. 5 1/2 secs.—Reuter.

NIGHTMARE EXPERIENCE

Irún, Sept. 9.
One of the insurgents' first actions after the capture of Irún was to exhume the bodies of the murdered hostages, which, after formal identification by relatives,
were given a Christian burial.
Other hostages state that executions were announced hourly for many days, during which they lived in fetter-hooks. Two hundred were kept in medieval dungeons, many of the cells measuring only six feet by six feet.—Reuter.

Royal Couple Broadcast

INTRODUCTION TO ALL HOLLAND

Amsterdam, Sept. 10.
The Dutch people "met" the newly wedded royal couple, Princess Juliana and Prince Bernard last night, over a radio broadcast of the event, in which Queen Wilhelmina introduced them.
Her Majesty said that although Prince Bernard was only 25 he had proved himself already a true man and hard worker.
Princess Juliana followed the Queen, saying her fiance intended to devote himself to studying Holland and the Dutch colonies, particularly from an economic viewpoint.
Prince Bernard also spoke, expressing the hope that he and Princess Juliana would be able to marry within three months, and pledging himself to do his utmost to be a real help to his future wife.

SERIOUS BRITISH LOSSES

CONSTABLES DIE IN PALESTINE

Jerusalem, Sept. 10.
Four and possibly five British constable and one British soldier were killed and three British soldiers wounded in two serious encounters with Arabs in Palestine yesterday.
The fate of the fifth constable, killed, allegedly among the dead, has not been confirmed.
Three constables were killed by a volley fired by a large band of armed Arabs, who attacked a mail van near Heshima.
The other casualties occurred in a fight between a band of Arabs and troops, assisted by aircraft, near Acre, where ten Arab rioters and three Arab police were wounded.—Reuter.

TWO JAPANESE ARRESTED

PHOTOGRAPHING IN FORBIDDEN ZONE

Davenport (Ia.), Sept. 9.
Two Japanese, Nobuzana Tama-
mura, aged 22, and Miss Tonjye Yamami, aged 23, a resident of Platteville, Colorado, have been taken into custody by Federal agents who are investigating the alleged photographing of Rock Island, a Government arsenal.
The couple were detained following a telephone report that the police found them on the Iowa side of the Mississippi River, overlooking the arsenal, the photographing of which is prohibited by Federal statute.
The seized camera has been delivered to the arsenal authorities.
Tamura states that he was merely photographing a river-boat. The film will be developed, and if the arsenal is not shown it will be released.—United Press.

since health is an important factor in getting and keeping the employment for which they are being trained.
The services will include the supply of milk for boys and girls who show symptoms of subnormal nutrition.—

New York, Sept. 9.
The New York Yankees won a double-header from Cleveland to-day and thereby clinched the American League pennant, even should they lose the rest of the scheduled matches of the season.
In the National League the race continues swift, the St. Louis Cardinals pressing close on the New York Giants' heels, having won today while the Giants were splitting
a double-header with Cincinnati.
Giants took the opener four to two.

though Kampouris homered for the Reds, and dropped the nightcap, two to three when Walker cracked a circus blow.
Cardinals were hard-pushed to beat Boston in fifteen innings, finally coming out with a three to one victory.

Chicago did not improve its position, splitting the issue with Philadelphia by winning the opener ten to three, with seventeen hits, and dropping the evening game four to five, when Moore hit two homers for the Phillies and won the game in the twelfth inning.

Pittsburgh fell before Brooklyn's belated rally, seven to eight.
The Yankees having won without undue effort another League pennant, it remained for fans to find what thrill they could in see-saw games in other places.

Chicago beat Boston three to two with eleven hits to ten, and Washington went wild against Detroit, scoring eleven on thirteen hits, Chapman and Shugart hitting over the fence and Kress poling into the bleachers for two more circuits. Gehrigger hit a homer for Detroit.
The Philadelphia-St. Louis game was postponed on account of rain.—

VIENNA BOMBERS ACTIVE

DURING VISIT OF KING EDWARD
BLAMED

Vienna, Sept. 10.
Two bomb outrages have occurred on Austrian railways
during the visit of King Edward in this capital.
One blast wrecked a guards' van on the Vienna-Rome Express and another, hidden in a commercial traveller's bag, wrecked a cloakroom
in the Vienna station.
Police allege that an illegal Austrian Communist party is responsible.
Rumours that the outrages might be connected with the visit of the British ruler are officially described as baseless.
King Edward, meanwhile, spent another 70 minutes to-night with the famous specialist, Dr. Neumann. It is understood that His Majesty has had photographed by X-ray the entire body, which has been troublesome in the past and that a light treatment is advocated.—Reuter.

CHESTERTON LEAVES BIG FORTUNE

London, Sept. 9.
The estate of the novelist, Mr. G. K.
Chesterton, has been proved at £28-388.—British Wireless.
A Reuter special message says Mr.
Chesterton left the bulk of his estate to his wife, but bequeathed £2,000 to his secretary, Miss Dorothy Collins.

No "Front" Government In Belgium

PRIME MINISTER CONFIDENT
WARNING TO EXTREMISTS

Brussels, Sept. 9.
M. Paul van Zeeland, Prime Minister of Belgium, speaking in the name of the Government, rejected any suggestion for a Popular Front or any other "front" Government for the nation.

The present system, he said, has the confidence of the nation and the Government would take full legal measures against those wishing to obstruct it in its work of rehabilitation.

The Prime Minister was addressing deputies of the Chamber and the Senate, and his declaration was intended to allay rumours regarding the intentions of certain extremist elements in Belgium.—Reuter.

Passengers By "Clippers"

WEEKLY SERVICE TO MANILA

Washington, Sept. 9.
Mr. Daniel Roper, Postmaster General, has announced that Pan-American Airways will commence a weekly passenger service to Manila within thirty to sixty days.
Mr. Roper stated that the Department of Commerce inspectors had submitted a verbal report on the matter, and a written report would be issued later, which would suggest a few improvements.
Meanwhile, the Assistant Secretary for Commerce, Mr. Johnson, has announced that negotiations between the United States, Britain and Canada, for the establishment of a trans-Atlantic air line service are progressing, and that experimental flights will take place within a few months.—United Press.

HONGKONG INCLUDED IN ISSUE

London, Sept. 9.
Arrangements are being made for the issue of a new series of British stamps bearing the King's effigy.
The new issues will be confined at first to a few denominations for each territory and will be based on a common design. The stamps will form part of a new permanent issue and will not be special Coronation issues. No such special Coronation issues for the Colonies are at present in contemplation.

The stamps will be of standard size. The design comprises a three-quarter profile vignette of the King's head in a circle placed towards the top left-hand corner of the stamp, with the Imperial Crown in the top right-hand corner. The name of the territory is shown beneath the vignette. The duty label is shown at the bottom right-hand corner and the denomination appears in words at the base of the stamp.

PRECAUTIONS IN PORTUGAL

Lisbon, Sept. 10.
The "State of Precaution," decreed yesterday as a result of mutiny on certain warships in Lisbon, has been raised, but certain measures remain in force aboard warships and in the naval establishments of the country.
—Reuter.

The Emergency Ministerial Council is resolved to discharge all the sailors aboard the revolting warships, whether they participated in the revolt or not.
Officers and non-commissioned officers will be dismissed as well, but may be reinstated if they prove they took all measures to quell the outbreak. The commanding officers of both ships will be pensioned.
Prisoners found guilty of joining the revolt will be sent to a penal colony.—Reuter.

NO ABBEY BURIAL

London, Sept. 9.
The honour of burial in Westminster Abbey has been declined by members of Lord Moynihan's family because of the great surgeon's wish to rest in the vault at Lawnwood Cemetery, Leeds, in which Lady Moynihan was buried last Thursday.
